Until we came down here, oranges and grapefruit were to us just fruit sold at a specified price.

We now know the difference between run-of-the-mill and the choice products of the orchards that never reach northern food stores.

While we regret we cannot send samples to each reader of this column, we are "pinch hitting" for them.

When a motel is your abode the latch string is always out for visitors from back home.

It occurred to us the other day when Mr. and Mrs. Amling, of Maywood florist fame, knocked on our door.

They are spending four months in Florida and criticized us because we were not doing the same.

Victor said, "I enjoy visiting the greenhouses that were my responsibility for many years but now somebody else can do the worrying about storms and shattered glass over the growing flowers."

Our reply: "After 60 years we have not yet learned not to worry about the printed word."

We recall at the turn of the century we enjoyed watching Matt Richmond and his Scottish friends lawn bowling at his home on Washington street in Palatine.

The participants in Clearwater consider themselves one step higher in the sports bracket than those who only know how to shuffle.

Last week a man came all the way from Scotland to participate in a tournament.

Until we become semi-professional in golf and and shuffling, we will not attempt the sport.

Colored singers, members of a Baptist church, have found an easy way to meet the church budget.

Every Monday evening its large choir holds a songfest in its recreational building for the particular benefit of the vacationers.

Near the close of the service the audience is told how much money is expected to be in the collection plates.

The plates are emptied on a table before the audience and counted. The expected contributions fell short by $15 the night we were there. A second collection exceeded the quota requested.

The songfest closed with the invitation to "come again next Monday night."

Expansion Program To Voters

Residents of Arlington Heights school district 25 will vote Saturday on a proposal to issue $1,125,000 in bonds for new school facilities.

Approval of the building and expansion program is termed a "must" by school officials. They point to rapid growth of the area, rising enrollments and classroom crowding.

"The district must plan to accommodate 2,000 more students by 1963-64," reports Lambert W. Bredehoft, school board president.

"Double sessions may become necessary if more facilities are not added," explains Ralph E. Clabaugh, district 25 superintendent.

THESE STATEMENTS are supported by a district study which indicates an estimated 7,011 students will crowd present facilities in less than three years, an increase of 1,214 over today's enrollment.

The referendum calls for voters' approval of two new elementary schools, a 17-room addition to Miner junior high school and an addition to administrative facilities at South junior high school.

The kindergarten-through-fifth grade schools will be located on district-owned sites at Patton and Maude sts. and State rd. and Olive st. on the north side of Arlington Heights. If approved, the schools could be open late this year.

THE ADDITION to Miner school will include six classrooms for language, arts and social studies; three each for mathematics and science; two each for music and art, one for physical education and one for use of audio-visual teaching devices.

The South school administrative addition will be a 2-story structure. The addition will provide space for the expanding requirements of the business and personnel offices and needed area for the central storage of supplies.

Polling places will be open Saturday from noon to 7 p.m. in each of the district's eight elementary schools. Residents will vote according to their school attendance areas.

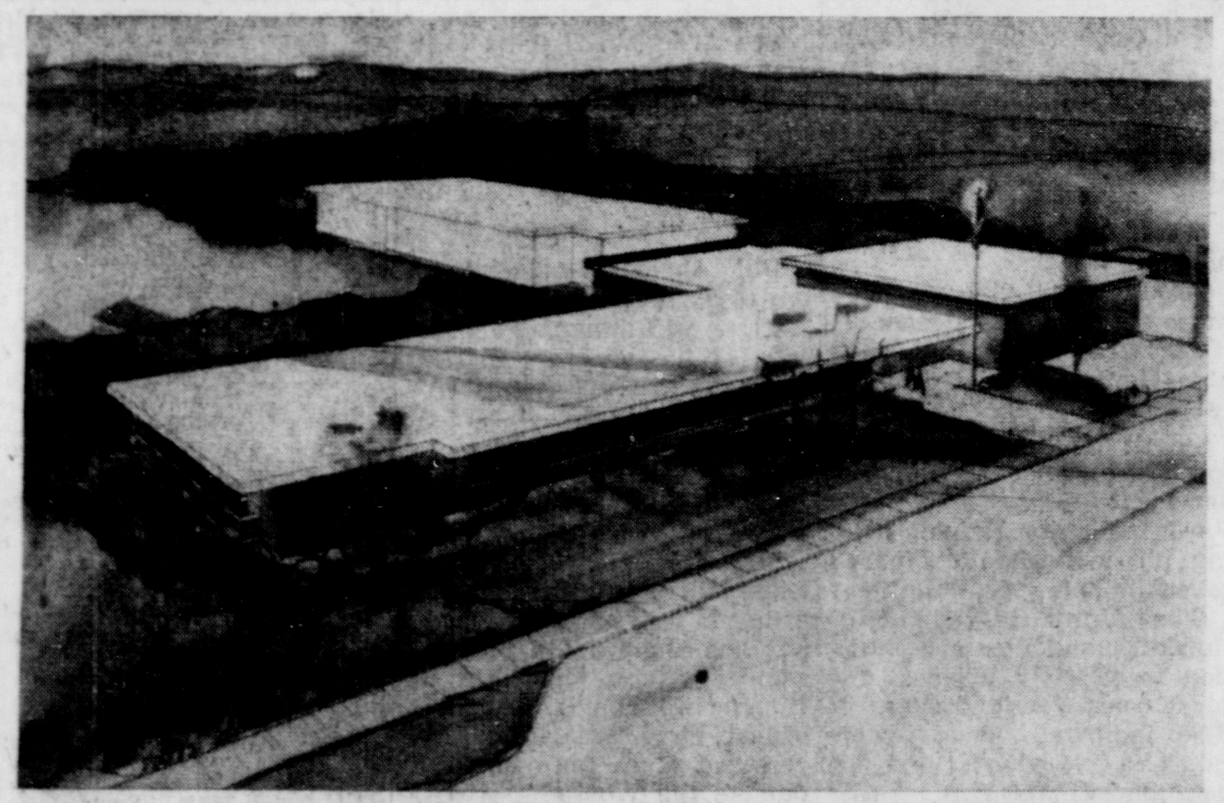
POLLS WILL be open at Dryden school, Dryden pl.; Kensington school, Evanston st. at Kensington rd.; North school, 410 N. State rd.; Park school, Park and Mitchell sts.; Ridge school, Fernandez and Vine sts.; Westgate school, Grove and Dwyer sts.; Wilson school, Palatine rd., and Windsor school, Miner st.

School officials stress that increases in the district's total assessed valuation (caused chiefly by the merger of Wilson district 24) will permit the expansion of facilities without a tax increase.

According to Robert P. Campbell, assistant superintendent and principal at Miner junior high school, enrollment in the district has increased by nearly 70 per cent since the 1955-56 school year.

"SOME AREAS of the district are equipped to hold their own for one or two years," Campbell noted. "But the overall picture shows crowding now and unavoidable double sessions in the near future."

Campbell noted the district 25 board of education feels its responsibility is to plan and propose facilities for the education of the children of the district. Then, he added, it is hoped residents will support sound efforts in this direction.



PROPOSED PATTON and Olive schools will be constructed as indicated in the above sketch. The building in the foreground will contain seven rooms and be built immediately, while the addition at the top of the sketch (above the black line) is proposed for the future. Voters will decide Saturday whether or not the schools will be built.

A Herald Editorial

Schools Need Your Votes!

Residents of Arlington Heights school district 25 are being asked to help maintain their district's quality education by approving a bond issue Saturday for two new schools and two building additions.

The bonds, totalling $1,125,000, will be issued to cover construction of the Olive and Patton elementary schools on the village's north side, a 17-room addition to Miner junior high school, and a two-story addition to administrative facilities at South junior high school.

There's little doubt these improvements are needed. In the last year district enrollment catapulted from 4,562 to 5,060. This figure is expected to jump to more than 7,000 by 1963-64. With the recent opening of the Kensington school, double sessions were eliminated. But they'll come back if steps are not taken now to expand district facilities.

Careful estimates indicate the bond issue will increase the bond and interest tax rate on the bills to be issued in the spring of 1962 (the first bills this issue will affect) only slightly over those of 1961. In other words, the tax bite will be negligible.

If and when enrollments level off or the nature of the growth of the area increases the taxable wealth per pupil, the tax rate for bonds and interest will decline. In the meantime, the district is fortunately able to continue to provide facilities without major tax rate increases.

Believing an investment in education is an investment in the future of the nation, the Herald urges a "yes" vote Saturday for the bond issue.

Hwy. Realignment Is Object of Objections

The Herald learned this week the Illinois Department of Highways is giving "serious consideration" to Arlington Heights' objections to the proposed realignment of route 53.

In a conversation Monday with village manager L. A. Hanson, highway engineer Kenneth L. Brown said his department is closely studying the village's objections, but that he didn't know when a conclusion would be reached.

The village filed seven well-documented objections earlier this month after village officials experienced what was termed a "frustrating" hearing February 16. The hearing, conducted by Brown, was called to air details of the highway's new route.

PLEADING ignorance, Brown was not able to give data concerning proposed intersections, alternate routes or other information requested by property owners and area village representatives.

The new highway route, disclosed at the hearing, begins at the Northwest tollway, runs through Rolling Meadows, cuts a corner of Palatine and bisects a $20,000,000 development in north Arlington Heights, the Village Green subdivision.

The position of Arlington Heights is that the proposed route will sever the subdivision from the rest of the village, obscuring school and park sites and hampering fire and police protection.

OBJECTIONS to the rerouting are as follows:

—The growth of the village in a northerly direction will be stopped;

—The Village Green subdivision will be rendered inaccessible;

—Property bounded by Rand, Wilke and Palatine rds. will be depreciated;

—Problems in policing, fire, drainage and related services will be caused;

—Political boundaries will be affected, and —Creation of traffic congestion would be caused.

Township Budget Totals $192,925

Inspection of the proposed Wheeling township budget for the year 1961-62 indicates total estimated expenditures for the town, general assistance, and cemetery funds are $192,925.00.

The breakdown is as follows: town fund, $135,700.00; general assistance, $53,200.00, and cemetery fund, $4,025.00.

THE ESTIMATED expenditures for 1961-62 are expected to be much higher than actual expenditures in the year 1960-61. The 1960-61 expenditures have not been released by township officials, pending a report by Barney Runge, road commissioner.

A public hearing will be held on the 1961-62 budget Tuesday, March 28, at 8 p.m. in the township hall, 1818 E. Northwest hwy. The budget will be approved by voters at the annual town meeting Tuesday, April 4, in Miner junior high school, Arlington Heights.

According to the new budget, the township will have a net surplus of $104,397.95 on hand at the end of the fiscal year.

More Vehicle Licenses Sold

Thomas A. DeRiemer, village finance officer, reported this week that 75 more vehicle licenses have been sold to date in 1961 than in the entire year of 1960.

He said the village clerk's office has issued 8800 licenses so far this year, as compared to 8725 for 12 months last year.

The increase in license sales is attributed to the recent adoption of an ordinance providing for penalty fees for tardy applicants, DeRiemer noted. Licenses cost $8 this month, $9 in April and $10 in May.

Must Thin Group

Elk Herd Is Dinner For Brookfield Zoo

Half the elk in Busse Woods are destined to become dinners at the Brookfield zoo.

It's a process of thinning the Elk Grove Forest Preserve herd down to a number which the pasture they roam can support.

The herd is the biggest it's ever been, with 51 members of this antlered family being maintained on the 20-acre wooded enclosure located on the north side of Illinois 72 about a mile-and-a-half west of Elk Grove Village.

THE COOK county board of commissioners Tuesday gave permission to convert 26 of the more "inferior" animals into steaks.

This "culling" of the herd to workable numbers began in 1957, according to Arthur Janura, superintendent of maintenance and operations for the Forest Preserve District.

Before this time, the district dispatched elk to the Oak Forest institution for the aged which maintained its own slaughtering plant. But this source was cut off about five years ago when the plant was shut down, Janura explained. The herd's history dates back to its formation in 1924.

"WE WROTE to conservation departments in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota to see if they wanted elk," Janura said. The last time the herd was thinned out, some animals were given to the city of Elgin.

"We feel it is in our authority to give the elk to other tax-supported bodies," Janura pointed out. While there are many requests from private firms and individuals, however, the Forest Preserve District does not honor them. Being a public, tax-supported body, it feels this would cause hard feelings and open the district to charges of favoritism.

Requests come from private fish and game reserves, deer farms, pet and hide fanciers and fraternal lodges that covet barbecues and elks' teeth, Janura said.

HE ADDED the elimination of the 26 will be supervised by Robert Bean, director of the Brookfield Zoo, and his veterinarian, Weaver Williamson. The animals will be "humanely" disposed of to supplement the diet of carnivores at the zoo. "This would mean members of the cat family," Janura said.

The reduction in numbers isn't always predicated, however, on survival of the fittest. Occasionally, it is the strong who perish. Janura related that about a year ago, "Ol' Charley," the self-appointed leader of the herd, had to be dispatched for usurping even the caretaker's authority.

"HE NOT ONLY wanted to boss all the does and bucks, but he wouldn't even let the caretaker into the enclosure at feeding time," Janura said.

Ol' Charley no longer holds court with his harem at Busse Woods. His magnificent spread of antlers now cast shadows from the mantel of the Forest Preserve's division headquarters in Des Plaines.

DESTINED TO BECOME part of the diet at the Brookfield zoo are 26 elk out of a herd of 51 which roam the Elk Grove forest preserve. Thinning out of the herd to keep it comparable to its pasture will be conducted over a period of months, officals say.

St. Patrick Day Sale Announced

Arlington Heights merchants are ready to unwrap St. Patrick's Day Sale bargains, it was announced this week. The sale will be sponsored Friday, March 17.

Most participating stores will remain open until 9 p.m., and employees will wear green hats and green carnations to add to the day's festivities. Special sales will be featured all day.

Businessmen have come up with appropriate bargains. For example, a local car wash owner said he will wash all green cars free. See ads on pages two and three.

Oakton St. Issue To Be Aired Again

The Arlington Heights board of local improvements will conduct a formal public hearing March 30 for more discussion on the controversial Oakton st. improvement project.

Oakton st., an east-west street on the village's north side, is presently a pockmarked, interrupted thoroughfare. Village plans call for its paving and widening to 30 feet, two inches.

MAJOR REPAIRS for the street have been in the discussion stage for nearly two years. Homemakers along the street have vigorously opposed its designation as a major thoroughfare and its "exorbitant" widening.

The March 30 hearing will begin at 8 p.m. in the village hall council room, Wing and Davis sts.

It's 4-Way Contest for Board Posts

It's still a four-way race for three seats on the board of education of Arlington Heights school district 25, board secretary Peter Bakas reported this week.

He said no additional nominating petitions were received in the office of the school superintendent as of Wednesday afternoon.

ANNOUNCED candidates to date are Ralph McGee, 1819 N. Mitchell; Charles O. Bennett, 111 S. Drury; George Harris, 626 W. Sigwalt, and George E. Herbert, 1227 N. Chicago.

Deadline for filing for the school board is this Saturday, March 18. The three board vacancies will be filled by voters Saturday, April 18.

Housewife Freed on $250 Bond

A 35-year-old Arlington Heights housewife was freed on $250 bond Tuesday after being arrested and charged by police with driving a vehicle under the influnce of alcohol, disorderly conduct, driving without an operator's license and failure to have a village vehicle sticker.

Police said they responded to an accident call on Fairview near Evergreen Tuesday morning and found Mrs. Ann Fleming, 436 S. Lincoln ln., sitting in her car. The auto had collided with a fixed object.

The housewife was booked on four charges after she and her 9-year-old daughter were examined at Northwest Community hospital.

'First' Robin Heralds Spring

Spring can't be far away now.

The sighting of the year's first robin was reported to the Herald Wednesday, March 8, by Mrs. Ruth H. Gustafson, 332 S. Windsor dr., Arlington Heights, who spotted the bird perched in a backyard tree.

Vacate Street

An ordinance officially vacating Rockwell st. between Ridge and Mitchell sts. was approved 6-0 by Arlington Heights trustees Monday. The street was purchased by adjoining property owners.

Candidates Speak Up On Issues

CANDIDATES' FORUM sponsored Saturday by four Arlington Heights churches found all 15 candidates for village office ready to discuss their platforms. Candidates on hand included (l. to r.) Joseph Schneller, Citizens party candidate for president; Mrs. Howard Jarvis, Citizens clerk candidate; Robert H. Bukowski, Good Management party president candidate; Mrs. Gladys Carlisle, Good Management trustee candidate, and John G. Woods, presidential candidate of the Caucus party. Voters will fill five offices April

Despite imposition of strict ground rules, candidates for Arlington Heights offices managed to hammer home their campaign themes Saturday at a candidates' forum sponsored by four local churches.

The forum, staged in the First Presbyterian church, was governed by rules prohibiting discussion of personalities or past administration records.

Members of the Caucus, Citizens and Good Management parties adhered to the rules, though the program's give-and-take ended more interestingly than it started.

EACH OF the three parties was allotted 12 minutes to address the audience of some 200 who represented the Presbyterian, First Methodist, Our Saviour Lutheran and St. John United churches.

Robert H. Bukowski, Good Management candidate for village president, began by suggesting the village needs "people with ability and experience" to deal with the "complex problems" facing it.

Joseph Schneller, presidential candidate on the Citizens slate, said he shares the problems of Arlington Heights 24 hours a day as a local businessman. "I share the concern of the community because I both live and work here," he pointed out.

John G. Woods, Caucus candidate for president, promised to "take decisive action" to cope with the village's problems. He said: "We will approach our task bearing in mind the words, 'We labor in vain unless the Lord be with us.' "

EACH OF the parties' three trustee candidates spoke briefly, outlining the various planks in their platforms. A question and answer session followed the carefully timed party presentations.

The question as to whether or not the village needs a full-time attorney bordered on a violation of the ground rules, but moderator Richard Bergstrom held comments in check.

The Good Management party answered the question "no," the Citizens party opened "yes," and the Caucus party said it didn't have an answer.

OTHER QUESTIONS were as follows:

—Does the village need more or less liquor licenses?

—How much land is available for industrial development?

—Will the village ever have low taxes and high quality services?

—Is Arlington Heights holding its own when compared to surrounding communities?

The forum served notice that all candidates are equipped to publicly discuss the most controversial issues. It also indicated each party takes a varying stand on community problems. (AF

Spot Muskrat

Mrs. John Henricks, 631 N. Highland, was surprised Saturday to look out a window of her home and see a muskrat squatting in a window well. Eugene Korn, animal welfare officer, caught the animal and released it in an open field outside the village. (AF

Village Withdraws Rezoning Petition

In a surprise move Saturday, the village of Arlington Heights advised the zoning board of appeals it wished to withdraw a petition for a zoning variation at the old sewage treatment plant.

The board unanimously approved the withdrawal request. A scheduled public hearing on the variation lasted only two and a half minutes.

Thus was ended, at least temporarily, a struggle which began last December when the village petitioned for a variation from the sewage plant's public use zoning to permit the location there of Consumers co., 301 W. Northwest hwy., a ready-mix concrete business.

STIFF OPPOSITION to the relocation had been posed by home owners in the vicinity of the sewage plant. The plant is located in the southeastern corner of the village south of the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks.

In explaining the village's withdrawal, president Harold Carlson said trustees decided last week that either approval or denial of the petition by the zoning board could prove dangerous.

"If the board approved the variation," Carlson said, "we would be risking litigation with property owners. This would give the village two lawsuits on the same problem, as we're now in the midst of a suit to oust Consumers from Northwest hwy."

Carlson noted that denial of the petition would have forced village trustees to (1) overrule their subsidiary board or (2) accept the decision. Neither avenue would be desirable, he said.

"In short, trustees determined this was a policy decision and that it should be handled by the trustees," Carlson pointed out.

IT IS EXPECTED trustees will direct the village manager Monday to publish notice that a hearing will be held by the plan commission on an amendment to the village's zoning ordinance.

By creating a special use manufacturing district at the inactive sewage plant, the village can presumably give the ready-mix firm the green light to make its move there.

JPs on People's Party Ticket Tell Their Views

People's Party candidates Richard J. Georgen and Sherman H. Canty are confident they will be reelected when Elk Grove township voters ballot at the polls on April 4.

Georgen said the Elk Grove township resident has been served up to now by a competent judiciary and will naturally want to continue the relationship.

Justice Georgen has served two terms as Elk Grove township JP, and is one of the very few justices in Cook county who have been actively serving at the bench.

"HIS EXPERIENCE, gathered during his tenure in Elk Grove township, places him high above the candidates trying to replace him on April 4," said his running mate, Justice Sherman Canty. Canty has served three terms as Elk Grove township JP.

"A justice of the peace who has been actively serving in Georgen's capacity," Canty asserted, "would be more qualified to make just decisions in the courtroom in both civil and criminal cases, from the simple traffic violation to crimes of more serious nature.

"Georgen is respected by his fellow township citizens who are familiar with his judicial temperament, understanding of the law, and administration of justice."

JUSTICE GEORGEN has been active in the prevention of juvenile delinquency in the township in his capacity as justice of the peace. His work at the bench is generally recognized as being instrumental in eliminating many of the causes of delinquency and marital strife, co-justice Canty said, "and his cooperation with village, county and state legal authorities is well known."

Canty seeks reelection to one of the two JP posts Elk Grove township will have under the new reform passed by the Illinois legislature reducing the number of JPs in the state. Along with Georgen, Canty would actively participate as a justice of the peace at the fixed salary of $5,500 annually.

Justice Canty is a graduate of Bradley university and of the University of Chicago law school, and is now a practicing attorney with offices in Mt. Prospect and Chicago. He is Elk Grove township Republican committeeman and a member of the Mount Prospect Chamber of Commerce, Elks, Lions, P.A.D. law fraternity, and American and West Suburban Bar associations.

JUSTICE GEORGEN, president of Pioneer Steel co. in Mt. Prospect, is on the board of directors of the Judges and Magistrates association, which works for uniformity in the administration of justice and permits member justices to exchange views and promote the interests of the judiciary.

Georgen is on the committee for industrial development of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry and is a member of the board of the Northwest Suburban YMCA.

ALSO RUNNING on the Republican endorsed People's Party slate are Esmond Newell and Edward Clifford seeking reelection as constables. Both are experienced police officers. Clifford is the Elk Grove village police chief and was formerly a sergeant with the Illinois state police.

Newell, incumbent township constable, is a sergeant on the Mt. Prospect police force.

"Newell and myself live and work in the township so that we would be available to extend our services as constables at any time," Clifford said.

"WE BOTH HAVE long experience as peace officers.

"And, together, Newell and I will be able to spread, in our capacities as village police officers and as constables, jurisdiction throughout the township."

He explained that the People's Party slatemakers were well aware he has legal jurisdiction in Elk Grove village, Sgt. Newell has jurisdiction in Mt. Prospect, the other end of the township, and as constables they would have jurisdiction in unincorporated areas of the township.

WHILE THEIR duties as police chief and sergeant on the one hand and as constables on the other are separate, Chief Clifford said Newell and he will be in a favorable position to coordinate law enforcement between village and non-village areas to the advantage of the entire township. (ACM

INCUMBENT PEOPLE'S PARTY candidates Sherman H. Canty (left) and Richard J. Georgen seek reelection as justices of the peace in Elk Grove township election April 4. Justice Georgen has served two terms as JP, justice Candy has served three. They are sitting in Elk Grove township's new town hall constructed this year.

Young Republicans Dance Is March 25

Final arrangements for the spring dance of the Wheeling Township Young Republican club on March 25 are nearing completion, reports Jerry Moe, Buffalo Grove, dance chairman. The dance will be held at the VFW hall in Arlington Heights from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

"Advance ticket sales indicate that this first social event sponsored by the Young Republicans is going to be a huge success," Moe said this week.

PARTICIPATION of the merchants of Wheeling township has been excellent, indicates Lou Brown. Brown, of 413 S. Gibbons, Arlington Heights, is supervising this phase of the dance committee's work.

All women attending the affair will be presented with carnations at the door. Decorations are under the direction of Mrs. Justine Moe of Buffalo Grove.

MUSIC for the evening will be provided by Roger Ragland and his orchestra.

Tickets may be obtained by calling Moe, LE 7-2598, or Mrs. Sally Lollar, 634 N. Dryden, Arlington Heights, Cl 5-5594. Mrs. Connie Young, 617 N. Elmhurst, Mt. Prospect, is also serving on the committee. (ACM

Prospect Speech Students Advance

Prospect high school gained a third place in a sectional speech tournament in Elgin Saturday, winning places for two students to compete in the state-wide speech tournament in April.

Participating in the state speech tournament in Champaign will be Jon Woods and Diane Calvello. In the sectional tournament Woods took first place in radio speaking and Miss Calvello won second place in poetry reading.

THE SATURDAY contest included seven students from Prospect high school. The seven had advanced to the sectional contest from the district speech tournament at Niles township high school. Twelve schools participated in the district contest.

The students are directed by Mrs. Rebecca Sickles.

Other awards in the sectional tournament went to Prospect students Ceinwen Klepper for her original monologue, Lynn Carroll for serious play reading, Judy McCornack for comedy play reading, Dale Vivirito for prose and Bill Rush for extemporaneous speaking.

THE SCHOOL debate team, coached by Robert Goldman, won fifth place in a sectional tournament Saturday at Arlington high school. To achieve this standing the team took seven of 10 debate rounds. Debate team members are Bill Rush, Chris Hanks, Dick Cook and Jim Hardt. (ACM

Ex-Mayor Of Heights Is Buried

Funeral services were held in California last week for Julius D. Flentie, a former Arlington Heights mayor, who died March 3 in a Pasadena hospital. He was 89 years old.

Flentie served Arlington Heights and Wheeling township for a combined total of 80 years, the Herald learned. His years of public service ended here when he moved to San Gabriel, Cal., 15 years ago.

AFTER SERVING as township clerk from 1904 to 1915 and as a village trustee during 1920 and 1921, Flentie was elected mayor. He served in that capacity from 1929 to 1941.

He was also a 40-year veteran of the fire department, a park commissioner and a school board member. One of his terms as mayor witnessed the replacement of gas street lights with electricity.

Reading of Ordinance Is Disputed

One Arlington Heights trustee got steamed up Monday when a fellow board member insisted upon the oral reading of lengthy ordinances.

"If a person ran his business like this he'd be broke," Trustee William Sauer fumed after Trustee Eugene Schlickman asked for the reading of a contribution ordinance for Northwest Community hospital.

SCHLICKMAN reasoned it would be "a radical departure" if the ordinance was not read publicly. He said it was "a matter of policy" that the legislation be read aloud by village attorney Stephen Jurco.

Board members sided with Sauer, voting 5-1 to dispense with the reading. Sauer's fur had been ruffled earlier when Schlickman asked for the reading of an ordinance transferring funds from one account to another. The reading lasted 20 minutes. (AF

Friendless Farm Workers

Migrant Is Despised, Exploited in America

The migrant worker in America is exploited and despised.

He is friendless in the community and looked down upon. He is ill-educated, poorly housed, and performs the lowliest work. His only real chance is to escape the migrant stream.

So declares John Kearney, director of Friendship House in Chicago. A former migrant worker who became a pioneering social worker, he addressed the Opportunity Council, Inc. March 9 in Arlington Heights. The council is concerned with the problems of migrant farm workers in this area.

"The rural to urban migration taking place today is unlike anything in history," Kearney told the council membership. "It has been spurred by mechanization in agriculture and the need for hands in urban centers."

EXPLAINING that people in migration are moving in answer to a pull or call, Kearney said they are exploited because:

—migrant workers are "different" socially and culturally from the mainstream community;

—their housing is always the oldest and most inferior available; and —they perform menial tasks.

He said migrants were victimized by employers who refuse to meet any "ethical or moral responsibilities," or by employers who are caught in the farmer "wage - price squeeze" and cannot afford to pay workers a living wage.

"The migrant plight is closely related to the plight of the farmer," said Kearney. "The migrant is unorganized, however, and must work with a highly organized group which arbitrarily sets his wage and living standard."

KEARNEY TOLD the council that while "good treatment" for migrants cannot be "legislated," there were certain legislative measures which would benefit migrant workers. These include:

—minimum wage of 75 cents an hour for agriculture;

—registration of crew leaders;

—grants to local communities for educational and health facilities;

—long-range, low interest loans for farm housing;

—legislation permitting organization of farm workers;

—a fair labor standards act for agriculture;

—workmen's compensation extended to agriculture; and

—establishment of a citizens commission to advise the President on migrant labor problems.

KEARNEY SAID that proposed legislation has a "fair chance" of passing the Senate, no chance in the House of Representatives.

He had praise for voluntary community groups such as the Opportunity Council, which he said was "recognized nationally for its significant work."

Kearney is also associated with the National Conference to Stabilize Migratory Labor and is vice-chairman of the new Illinois Citizens Committee for Migrant Labor. (B8

No 'Pirating' of Faculty Pledged By Superintendent

Palatine high school district 211 school board firmly backed Superintendent G. A. McElroy last week in his policy of not hiring teachers currently employed by neighboring school districts.

McElry stressed the high school wanted to reassure local school districts that no "pirating" would be carried on during this period of severe teacher shortage.

ELEMENTARY teachers from both Palatine-Rolling Meadows district 15 and Schaumburg-Hoffman district 54 have never been hired by the high school, McElroy indicated. The policy applies to teachers currently under contract, not those who have terminated their employment with the neighboring district.

In approving this action, board member Robert Williamson suggested the action be enlarged to include Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Barrington. The board unanimously approved the suggestion.

It was suggested letters be sent to all neighboring districts notifying them of the Palatine high policy. Board members expressed hope other school districts would adopt a similar policy. (B-8

Driver Training Is Need For All, Declares Klamm

Without thorough training of all drivers, traffic safety will never be more than a pipe dream!

In these words, E. R. Klamm, accident prevention director of Allstate Insurance companies, summed up the importance of driver competence and responsibility in reducing traffic accidents as he spoke to the Eli Skinner chapter of the DAR Thursday in Arlington Heights.

Klamm, ex-president of the Arlington Heights Area Traffic Safety council and a national safety authority, said it is ridiculous to simply take drivers as they are and hope for the best.

"Driving a car is drastically oversimplified,' he declared. "A driver must make adjustments almost constantly, must interpret the changing conditions he meets traveling 10 m.p.h. or 60 m.p.h., and must be prepared for those conditions which for the most part are unpredictable.

"Actually, driving requires more decisions at a faster rate with more complicated maneuvers than flying a commercial airliner does," he continued. "Yet, pilots are trained and retrained. while drivers are exposed to little more than slogans and posters."

KLAMM WENT on to say that contrary to the popular notion, most people do not drive as well as they think they do nor think safe driving rules are as important as they should.

"If the attitude that driving is child's play continues to prevail, the next decade will produce a human and economic loss to stagger the imagination," he warned. "There will be enough deaths and crippling injuries to wipe out 20 communities the size of Arlington Heights in a single year."

He praised citizen groups and women's organizations for taking the lead in promoting comprehensive driver training and control. He singled out the DAR and its "Better Citizens Through Better Drivers" program as an example of what is desperately needed to convince the public that drivers in general must improve their performance if the slaughter on our highways is ever to subside.

Pointing out that most drivers receive only casual driving instruction from friends or relatives, Klamm charged that the correct attitudes and techniques necessary for competent driving can only be taught by qualified teachers with special training in this field.

"DRIVER TRAINING must begin in the high school," he emphasized. "But since that alone would leave some 90 per cent of the adults untrained, there should be universal driver training laws enacted to cover everybody before they are allowed behind the wheel of an automobile.

"Today's demands on the driver can only be met by training which goes far beyond the basic skills of starting, steering and stopping," Klamm concluded. "It must involve the development of sound judgments and habits which will make certain the degree of competence and type of behavior to live with automobiles successfully."

TV MEN PREFER RED HEADS

by ED LANDWEHR

Now, don't misunderstand. We mean that redheads get first choice for TV camera testing on color broadcasting, because they are the hardest to reproduce for true color. When broadcasting is functioning right for redheads, then blonds, brunettes and everything else is a cinch for good pictures.

Therefore, a test pattern redheaded girl in evening dress is kept handy for camera testing.

But, how does LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights test color television reception in your home?

Alas, with nothing else but cold electronic meters. We feel that we're on the wrong end of this business. However, keep phoning that electronic number CLearbrook 5-0700 for the finest maintenance; all kinds.

And for a treat of the most true color television viewing, visit our showroom. You'll be pleasuredly surprised.

Legislator Raps Minority Tactics in State Assembly

by REP. B. M. PESKIN

The week following the organization of the House of Representatives in Springfield last January, and the selection of Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vienna) as Speaker, the minority leader, Rep. William Pollack (R-Chicago) arose on a point of personal privilege and stated that he and his colleagues would follow a line of constructive criticism during this session of the legislature and that they would not be obstructionists.

We are now more than one-third of the way through this session. Let's look at the record and see what has happened.

EACH AND every week since January 4, each and every day, the minority leader has turned relatively unimportant matters into major partisan issues through the device of objecting to the advancement of deficiency appropriation bills and through parliamentary maneuvers.

Through his actions, he has split the House, just as the Senate has been split for many years, into partisan camps. Blood has figuratively flowed every day we have been in session. We have had more roll calls split on a Republican-Democrat division so far this session than we had in all of the 1959 session.

The 25 or so new members don't know as yet what it means to vote on a bill or a motion on its merits. Men on both sides of the aisle have been squeezed into the untenable position of having to support or oppose virtually every matter before the House on a partisan basis.

THE NET result of such obstructionist tactics is obvious. It means that Governor Kerner's legislative program will be scrutinized by the House minority not from the viewpoint of whether or not it is good for the State of Illinois, but rather, can the minority make points by opposing it. Can they, as a political party, gain headlines or favorable comment in the press through doing so.

It means that the minority leaders, who has eight years' experience in a leadership position in the House, has refused to give his counsel or his cooperation to the Governor and his legislative leaders and has instead, served notice upon them that they'll have to fight for every part of the administration program.

This was never made more evident than by Rep. Pollack's exhibition at the meeting of the House Municipalities committee this week. Mayor Daley of Chicago and Police Superintendant Wilson were both on hand to testify on behalf of the police reform bills. Instead of making sober inquiry of each of them in an effort to gain a clear understanding of the measures and offer his cooperation in securing their passage, he turned the meeting into a circus, casting slurs on Supt. Wilson's motives with questions replete with innuendoes. I guarantee you, the minority leader came out on the short end, some of the newspaper accounts notwithstanding.

WE IN the legislature are, each of us, elected from the districts in which we reside, on a partisan ballot under a political label. All too often, in speaking for or against a bill, we refer to the fact that "my county needs this legislation" or "the people in my district don't want this."

Too many of us forget that we are elected to an office which is statewide in its scope. While we may be elected from our districts, we are elected to serve all the people in the State of Illinois.

And our thinking at many times becomes clouded by the fact that we were elected on a partisan ballot. While not too many will admit it, quite often the actions of some of us are based more on what is good for our political party than what is good for Illinois.

I am personally fed up with the political wrangling which has gone on day after day. I'm fed up with a minority leader, who when he failed in his efforts to be elected Speaker of the House, began resorting to tactics which can be likened to a child taking his ball and going home because he can't be captain. I think most of the other men in the House feel the same way—and I mean men on both sides of the aisle.

Soon—very soon, I hope, there's going to be one big explosion over this. Sooner or later, the metropolitan press will tire of it. Then, and only then, we'll get to work on behalf of all of you. (B8

Arrington Bill Provides Medical Care for Needy

W. RUSSELL ARRINGTON
State Senator,
4th Senatorial District

On March 1, I introduced in the General Assembly a bill to provide medical care for persons over 65 years of age. But unlike the provisions in measures now under consideration by Congress, my bill specifies that such medical care will be provided only to those who are in need of assistance.

Those persons over 65 with incomes of less than $2,000 and assets of less than $2,000 will qualify, provided they have incurred not less than $100.00 in medical expenses.

FOR PERSONS who have incomes of less than $2,000 and assets between $2,000 and $8,000, the Bill provides they must pay, or obligate themselves to pay, the first 10 per cent of their net asset value. In determining income, the costs of medical care are deducted. In determining assets, the value of homestead insurance and personal effects is excluded. The income limit for married persons is $2500, while the asset limit is raised to $10,000.

The measure provides the same high quality of medical care benefits for the near-needy elderly as is now being given to the indigent under the Illinois Public Assistance Code. This calls for virtually every type of medical service, including physician's inpatient hospital, outpatient, clinic and nursing home services; physical therapy, dental, laboratory, diagnostic, and x-ray services; prescribed drugs, eyeglasses, dentures and prosthetic services.

The bill further provides 365-day hospital, medical and nursing benefits financed by matching state and federal funds, pursuant to the plan approved by the last session of Congress.

The bill implements in Illinois the Kerr-Mills bill passed by Congress last August when it turned down a controversial bill to finance medical care by increasing the Social Security tax.

THE ILLINOIS State Medical Society is lending its full support to my measure. Dr. H. Close Hesseltine, President of the Illinois State Medical Society, said with respect to my bill, "The physicians of Illinois vigorously support this program to provide health care to those older citizens who need help." He said further, "The medical profession believes that older persons faced with burdensome health costs should be given assistance by a locally administered, locally financed program to meet local needs."

Dr. Hesseltine further urged speedy consideration of the plan by the Illinois Legislature. (ACM

A family dinner party was held a week ago Sunday in the home of Elaine and Maynard Cocker, 1318 N. Illinois, for Catherine, 5 March 9, and James, 3 March 4. Present was their aunt, Miss Marcella Miskell, Arlington Heights.

Kay and Linyon Moustakis, 1232 N. Illinois, were rece dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rivera, Chicago, at the Press club in St. Clair hotel, Chicago. Mr. Rivera is a copy writer editor for the Chicago Tribune.

The 16th birthday of Bill, son of Ruth and Ed Broderick, 1233 N. Illinois, was celebrated recently by dining at Brandt's, Palatine, with the family.

Friends and neighbors bid Sally and Harold Drews, 1238 N. Illinois, and children, Mark, Jeff and Tom, a fond farewell last Thursday. They departed for their new home in Monmouth Junction, N. J., the result of a company transfer.

IT WAS A dual celebration for Mike, son of Ann and Laurence Brown, 1408 N. Yale, 3 March 11. Friday his playmates, "K. C.," Mark and Michelle Moser, Beth and Cliff Grassly, and Julie and Cindy Lollar, Arlington Heights, and their respective mothers were entertained at a luncheon party. The Saturday luncheon party was enjoyed by Mike's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Ferguson and Mrs. A. C. Brown, and uncle, Warren Brown, all of Highland Park.

A welcome is extended to new Terrace residents, Martha and Jerry Johnston, 1405 N. Illinois, and their children, Wayne, 6, and Kenneth, 3, who moved here from Plymouth, Mich., February 18. Stephen, 19, remained behind, as he is presently employed in Ann Arbor. Jerry is an editor with a Chicago firm which publishes manuals on the various makes of cars. Martha admits both are avid bridge players.

Last minute changes were wrought in the birthday celebration plans of Carol, daughter of Marva and Bernhard Kuhl, 1518 Clarendon, 11 March 12, due to an unfortunate accident to her grandmother, Mrs. B. Kuhl, Chicago. However, her grandfather wished her many happy returns in the Kuhl home in Chicago last Saturday.

Sunday a dinner party held at home was attended by her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stockfisch, Arlington Heights.

LORI AND Beth, daughters of Helen and Jack Martin, 1337 N. Chicago, were both operated on last Monday in Northwest Community hospital. Needless to say, Helen is busy helping the girls to recuperate at home from a tendon graft and hernia operation, respectively. Their brother, Doug, is enjoying a vacation period with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Babos, Aurora.

The 17th birthday of Elaine, daughter of Eleanore and John Blomquist, 1248 N. Illinois, was celebrated last Saturday night at a boy-girl party in the home of her schoolmate, Paula Olsen. The night was further highlighted when the girls remained at the Olsens' for a "slumber" party.

On her birthday, March 12, Elaine was guest of honor at a dinner party attended by her aunt, Mrs. John Spalding, and cousins, Patricia and John, and aunt, Miss Thyra Blomquist, all of Chicago.

Last Saturday was moving day for Margaret and Eugene Dougherty, 1417 N. Wilke, and their children, Gene, Joanne, Kathleen and Mary Ellen. Their friends and neighbors in the Terrace were happy that the move was only to 1212 N. Dunton.

The circus theme took over in the home of Shirle and Robert Husted, 1610 W. Olive, last Saturday afternoon, as they entertained for their son, Robby, 7 March 12. Enjoying the games, favors and cartoon movies were his sister, Debby, brother, John, Guy Eisenhuth, Kevin Wiederhold, Bobby Krug, Devin Corley, Tommy Noerenberg and former playmate, Brad Trowe, Mt. Prospect. Chicken pox prevented Brad Parkin from being there.

SYMPATHY is extended to Robert and his family. His father, Robert Hunted, Dayton, Ohio, died last Thursday after a short illness.

Cathy and Bill Gunnison, 1407 W. Clarendon, entertained Jerri and Bill Rix, Betty and Bob Gumz, Polly and George Herbert, Mary and Ray Funk, and Pearl and Dick Trummer at an early breakfast following the Wilson PTA dance Friday night.

Pyllis Formhals, 1401 N. Chicago, is expected to return home in a few days, after having undergone major surgery March 9 in McHenry Memorial hospital, Woodstock.

His favorite dinner, topped off with birthday cake and ice cream, was the manner in which Larry, son of Mary Ellen and Eugene Van de Merkt, 1231 N. Wilke, chose to celebrate his fourth birthday, March 12. Present were his brother, Johnny, sister, Patty, sister and family, the Harold Peases, E. Dundee, maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Patterson, Evanston, great aunt, Mrs. Robert Graff of Springfield, and Miss Astrid Lindbloom, Evanston.

The infant twin daughters of Ellen and George Sottung, 1722 W. Oakton, were baptized Sunday in St. James Catholic church by Father Lane. Leo Sheridan, Lake Forest, and Miss Christina Adams, Northbrook, were godparents to Christine Anne, while Will Hegner, Chicago, and Mrs. Frances Calloway, Aurora, Colo., were godparents to Catherine Alvina. Also present at a quiet celebration in honor of the occasion were the babies' brother, Michael, sisters, Marie and Therese, maternal grandfather, Herbert W. Anderson, Skokie, H. R. Andernon, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Anderson, Northfield, Mrs. Frederick C. Adams and family, Mrs. Harry J. Leahy and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sheridan, Arlington Heights.

ALTHOUGH their departure was delayed several days due to the airline strike, Julie and Frank Fietsch, 1110 N. Yale, finally left on their vacation of two weeks in Mexico. Among the highlights was a visit with Julie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Weber in Ajijic, a sojourn in Mexico City and a side trip to Guadalajara, plus, of course, the sunshine and swimming. Mark, Doug and Wendy were taken care of in the meantime by Frank's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fietsch, Winnetka.

Donna, daughter of Dorothy and Richard Kirstein, 1310 Jo lane, is recuperating at home after having undergone a tonsillectomy in Northwest Community hospital.

Polly and George Herbert, 1227 N. Chicago, entertained at a cocktail party last Friday evening prior to the Wilson PTA dance. Among their guests were the Dean Arnolds, Ray Crouches, Curt Waynes, Bill Gunnisons, Ray Funks, the Bob Gumzes and several other couples from the Arlington Heights area. (A

Township Eelections — Tuesday, April 4, 1961

This United States of America was fostered and founded on a great surge of independent thinking and action. Times have changed considerably since then, but the principles of individual rights and independent thinking have remained with us. We have formed a political group for this election in Elk Grove Township, based on the slogan:

Unbiased and Impartial Representation and Recognition of all areas of your Township.

We certainly cannot regard ourselves as political Independents. Most people vote in the National, State or County elections as a Republican or Democrat, with a few other exceptions, and a large percentage of people split their vote. We are no exception to this rule. Our Independents' ticket is based on independent thinking.

We feel that this Township election is more local in character and that it is not to be regarded as one in which someone pushes a button and Precinct Captains pop up and deliver so many votes in each area. We feel that your Township is more personal. People know whom they are voting for and will have the same characteristic, independence of thinking and actions which stirred this country in its beginnings.

The Independent Party candidates are pledged to serve you and are representative of all areas of your Township. They are highly qualified men — without question of integrity — and are well known throughout Elk Grove Township. They are all worthy of your vote.

'Impossible' Score Wins A Scholarship

PROVING WHY TOP grades and test scores are made by her, Mary Susan Leighton, Arlington Heights, arrives home from Our Lady of the Wayside school. Miss Leighton received the only full scholarship to the new Sacred Heart of Mary Catholic girls high school based on her outstanding entrance test score. (B8

An "impossible" test score of eight points above 100 per cent brought the only full scholarship to the new Catholic girls' Sacred Heart of Mary high school when it opens next fall.

Winner of the scholarship is Mary Susan Leighton, one of seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel P. Leighton, 746 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights. Miss Leighton is a graduating student of Our Lady of the Wayside school.

STUDENTS achieving a converted test score of 306 to 308 in the school entrance examination received a 99.6 to 100 percentile rating. This rating is based on national percentiles for the school and college placement test, Princeton, N. J. Miss Leighton had a total score of 316, a full eight points ahead of the nearest competitors.

Ten partial scholarships also were awarded for test scores above the 99 percentile, or a total converted score of 303 or better. The scholarships are given by the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary who will operate the high school.

PARTIAL scholarships were won by Barbara A. Urtis, Frieda A. Hlavaty and Virginia Tomasek of St. Theresa school, Palatine; Diane Profita, Alice D. Mitchell and Mary J. Woods of Our Lady of the Wayside school, Arlington Heights; Patricia Prusinski of St. Raymonds school, Mt. Prospect; Gail A. Sullivan and Susan Balkin of St. James school, Arlington Heights; and Janet M. Skupien of St. Marys school, Buffalo Grove.

Sacred Heart of Mary high school will open in September for freshmen. Students will attend classes in rented quarters at the new St. Viator Catholic boys' high school, Arlington Heights. The girls' high school buildings in Rolling Meadows are scheduled for completion in 1963. (B-8

Red Cross Gives Service to Area

Many people in this area have been associated with Red Cross in the past year throught the organization's service to armed forces families and Junior Red Cross. These services are made possible here, nationally, and internationally, through contributions to the annual March Red Cross fund campaign which is now in progress.

HOME SERVICE is the Red Cross department which handles the problems that face families as a result of a member's military service. Sixteen families from Arlington Heights, six from Bartlett, four from Rolling Meadows, and one Wheeling family used this service and received Red Cross aid in a variety of situations. More than 25,000 requests for service were handled throughout the chapter area of Cook and DuPage counties.

School children in this area are active in Junior Red Cross, a service dedicated to making today's youth tomorrow's leading citizens. The following schools in Arlington Heights are enrolled: South Junior High, North, Park, Dryden, Ridge, Miner Junior High, Westgate, Windsor, Arlington High, St. James, and St. Peter Lutheran. John Miller, 2805 Martin lane, Rolling Meadows, attended the Junior Red Cross leadership training center at Lake Forest.

IN ELK GROVE Village, Grove Junior High, Ridge, Rupley, and St. John Lutheran schools are enrolled. Junior Red Cross enrolled schools in Rolling Meadows include Kimball Hill, Cardinal Drive, and Salk. Sandburg school in Wheeling is enrolled. Wood, Oak Street, Hillside, Paddock, Pleasant Hill, Winston Park, and Immanuel Lutheran schools are enrolled in Palatine.

Other Red Cross services include instruction in Nursing, First Aid, and Water Safety, and aid to disaster victims.

"Red Cross' only source of funds is voluntary contributions, so give generously now, and reap benefits all year long," says Louis E. Pearce, 212 E. Colfax st., Palatine chairman. (B8

Pure Oil Prepares Move to New Office

The Pure Oil co. will begin moving its Arlington Heights operation to its general office building south of Palatine Friday, March 31.

Company spokesmen said equipment and office furniture will be transported to a new wing of the general office while the approximately 350 employees are on a three-day Good Friday holiday.

Employees are to return to work in the general office building the following Monday, April 3.

The move, anticipated since before construction of the Palatine general offices, was announced Friday. The new "square doughnut" wing will add an additional 22,700 sq. ft. of net usable floor space to the 209,000 sq. ft. of the original building, increasing gross floor space to 282,000.

WORKMEN were to have completed the new wing Friday, March 17. A Pure Oil co. spokesman said there would be no employment terminations involved in the move, which is a consolidation of accounting department activities.

Transfer of the 350 employees of the Arlington Heights office, 311 S. State rd., will increase the total number of employees working in the general office building to approximately 1,500.

Approximately 180 persons moved into the Arlington Heights facilities November 1, 1957. Growth of the Arlington Heights accounting operation is a result of bringing in activities from field divisions.

Pure Oil officials said the general office building south of Palatine was planned prior to leasing of the Arlington Heights plant because of space requirements and special needs in connection with the firm's computing operations. Employees moved into the General office building Oct. 31, 1960.

EMPLOYEES at the Arlington Heights plant knew at the time they went to the plant that they eventually would be working in main office building, officials said. Most of the employees are residents of the northwest suburban area.

Company personnel consider the transfer a minor operation in comparison to the relocation of their Loop office activities in fall of last year. Each employee has a space and desk marked out for him in advance. A three-dimensional plan, including model desks and equipment, has been fitted into a scale model of the building's floor plan.

The same procedure was used in determining position of facilities when operations were first moved to the general office building.

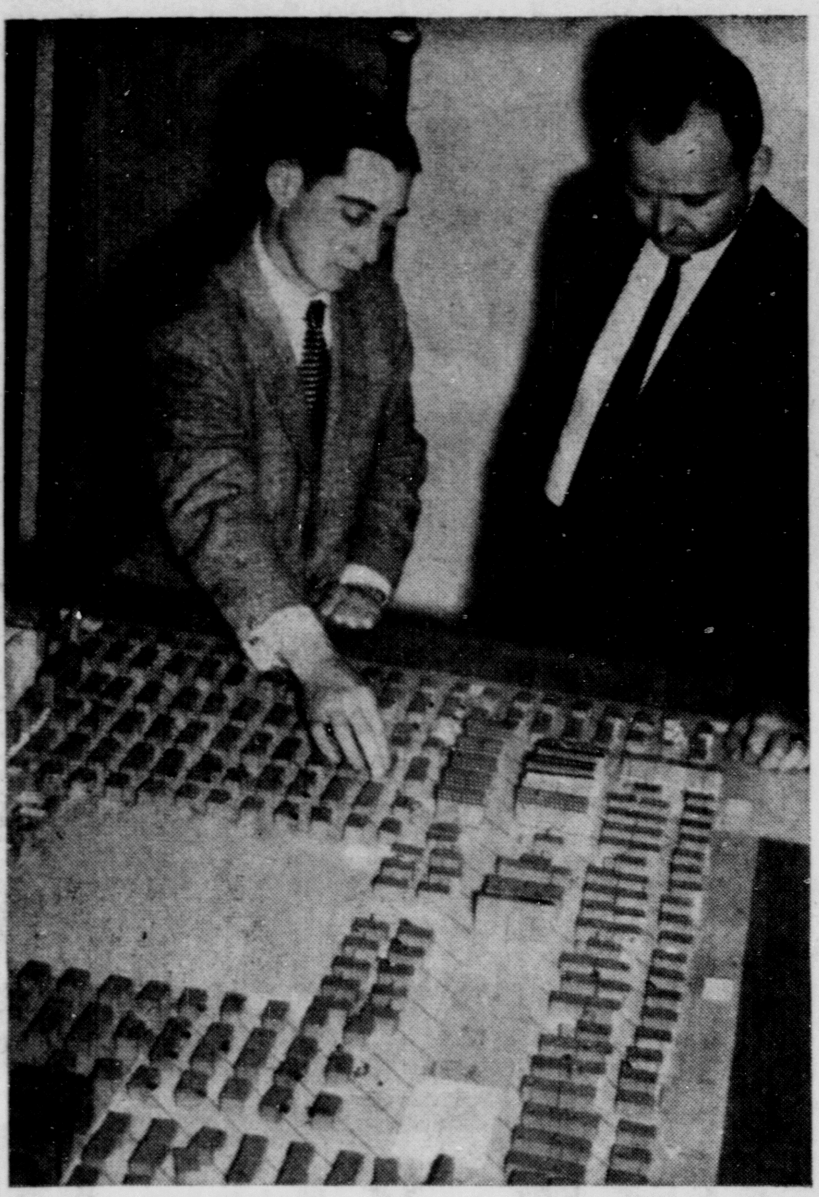
ACCORDING to Pure Oil executives, the move will result in little or no change of procedures and operations. Supplies at the Arlington plant have been used by the new offices in recent months. There will be no problems of storage and transportation.

Mail routed through Arlington Heights will be sent through the Palatine Post office beginning April 3.

Palatine postmaster Charles Stauber said he had been notified of the transfer approximately a month ahead of time and made necessary preparations.

"It probably will involve a few extra man hours," Stauber said, "but we have sufficiently trained personnel and the necessary equipment to absorb the increased volumn without any trouble." The increase in volumn is not expected to be heavy.

The lease held by the Pure Oil co. for the building on south State rd. is valid until the end of the year. Older office furniture and equipment will be replaced during the transition in order to keep pace with the styling and needs of the newer building, company officials said. (B8



DETAIL PLANS WERE MADE in preparation for consolidation of accounting activities in the new wing at the Pure Oil Co. general offices building south of Palatine on Golf rd. Here assistant to office manager R. J. Calloway, left, adjusts scale model office equipment used to provide three-dimensional ideal of location for employees moving into the wing from the Arlington Heights office. Verne Whitnell, suburban office coordinator, looks on.

Four Suburb Youths Hurt in Collision

Four northwest suburban youths were injured early Sunday night in a two-car collision at Deer Grove forest preserve in Palatine.

Jack N. Nielsen, 17, of 620 N. Franklin rd., Palatine, was charged with driving too fast for conditions, after his car skidded while headed south and struck a second car on the wrong side of the road headed north.

NIELSEN, and two of his passengers, Bernadette Richter, 17, of 1224 Northwest hwy., and Jurs Armand, 20, of 429 Washington, Barrington, were injured.

The second car was driven by Robert C. Brown Jr., 21, of 409 N. Prospect, Park Ridge, who also was injured. A passenger in his car was Bill Parks, 20, of 408 Washington, Park Ridge, who suffered a head cut.

Nielsen's car suffered $400 damage, and Brown's suffered $800 damage. All the injured were taken to Northwest Community hospital.

Charged with "running a red light" in a second accident Saturday afternoon at U.S. 12 in Wheeling on Illinois 83 was Gerald R. Gehrke, 18, of 203 E. Marion, Prospect Heights.

GEHRKE was traveling northwest on U.S. 12, when police say he ran the light at the intersection of 83, and was sideswiped by a car driven by Otto A. Rehm, 51, of 517 E. Frederick, Arlington Heights.

Passenger in Gehrke's car was Mary Brunberg, 17, of 404 N. Main, Mt. Prospect, who complained of injuries. Damage to Gehrke's car was reported at $150; to Rehm's, $250 (B8

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM SHERWOOD

When Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Johnson, 1308 Watling, left for a 3-week vacation in Ft. Meyers Beach, Fla., their daughter and family, Rev. and Mrs. William J. Murphey and daughters, were leaving their home in Connecticut for the same destination. Mrs. Johnson says they relaxed while the temperature soared as high as 92 degrees. With white sand beach right outside of their living room window, nobody wanted to leave the place.

Molly Miller came home from Bradley over the weekend a newly initiated Chi Omego. The daughter of the John O. Millers, 1221 Clarendon, is a freshman this year.

Sherwood scored another success Saturday evening with their dinner dance at Rolling Green country club. Eighty-one people picked name tags from a cleverly decorated tree in the foyer of the club as they came in. Anyone even remotely connected with the auld sod would have been proud of the committee that made the decorations, for there were shamrocks a'plenty. Each table was decorated with a tree branch painted white and covered with shamrocks and green (tissue) carnations.

Relatives came from Racine last Sunday when James David Vetter was christened in Faith Lutheran church. Sponsors for the son of Jean and Harold Vetter, 931 N. Fernandez, were Melvin Pfingsten, Althea Berlin and Penny Fink. The day turned out to be a family reunion, with 31 for dinner and supper.

Get well wishes go to Mrs. Mensching, 804 N. Kaspar, who underwent surgery in Northwest Community hospital last week. Reports are that she is doing fine.

There was an extra touch of sentiment in the christening of Richard Miller at St. John United Church of Christ Sunday. The father of his godfather, Walter Miller, was godfather to Richard's father. Mrs. Walter Miller was godmother. The Walter Millers joined the family for dinner afterward. Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Miller, 915 N. Fernandez.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rychaert, 820 N. Kaspar, took Vicki Lee and Sheri to the Shrine circus Tuesday evening.

THE WELCOME mat is out to the Arthur Anderson family, who have moved to 947 N. Kennicott from Mount Prospect. The children in the family are Susan 13, Barbara, 9, Janet, 7, Steven, 4, and Carolyn, 2½.

Last Tuesday, Bruce Topp and four friends celebrated his fourth birthday, which was March 2. Pammy Roshëger, Joey Urbanowicz, John Stevens and Janet Mills came for a lunch and games. Bruce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Topp, 810 N. Kennicott.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bieber, 801 N. Princeton, are parents of another girl, Carol Jean, born in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, February 26 and weighing 7 pounds 9½ ounces. Grandparents are Mrs. George Bieber of Monroe, N. Y. and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morin, Richmond Hill, N. Y.

Saturday, Doris and Jim Kelly, 828 N. Fernandez, joined Dorothy and Sam Ungaro for an evening at the Happy Medium where they saw "Medium Rare." Doris rated it as terrific with eight playing in it and each one giving a different skit that lasted about 10 minutes. They chose De Leo's for dinner afterward.

Two honors came to Susan Balkin recently. She won a scholarship to Sacred Heart of Mary high school, which will be located in Rolling Meadows. She also won the Marian award — the highest award for Catholic girl scouts. Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Balkin, 832 N. Ridge.

Annexation Hearings Suggested

Arlington Heights trustees Monday referred to the village plan commission a proposal that the commission hold public hearings prior to the annexation of lands.

Hearings are now held after annexations, president Harold Carlson pointed out. He said it would be more desirable for the hearings to be held before annexations, enabling the commission to make recommendations to trustees.

The commission is expected to call a hearing on the proposal, as an amendment to the comprehensive zoning ordinance will be necessary. (A

Pleads Guilty, Gets Probation

Bruce E. Swanson of Cary, accused of falsely using an Arlington Heights trustee's gasoline credit card, was ordered to make restitution and placed on one year probation Friday by Judge Walter P. Dahl.

Congo Missionary Is Church Speaker

The Arlington Heights Evangelical Free church is conducting its annual missionary conference from March 15 to 19. Four of the seven fields of the Free church will have their representatives here.

The field of the Republic of Congo will be represented by Philip Gustafson, who was one of the last Free church missionaries to return to America. He was appointed the legal representative of the Evangelical Free church in the Congo and as such governed the day-to-day existence of that group and supervised their evacuation. This was accomplished without serious mishap. A few Free Church missionaries are still active in the less turbulent areas of the Congo, but their work, for the most part, has been or must be left in the hands of Congolese nationals.

OTHER representatives include Rev. Vernon Anderson of Venezuela, Rev. and Mrs. Dwight Fuller of the Missions Department of Trinity Seminary, Rev. Cal Hanson of Japan, currently studying for his doctorate in Minneapolis, and Millicent Johnson of Hong Kong.

The Friday meeting has been designated as "Youth Clubs' Night," and refreshments will follow Gustafson's Congo pictures. This meeting starts at 7 p.m.

A Youth and Missions Banquet is scheduled for Saturday evening at 6:30 p.m., and the Sunday activities begin at 9:30 a.m. with the missionaries visiting the departmental sessions. Rev. Cal Hanson will speak at the 10:45 a.m. worship service.

A missionary symposium will be conducted at 4 p.m. with Rev. Irving Peterson as the moderator of the four missionaries' discussion. These meetings will provide the audience the opportunity to ask questions or obtain current information about any of the areas represented, some of which are daily newspaper headline material.

A FAMILY supper will be served at 5:30 p.m. and Rev. Hanson will show his missionary pictures of Japan at 6:30.

The conference climax will take place at the 7 o'clock Sunday evening service. Testimonies of the missionaries telling of their commitments to God and of His faithfulness will be given. Phil Gustafson will be the main speaker at this service.

The conference has been arranged by the missionary deacon of the local church, Paul Wertheimer, and his committee. The public is welcome at all of these meetings. The church is located at North Dunton at St. James street and is pastored by Rev. Harry L. Evans. (A

Leah Ruth, 2½ month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gustafson, 310 N. Dryden, was baptized Sunday at Faith Lutheran church. Her uncle and aunt, Phillip Gustafson of Arlington Heights and Dolores Kolora of Oklahoma, were her godparents. Since Mrs. Kolora was unable to be present, Carol Peterson, another aunt, acted as proxy.

After the services, Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson served dinner to the godparents and grandparents, Mrs. Ruth Gustafson of Arlington and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nichols of Oak Lawn. Other aunts and uncles were also present to offer their congratulations.

Three exciting, travel,filled weeks of vacationing ended Saturday for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carlman, 410 N. Dryden. Flying all the way, Fred and Norma left San Francisco for Hawaii. Their trip included plane flights to all the islands in the Hawaiian group. After returning to the mainland, the Carlmans enjoyed a three-day stopover in Las Vegas.

FAR-AWAY places are also the destination of Carl Carlman of 311 N. Lincoln lane. A two-week business trip has taken Mr. Carlman to Australia by way of San Francisco, Hawaii, and the Fiji islands. Mrs. Carlman, who is saddened by the loss of her boxer, Snooky, plans trips to California and New York upon Mr. Carlman's return.

Since the two McBride girls, Kathleen and Cassandra, celebrate their birthdays so close together, a double surprise party was planned for them on the last Sunday in February. Ten of their school friends were invited to share in the fun of Kathleen's 10th birthday which was February 27 and Cassandra's 11th on March 8. After the party, a hot dog roast was shared with close friends from Mount Prospect.

The girls' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McBride, 216 N. Brighton, were guests at the recent Press Photographers dinner and ball, where they met the newly crowned "Miss Photoflash." The McBride's attended the affair with representatives of Eastman Kodak co. where Mr. McBride is employed.

For his 13th birthday last Friday, David Manchee invited ten of his seventh grade classmates from Miner school for an evening party. The youngsters enjoyed a gay time of games, dancing and refreshments.

Mrs. Wilbur Inman entertained at a benefit bridge luncheon for the YMCA last Wednesday. Immediate neighbors attending the bene- ters, Babs and Johannsen.

EASTWOOD residents will be sorry to hear that Jacob Mauer died recently in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Mr. Mauer built most of the houses on N. Douglas, and for many years his daughter and her family, the Wilbur Nelsons, lived on Douglas before they also moved to Florida.

Since Mr. and Mrs. Jan Behrens have recently sold their home and will soon move to 817 N. Belmont, their neighbors on the 200 block of N. Brighton decided to surprise them with a going-away party. What started out to be a quiet evening of cards Saturday night at the Howard Hasemans, soon developed into a gala party when the Edgar Neases, Dan Schmeichels, Bud McKnights, Bob Kanouses, Bruce McBrides, Bud Scullys, John Hartys and Bob Gladers rang the door bell. The Westbys and Jays, also Brighton pl. neighbors, were unable to attend. The Behrens were given a brass door knocker for their new home.

WHAT'S HAPPENED TO MASTOID OPERATIONS?

Twenty years ago Mastoiditis, an inflammation of the mastoid bone cells located behind the ears, was responsible for many operations which left unsightly scars. Now, a prescription for a few dollars worth of medication, if taken in time, makes an operation unnecessary.

But, any pain about the ear should receive immediate medical attention. You save sickness time and perhaps even your life when you consult a physician.

WHEREAS, said improvements so constructed are and will be of benefit to said adjoining and adjacent lots and property pertinent thereto as hereinabove described, and

WHEREAS, the NORTHWEST COMMUNITY HOSPITAL CENTER was given permission to construct said improvements by private contract, with the understanding that the Village of Arlington Heights be not charged with any part of the cost thereof, and with the further understanding that an ordinance be passed by the Village of Arlington Heights, after the completion of said improvement, requiring that the owners of any property adjacent thereto or benefitting therefrom desiring to make use thereof pay the proportionate share of the cost of said improvement to the extent of the amount covering the cost of a 6 inch pipe at $3.00 foot, to be used in reimbursement of the said NORTHWEST COMMUNITY HOSPITAL CENTER, or its successors or assigns, for the proportionate cost of the construction thereof; and,

Episcopal Priest To Tell Clubwomen About Indians

Indian Affairs study group of Arlington Heights Womans club will meet Thursday, March 23, at 1:30 p.m. in the meeting room of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association building, 25 E. Campbell.

Rev. Peter J. Powell, Episcopal priest of St. Timothy's church, Chicago, will discuss his work as priest in charge of Indian works of the Episcopal dioceses.

In 1941 Fr. Powell began work on the Crow Creek Indian reservation in South Dakota. He worked on a Sioux reservation in 1943 and later among Navajos in Arizona. The past five years he has been an advisor to the Indian center in Chicago.

ARLINGTON Heights Wom-Club sent the center 300 gifts at Christmastime. Fr. Powell was instrumental in finding a new home for Benny Bearskin and his family, members of the Indian Center who were served an eviction notice last May. Fr. Powell spends at least two months each year on an Indian reservation and has worked with the Indians all over the North Plains and in Oklahoma.

Currently and for the past two years he has been studying and recording the effects of the ancient Cheyenne ceremonies on present-day Cheyenne life. This study is made possible by a Rockefeller Foundation grant.

On display will be the personal Indian relic collection of Mrs. G. Rex Voltz, a member of the club, and a resident of Arlington Heights. Many of these articles were left here by the Potawatomi Indians after the signing of the Miami treaty.

COLOR slides of Mesa Verde, the home of the cliff dwellers, will also be shown.

Refreshments will be served by the committee: Mrs. Douglas Schinke, chairman, and Mrs. Stephen Jurco. Reservations may be made by calling either of the committee members. (A

A Homemaker Can Also Be Creative

She Combines 'Two Worlds'

by TOM EDWARDS

How do you embroider a story about an artist, a sculptress, who:

—has produced an uncountable number of works, including national award winning pieces, but who feels that at 33 years she is "just starting" . . .

—who is first a housewife and finds creativity in and with marriage . . .

—who doesn't believe that an artist has to be an avante guarde beatnik suffering from poverty and world misunderstanding, but can be one of the crowd and still a creator . . .

—who has a zest for living and puts a zing into it . . .

—who finds "that the more you work, the more you want to work," and found her first urge to create with her first impulse to belch . . .

SUCH A STORY, an account of Mrs. Janette Hunter, 100 W. Ridge rd., six years a resident of Prospect Heights, doesn't need embellishment. It can best be told simply (as perhaps all things of beauty), for the beauty of it lies in herself.

Her husband, Robert, a successful petroleum engineer from Denver with a small business of his own on the side, perhap best sums up his wife:

"I can make anything work—but you can make things live."

He means that with the touch of her fingers and her mind's vision she molds inanimate clay, and carves and hews wood and stone into living expression.

This compliment, from a man who Mrs. Hunter regards as having an "uncanny genius" as an engineer as well as being her husband, she holds as a prized possession.

HER HOME is her studio, and she works in a plain room off the kitchen, and sometimes in the kitchen.

(Right now her main project is a 4½-foot high wood carving of a wistful, sorrowful sister huddled with and shielding a younger, sadly destined brother.)

She doesn't feel that only another artist can understand her inner workings and art itself, but enjoys discussing the arts with any appreciative neighbor, and spends much time coaching a housewife across the street, Mrs. Helen Shornden, whom she believes has exceptional talent.

She believes that it takes a creative person to appreciate as well as to create—which doesn't include persons who stuff their homes with pieces of art to exhibit their savoir faire (or possibly their lack of it).

"I don't think that the fact that you are an artist necessarily makes you different from other people."

Mrs. Hunter points out that some people, artists and others, make a conscious effort "to be different."

"Sometimes it isn't so much what you want to be, but what you don't want to be.

"This idea that to be an artist one has to suffer . . . I think you can create just as well on a full stomach as an empty one," and she admits that sometimes it is easier to be an artist with money than without.

SHE NOTES that in her position as a housewife with a husband who provides all and more than is needed to live well, she is in a better position to create than many artists. "I work whenever I feel like it," often all day long.

But there is some dichotomy in her thinking, for though coming to terms with the "full stomach" philosophy, she also said, "I couldn't take food for a steady diet." Although a good cook, (once the Herald's cook of the Week) her meals range from hot dogs to bouillabaisse (a complicated fish chowder), depending upon whether she is engrossed artistically in sculpturing or cooking on that particular day.

Though not a particular exponent of suffering in order to be an artist, she reflects that "much creativeness comes from frustration."

And she continues, "I think what frustrates people more than anything else is indecision. Indecision is a horrible thing. Any decision is better than no decision.

"You can make some horrible mistakes that way (latching on to a decision), but it is better than not doing anything at all.

"Everything can't always come out the way we want it, we can't always be right."

THIS THINKING continues to extrude in her account of her methods of working.

"I think sculpture, painting and writing should be organized. I think that in my work . . . I try in my work . . . to have a reason for every form being right where it is and the direction it's in . . . I feel you have to have the conclusion in your mind when you start."

She disputes the childlike abstractionists, the so called working from the miasmic unconscious mind, and defends technical training in the arts. "I resent a lack of knowledge in art work. It is important to learn of materials, anatomy, composition and design," she says.

"I dislike sculpture or painting that is photographic . . . you add a little bit of yourself to your work . . . but you can't get away from nature . . .

"Thinking in terms of visual forms (objects) is just as truely thinking as thinking in numbers and words."

IN DISCUSSING the need of experiencing what one creates in an art form, perhaps another slight ambivalence appears.

First, in accord with her philosophy on not having to suffer in order to produce art, she does not necessarily believe that one has to live something in order to feel and understand the experience, but can gain it through observation and research, which qualifies her statement:

"I don't think you can imagine things that are completely unrelated from experience," that is, an artist should confine himself to what he knows and understands and can best express.

Yet she states that she does not feel qualified to express motherhood from the position of a mother because "I have never experienced it," never having borne a child. (She and her husband are thinking of adopting one, she said.) She does sculpture her feelings of a child for its mother "because I have experienced it."

Still, she feels that one "forgets" what it feels like to be an adolescent, and has trepidations concerning expressing adolescence in art.

BUT because at 33 years of age "I feel like I am just getting started," Mrs. Hunter's work and ideas will continue to grow, her range will become wiser—and she will find answers to many uncertainties — and like any thinking person, find more doubts, problems and uncertainties to understand, to find answers to.

Now "I have confidence in my knowledge of fundamentals," she says. But art work "doesn't mean anything until you've lived long enough to throw it (experience and knowledge) together in some way.

"Unless a person considers himself a genius, he can't really expect to get started before 40 years of age. I think I have a little bit more to add to each piece."

How did she get started?

Her interest began in high school. She attended John Herron Institute in Indianapolis (her home) on a scholarship for six years, picking up bachelors and masters degrees.

"It was a rough six years. I went to art school from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. five days a week; three nights a week I went to night school (Indiana University extension school) to pick up my academic credits; and one night a week I worked as a ticket seller at a movie house. I probably went through school cheaper than anyone in history."

THEN she came to Chicago, worked for an architect as a clay modeler doing church interiors, and met her husband.

She did simple copy work for the architect, which she found left her emotionally flat.

"I was going to dedicate my life to art . . .not going to get married," but now, "Every creative person should get married . . ."

"I never thought I would join a woman's club (she is a member of Prospect Heights Woman's club and recently gave a lecture on sculpture to the group) or play bridge, but here I am doing it and I like it.

"During the first two years of my marriage I got out of the habit of working. (She was working at being a wife and running a household.) For the last few years I have been working very hard again."

However, she refrains from being a "pillar of the community." "If I do all those things (civic activities) I will never get anything done. I can't pick at sculpturing 15 or 20 minutes at a time.

"Nothing infuriates me more than to really get going and then have something interrupt me . . . I can only think about one thing at a time."

A METICULOUS worker, Mrs. Hunter quickly gets back to the subject of her work.

"Suitable material must be used for particular pieces of work," she notes, looking at her wood carving.

"I love wood. It is a growing thing. The grain of wood is a growing thing. I like to make my work grow. I like to make the form grow, flowing and developing . . . it gives the impression of living.

"A sculptor feels he is most nearly a complete master when working with clay . . . . he can do anything he wants with it, push it around, mold it . . .he has complete freedom.

"In clay modeling you can go in any direction you want."

FOR MANY years she worked as an ice carver, turning out pieces for banquets, conventions, weddings, etc. This she did to make money, but her husband urged her to give it up in favor of more permanent works. She gladly did.

Although she doesn't feel that art must come from poverty, she points out, "You'll be surprised how hard it is to make money."

"People are not even interested in paying a sculptor a carpenter's wage. They have no qualms about paying $50 for an ice carving which will last only about four hours. Do you know how long it takes me to do an ice carving? It takes me about 1½ hours to do one.

"People will pay $600 for a sofa that will be dated in a few years. Sculpture lasts forever. It is a wise investment. A price of $200 for a sculp is not very much."

OTHER pertinent data:

THE STUDIO OF sculptress Janette Hunter of Prospect Heights is a plain room off the kitchen of her home. Here she wields her carving tools on sister and brother study she has been working on for a year. (A14

—"I like (to do) heads and portraits. I like to do people. If I really bear down, I can do a portrait head in two weeks."

—"I couldn't count the number of pieces I have done. I sell some and give a lot away." (Artists often measure their success on whether people are able to live with their work in their homes.)

—Mrs. Hunter became a Paddock Publications "cook of the week" about a year ago for her recipes for fried pumpkin blossoms, sauerkraut meat balls and pickled eggs.

—She has exhibited her work rather extensively in shows and has garnered numerous awards, some national ratings, and won a three-month fellowship to travel in Europe while in college.

People's appearances sometimes seem to fit their occupations, and Mrs. Hunter's do. She has a sculptured profile, firm features. Although rather petite and not tall, she has an air of strength and appears taller than she is.

Her long, straight naturally blondish hair is pulled tightly back and pinned up, but a boyish cowlick in front and a tinge of freckles betray her appetite for life, both as a woman and artist. (B8

Rain Doesn't Help Sociability—Only Makes Things Green

Sidelights
Of Arlington Heights

Arlington Heights, Scarsdale & Estates, Stonegate
Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298   Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

Shure an' it's an ill wind - or snow or rain - that blows no good, an' there's one foine thing about all the wet stuff that's been fallin' lately. Maybe it ain't fer doin' our sociability eny good, but 'til afther makin' things green - an' have yez ever seen a pertier color than that? So a happy St. Patrick's day to all you Irish, whatever your nationality.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gray returned home to 906 N. Mitchell late last Tuesday and woke up to a blizzard early last Wednesday after 18 days in the east on a business and pleasure trip. weatherwise, the east held little pleasure, being drizzle-and-fog-bound during most of the Gray's visit.

However a convention in New York and a visit in New Jersey offset the climate's gloom. The sociable-businesslike convention was a success and the all-pleasure visit was with the Grays' daughter and family, the John Whites of Waldwick.

MR. AND MRS. Leroy Gorman, 417 N. Carlyle, have recently returned from Kansas City, Mo. where they attended the wedding February 11 of their daughter, Pat. The former Miss Gorman and Dr. James Mertz of St. Louis were married in St. Vincent DePaul Catholic Church of Kansas City. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Edward Walsh of St. Louis, and a friend of the groom, Don Richardson also of St. Louis, served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of St. Patrick Academy for girls in Des Plaines and was a service representative with Illinois Bell Telephone Co. before becoming a TWA hostess early last year. Dr. and Mrs. Mertz will make their home in St. Louis.

The Robert Wrights, 301 N. Derbyshire, were hosts Saturday night at a dinner party for 12 in celebration of Mr. Wright's March 13 birthday. Arlington Heights, Palatine and Glenview friends toasted their host and extended greetings mixed with lots of good advice on how to stay young.

Next day Wright's brother, Harold of Kansas City, added his congratulations during a one-day stopover between Beloit and home. He'd spent the weekend in Beloit where his daughter, Nancy, attends college and where father-daughter weekend activities kept him happily hustling.

At the Ralph Taege home Friday a mumps - delayed birthday celebration merged with a right-on-time party to honor the Taeges' sons, Jack and Terry. Their paternal grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. O. C. Taege, and uncle Richard Taege with his family, extended both belated and prompt congratulations over a festive birthday dinner. Jack was eight and plump with mumps February 24 and Terry was 12 and apparently immune Friday.

PART THREE of Gail Graczyk's celebration of her fourth birthday came Sunday and Mom is busy since convincing the birthday girl that the apparently non-stop partying is over at 718 S. Chestnut. Gail was four February 27 and she had a childrens' party and a family party on succeeding days that weekend.

Sunday's celebration included family members unable to be here two weeks ago. From Chicago came her grandparents, the Walter Tondrowskis, her great aunt, Mrs. Harry Witt and her godmother, Miss Susan Witt and Susan's fiance, Philip Coyne.

Glen Schmidt turned 18 Sunday and celebrated his elderly status at a family party in the Schmidt home, 1209 N. Dunton. Among his well-wishers were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Havlik of Mt. Prospect.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. LeMeilleur and their well-travelled poodle, Gai Beau, returned home to 1009 W. Miner Sunday after a 5-week vacation that held almost as many unscheduled events as pre-planned doings. There was a reunion in Texas with high school friends of 25 years ago and a lion hunt in Oklahoma they accidentally were almost part of.

They dined on barbecued buffalo and they met cowboy star, Rex Allen. The reunion, a gala weekend marathon, was planned as a surprise for Mrs. LeMeilleur and it brought together a dozen life-long friends. The lion hunt was a surprise, too, but not nearly so appealing, except perhaps to Gai Beau who isn't talking.

In Oklahoma the LeMeilleurs curiously joined a procession of cars and discovered, almost too late, that they were part of a "posse" on the trail of a mountain lion that had been fattening on local prize cattle. The Arlington Heighters immediately lost their curiousity and their place in the precession. It was in Oklahoma too, that they visited one of the country's largest buffalo ranches.

Also on the more than 5000-mile itinerary were visits with their parents, the L. M. LeMeilleurs and Mrs. Margaret Cunningham in Houston. It was here the high school reunion took place and the meeting with Rex Allen, then starring in a Houston rodeo that the families attended.

THEY ALSO visited relatives in Ft. Worth and many old friends of Mr. LeMeilleur in San Antonio, his birthplace. The return trip was via St. Louis, the LeMeilleurs' home before moving to Arlington Heights, and here again they enjoyed renewing old friendships.

Final touches that make the LeMeilleurs declare their vacation perfect were provided by the weather and spring's flower show. Five weeks of sunshine with temperatures consistently in the 80's plus dogwood and azalea in the fullest bloom of spring does indeed sound like perfection.

MRS. WALTER Dill is home again at 526 S. Evergreen after a 2-week visit in Dania, Fla. with her daughter and son-in-law, the Bruce Lorussos, and a brand-new granddaughter, Belinda. Belinda was born January 27 and for one so young she showed a remarkable talent, Mrs. Dill reports, for winning friends and influencing grandmothers. Mrs. Dill, returning home Saturday night, timed her visit so that she was able to celebrate with her daughter, Mrs. Lorusso's 21st birthday March 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peterson, 207 N. Douglas, enjoyed an unexpected and quite unusual visit Saturday night with their daughter and son-in-law, the Richard Shrivers of Mexico City. Major Shriver, an amateur radio enthusiast, was talking to a fellow ham in South Chicago who called the Petersons while in contact with the major, and said,"How'd you like to talk to your daughter?" So they did, via short wave radio, the telephone and a generous, soft-hearted ham in South Chicago.

The Petersons also have daughters in Burbank, Cal.; Des Moines, Iowa; Flint, Mich. and Sandwich, Ill., and their contact with Mrs. Shriver Saturday night gave them a perfect score; they heard from all five daughters last week.

Fred Martin, 111 S. Walnut, is expected home early next week from Chicago Wesley Memorial hospital where he underwent major surgery February 27.

Also in the recuperation stage is Mrs. James Harring, 304 N. Wilshire, who is home from Northwest Community hospital after an emergency appendectomy. Her condition was serious for a time and her stay in the hospital was longer than expected.

MR. AND Mrs. Barnard Bird, 122 N. Forrest, became grandparents for the first time March 9 when a son, Carl Overton Vance, was born to their daughter. Mrs. Bird leaves Sunday for a visit in Austin, Texas with Mr. and Mrs. Vance and the brand-new pride of Texas. She tentatively plans a 10-day stay.

Weekend guests in the Stanley Myer home, 403 E. Eastman, were college friends of their son, Warren, who accompanied him here for MacMurray's games in the N. C. A. A. basketball tournament Saturday. Considering the results, Evansville over MacMurray, 98-97 in a game with two overtimes, the week end was as pleasant as possible. Warren's guests were Jim Harding of St. Louis, Lee Schroyer of Canton and Warren's roommate, Max Fry of Summit, N. J.

MISS DOTTY DOTTS returns home Friday for a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Dotts, 600 Banbury. Miss Dotts is a freshman at Colorado State university at Ft. Collins and a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sutton, 627 S. State, were hosts at a get-acquainted coffee from 10 to 11:30 Friday morning.

Special guests were Citizen party candidates up for village election April 18 and included Mrs. Howard Jarvis, Joseph Schneller, Barney Erickson and Sutton. The Suttons have planned several neighborhood coffees to give their friends and neighbors an opportunity to know the candidates and to discuss issues with them.

Mrs. Ralph E. Clabaugh, 510 S. Beverly, accompanied Mrs. Helen Castor, principal of Westgate school to Bloomington, Ind., for a 3-day stay. While Mrs. Castor interviewed prospective teachers at Purdue, DePauw and Indiana university, Mrs. Clabaugh visited her daughter, Judy, a snior at Indiana university and attended the final basketball game between Indiana and Wisconsin.

MRS. W. G. FRANKE, 126 S. Pine, flew to San Diego February 21 to welcome a new grandson. The baby, Stefen Eric Gustafson was born February 20, to the Franke's daughter, the former Marilyn Franke and her husband, Vance A. Gustafson of San Diego.

Mrs. Franke remained in San Diego for 2½ weeks, enjoying the sunshine and warm weather before returning home to a March snowstorm.

Newcomers to Scarsdale are Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dabe, who moved to 510 S. Pine from Milwaukee March 1. They have two daughters, Jane and Anne.

David Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Foster, 623 Mayfair, marked his sixth birthday Saturday at a luncheon and party for five friends. His guests were Carl Schweikert, Larry Scheck, John Brinkworth, Don Herrick and Jim Merkle.

BRUCE AND RIDGLEY Jackson, children of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, 645 S. Belmont, were hosts to a group of friends at separate overnight parties.

Bruce entertained first and his guests were Mike Corbett, John Cowling, Stuart Robinson, Bruce Russell and Richard Hartung. Each boy brought his sleeping bag and after supper and an evening of playing games, popping corn and general rough-housing, crawled into their sleeping bags on the living room floor for the rest of the night.

Ridgley's party followed the next weekend and was a lady-like repetition of her brother's party. Her guests wer Marilyn and Eileen Beckman, Vicki Lilleberg, Nancy Harris and Sally Yaezel.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kramer and their children, 1717 Kensington, spent the weekend in Cedar Rapids visiting their daughter, Janet, a freshman at Coe College. During their stay, they joined their daughter and friends to attend a fraternity dance.

HUGH WESLER, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Wesler, 322 S. Derbyshire, is a member of the Park Ridge YMCA Swim club, which won the north side trophy in the Metropolitan Chicago sectional preliminary meet March 4 at Morton West, Cicero. He is a member of a relay team which qualified for the city wide YMCA finals to be held March 18 at Morton West.

Mr. and Mrs. Ian MacLeachlan, 1230 Woodford, and Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stansbury of Mt. Prospect were hosts at a supper party in the MacLachlan home for Mr. and Mrs. John Langhout, who are moving to Connecticut.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bruce Rasmussen, 202 S. Windsor, gave a pre-concert dinner party Sunday for 30 member of the Arlington Heights Community Concert association.

Co-hosts with the Rasmussens were Mr. and Mrs. James Brice, 215 Stratford.

Mr. and Mrs. William L Milliren, 441 S. Windsor, ha as their weekend guests, thei son and daughter-in-law, the Alan Millirens of Peoria. During their stay, they atended a performance of "Exodus."

MRS. CLYDE F. Potts of Pontiac, Mich., is spending several weeks in Arlington Heights visiting her niece and amily, the Charles Tullys, 11 S. Carlyle.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Tully entertained for George Candiotes of Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, who was their guest for the day. Mr. Candiotes is touring the United States with 60 men in their representative businesses and is a brother to Nicholas Candiotes, who spent two years in Arlington Heights before returning to Johannesburg. Party Would Change Town Meeting Hours

The Elk Grove Township Civic Caucus Party has announced that, if elected, its candidates would adopt a new approach to holding township meetings.

"Our policy will be to hold our meetings openly in the evening with the idea of encouraging the voters to participate and give us their views on the problems at hand," Supervisor Candidate Robert C. Jenson said.

"THESE OFFICES no longer will form a closed corporation," he said. "We will publish the usual legal notices required by law. But we also will make public in the news columns of our local papers and over the radio, if possible, the date, time, and place of any meetings we hold. These meetings will be held in a public place, not in a private home."

Jensen's announcement came after Circuit Court Judge Cornelius Harrington ruled that Incumbent Town Clerk Robert Grienke had scheduled an illegal registration of voters in his Golf rd home last Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

THE JUDGE ruled after Robert Fleming, Civic Caucus Party candidate for Collector petitioned the court for an injunction to prevent the clerk from holding registration in his home. Fleming won the injunction after Grienke's attorney admitted there was a new town hall available for the registration.

Greinke countered opposition charges by saying that the request for an injunction to have registration held at the town hall was both unnecessary and politically motivated.

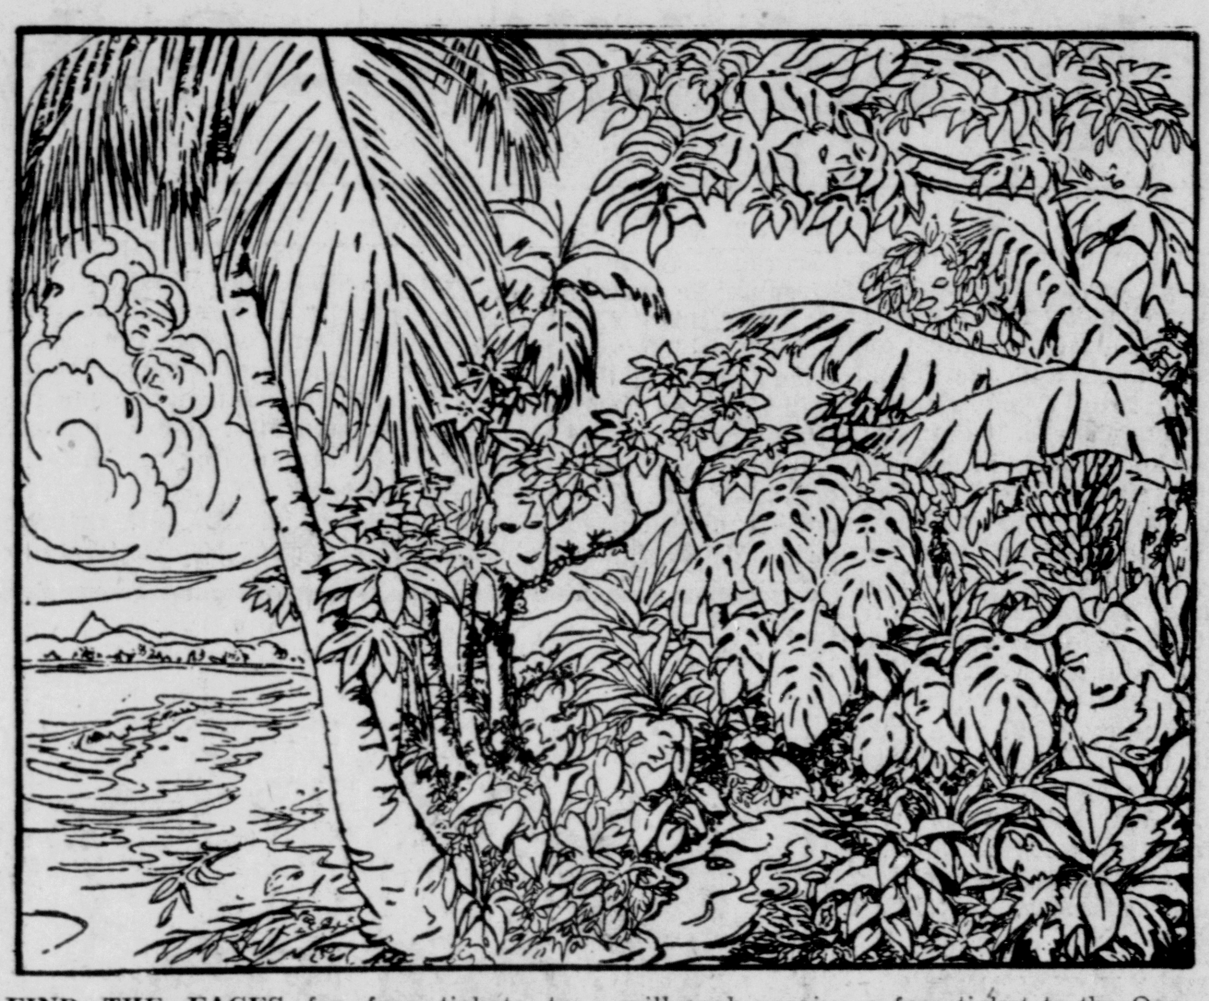
Registration hours from 9 a.m. to five p.m. at the town hall had been set, Greinke said. These hours comply with statutory requirements.

IN ADDITION, as a service to the public and on his own time, Greinke had proposed further registration hours. These were to be held at his own home from 7 to 9 p.m. March 1 to 3.

These evening hours were specifically added for the convenience of late returning commuters. Also for those who did not know the location of the new town hall.

Greinke's home served as his office for the five years prior to the completion of the new town hall this week.

NO REQUEST for evening hours at the town hall were received prior to the suit, Greinke related. He added that it can only be concluded that the Civic Caucus party's motivation was to reap political capital, and bogus at that, rather than to obtain any change in services to voters.



FIND THE FACES for free tickets to Oasis theater — that's the challenge to movie-goers this week with the contest closing March 23. Movie fans are urged to count how many faces they can find in the picture above, mark them, and mail to "Movie Faces," Paddock Publications, Arlington Heights. The best 50 answers will each receive a free ticket to the Oasis theater. Picture above is from "Where the Boys Are" which opens Friday, Mar. 17, at the Oasis theater, Elmhurst rd. at Touhy and Higgins. Companion feature will be Tony Curtis in "Rawhide Years." Special added attraction will be the complete Patterson - Johansson fight films.

Charges Hit By Candidate

Ronald Bradley, incumbent Elk Grove Township road commissioner who seeks re election on the People's Party slate, this week issued a statement correcting charges leveled by opposition concerning maintenance of township roads.

"PUBLIC statements were made which implied that certain roads said to be under township jurisdiction were neglected. I would like to correct these statements," Bradley said.

He cited the following:

—Busse rd. has been under Cook County control and jurisdiction for more than 20 years.

—Miller rd. has been under the jurisdiction of the City of Des Plaines for nearly two years except for a strip at the east end which is approximately 300 ft. in length and is only one-half of the road section. "It is the opinion of the attorney general that the City of Des Plaines is responsible for the maintenance of this road," Bradley noted. "Contrary to the story that the township has not maintained this road it should be noted that we put 50 loads of crushed gravel on this section in the summer of 1960."

LINCOLN st. was returned to township jurisdiction by the County in 1959. At that time new sewer lines had been installed which ran down through the center of the road to a depth of approximately 40 ft., according to Bradley.

"This road is still settling but we put 2,700 gallons of road oil, at 19 cents per gallon, on it last year and also spent $2,800 to $3,000 for stone and gravel on this road," the road commissioner said.

Candidates Night Is Set for Town Slates

The highlight of this week's activity in the campaign for Wheeling township offices will be tonight's (Thursday) candidate night in the Arlington Heights VFW hall, Yale st. and Northwest hwy.

All 41 cnadidates running for 12 township offices have been invited to appear to present their qualifications for office and ideas for office improvement. The program begins at 8 p.m.

EARLIER this week Raymond H. Stevenson, an independent candidate for justice of the peace, accelerated the pace of his campaign with an emphasis on personal contact with voters.

Stevenson, of 413 N. Forest ave., Mt. Prospect, said: "I have published my platform, I believe in it, and I want to present it to the voters in person."

The 33-year-old attorney indicated he has been ringing doorbells for two weeks and is gratified by the interest displayed in his candidacy.

Thomas Hanlon, also an independent JP candidate, and Clarence A. Hendrickson, an independent candidate for assessor, have also been stepping up their campaigns by attending a series of coffee hour meetings to explain their programs to voters.

Both candidates said this week they feel the township "has not been governed in the best possible manner" during the past four years.

ACCORDING to Hanlon, of 610 N. Wilshire ln., Arlington Heights, the justice court "has a poor reputation because many justices are poorly trained or have no training in the law at all."

HANLON opined the township must have a court which is responsibly administered and is convenient to the public. He promised to hold court in the evening for residents' convenience.

Hendrickson, of 743 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights, cited his years of experience in assessing and appraising real estate as qualifications for the assessor office.

He said he pledges to provide the best service possible and devote full time to the job if necessary. (ACM

Republican Women Launch New Hospitality Program

Wheeling Township Women's Republican club will launch a hospitality program Saturday, with its "Girls On Parade" as the principal performers.

The details of this unique political endeavor have been developed under the direction of co - chairmen Mrs. Edmond Shanahan and Mrs. Eugene Schlickman.

The program, which will operate throughout the year, has been designed to utilize the voluntary services of all dedicated Republican women — those who would like to assist on a year-round basis, as well as the woman whose free time is very limited.

THE CLUB said it was pleased with the enthusiasm expressed by the Women's Republican club of the 13th Congressional district, which added it hopes other clubs in the area would adopt similar programs.

With membership cooperation, the plan should prove to be a constructive approach to the call of Congresswoman Marguerite Stitt Church for more participation by women in all levels of politics.

All township GOP women who would like to put a little fun in their politics and join the "Girls on Parade" are invited to contact the telephone chairman, Mrs. Jackie Jordan, at Cl 9-3089.

THE NEXT general business meeting of the Wheeling club will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, March 23, at the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association building, 25 E. Campbell.

The revised by - laws will be reviewed, as well as other current business. All women are invited. Mrs. A. J. Baugous, Cl 3-8027 is in charge of membership. (ACM

Two-Point Platform Told By Candidate for Justice

Elk Grove Township incumbent justice of the peace candidate Glen Grunewald this week asked voters to consider his two-point platform when making their selection of justice candidates in the April 4 township elections.

REVIEWING changes in the township judiciary system which reduced the number of justices from five to two, Grunewald stressed:

1. "I think the justice of the peace should be a lawyer. The issues in the JP court are the same as in any court. Justices will be obliged to hear cases and to make decisions in accordance with the law. To do this the justice should have a sound legal background.

2. "The fact that I'm an independent candidate is important in the overall picture of politics. Independents are not obligated to anyone or subject to pressures of slate or party affiliation. The justice will be presiding over an area populated by 30,000 people. There should be no possibility of patronage obligations in a JP court."

GRUNEWALD, a patent attorney who has been with the law firm of Horton, Davis, McCaleb, Chicago, for the past three years holds a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from Illinois Institute of Technology and a law degree (J.D.) from DePaul University, Chicago.

He served with the 95th infantry division, U.S. Army during WW II, is an original charter member of the Northwest Suburban Bar association, a member of the Chicago Bar, Chicago Patent Law association, Illinois Institute of Technology Alumni association and was the first president of the Hatlen Heights Civic association.

He and his wife, Martha, and two daughters have resided in Mt. Prospect for five years.

ASKED about his plans to campaign for election Grunewald said "My campaign is going to cost me about $100. I have five or six friends working for me and if I get reelected to office there will be no pressure on me. There is nothing to keep me from being an honest judge. I'm not interested in a political future. I'm a practicing attorney and that's what I want to be. (ACM

SWINGIN' SQUARES

"Clay pipes and green hats will be welcome tomorrow night at the St. Patrick's day dance of the Swingin' Squares, but all shillelaghs will have to be checked at the door of the Recreation Park field house." So say club officers, Irish tongue in cheek, as they invite everyone to join the membership at tomorrow night's dance. The invitation includes leprechauns, noted for their love of the dance, and it is expected they'll be out in force.

Newly - appointed program chairmen, Bob and Nadine Luebbe, promise several top secret games and gimmicks, with plenty of prizes. Club caller Don Finfrock is readying such grand old Irish calls as "Wearin' of the Green," "Irish Washerwoman" and "McNamara's Band," and as always round dancing will be featured too, Faith, an' it'll be a foine night fer all, includin' the Little People.

TWENTY-ONE guest couples joined members at the March 3 dance of the Swingin' Squares and two visiting callers, Fred Douglas of Aurora and Don Izaard of Mundelein, had a typical caller's holiday. They called a few, for a most appreciative audience.

Club dances are held on the first and third Friday nights of each month at the Recreation Park field house, 500 E. Miner, Arlington Heights. Don Finfrock starts the program at 8:30, with dancing until 11 o'clock. There is a social and refreshment hour after the dancing. Guests are always welcome. (B9

Unique Construction

Structural Strength Tests Completed at New School

Construction is proceeding "full speed ahead" at the new Forest View high school following successful completion of structural strength tests Saturday at the school site on Goebbert rd. south of Arlington Heights.

The strength tests were conducted on the vertical pre cast, pre-stressed concrete columns used in building "B" which will house the business education and administration offices.

Construction of the academic and business-administraitor buildings is of an advanced method not used previously in this area. Supporting concrete columns are placed in position, with the roof, second and third floor decks poured at ground level. The decks are jacked up the columns into place.

BECAUSE OF the unusual construction method and the necessity to be more than certain of the safety of a school building, members of Arlington-Prospect district 214 board of education requested the tests before construction of building "B" proceeded. Minor cracks which appeared in the center 1/8 inch grouting made the school board and architectural firm of Samuelson and Sandquist, building designers, anxious for the strength test to eliminate all possible doubt of the ultimate building safety. The cracks were presumably caused by weather.

The test Saturday was conducted at the school site by Jack Janney, chief testing engineer for Engineers Collaborative. Supervising the test was Dr. M. A. Sozen of the University of Illinois, a nationally-known expert on material strength analysis.

The tests of the columns, conducted for both bending and cracking, more than satisfied the 4:1 ratio listed by the architects in the school design. The ratio figure represents four times the expected normal weight of the building plus live weight of students and furniture.

THE ROOF DECK of one section of building "B" was jacked into position early in March. During the elevating operation a strain of almost 8:1 is placed on the columns according to Theodore Samuelson, architect. Test meters were used during the jacking operation with favorable results, he indicated. He stated the columns after the jacking operation would "never again experience a heavier strain."

The concrete columns are 16-inches square and 21 feet in length at the two-floor level and 30 feet in length at the three floor level.

Attending the test Saturday were school board members John Haas, George Laubenheimer and President Kenneth Dougan, Samuelson and other members of the architectural firm and representatives of the Sproul construction firm. (ACM ROOF SLAB FOR the new Forest View high school is pictured "on its way," elevated about six feet from the ground. The roof, now in place, is on the business-administration building. The vertical pre-cast pre-stressed concrete columns were tested Saturday to verify the strength of the materials in an effort to be "doubly safe" in the advanced construction method. Tests were successful, satisfying district 214 school board members of the complete safety of the building. (ACM

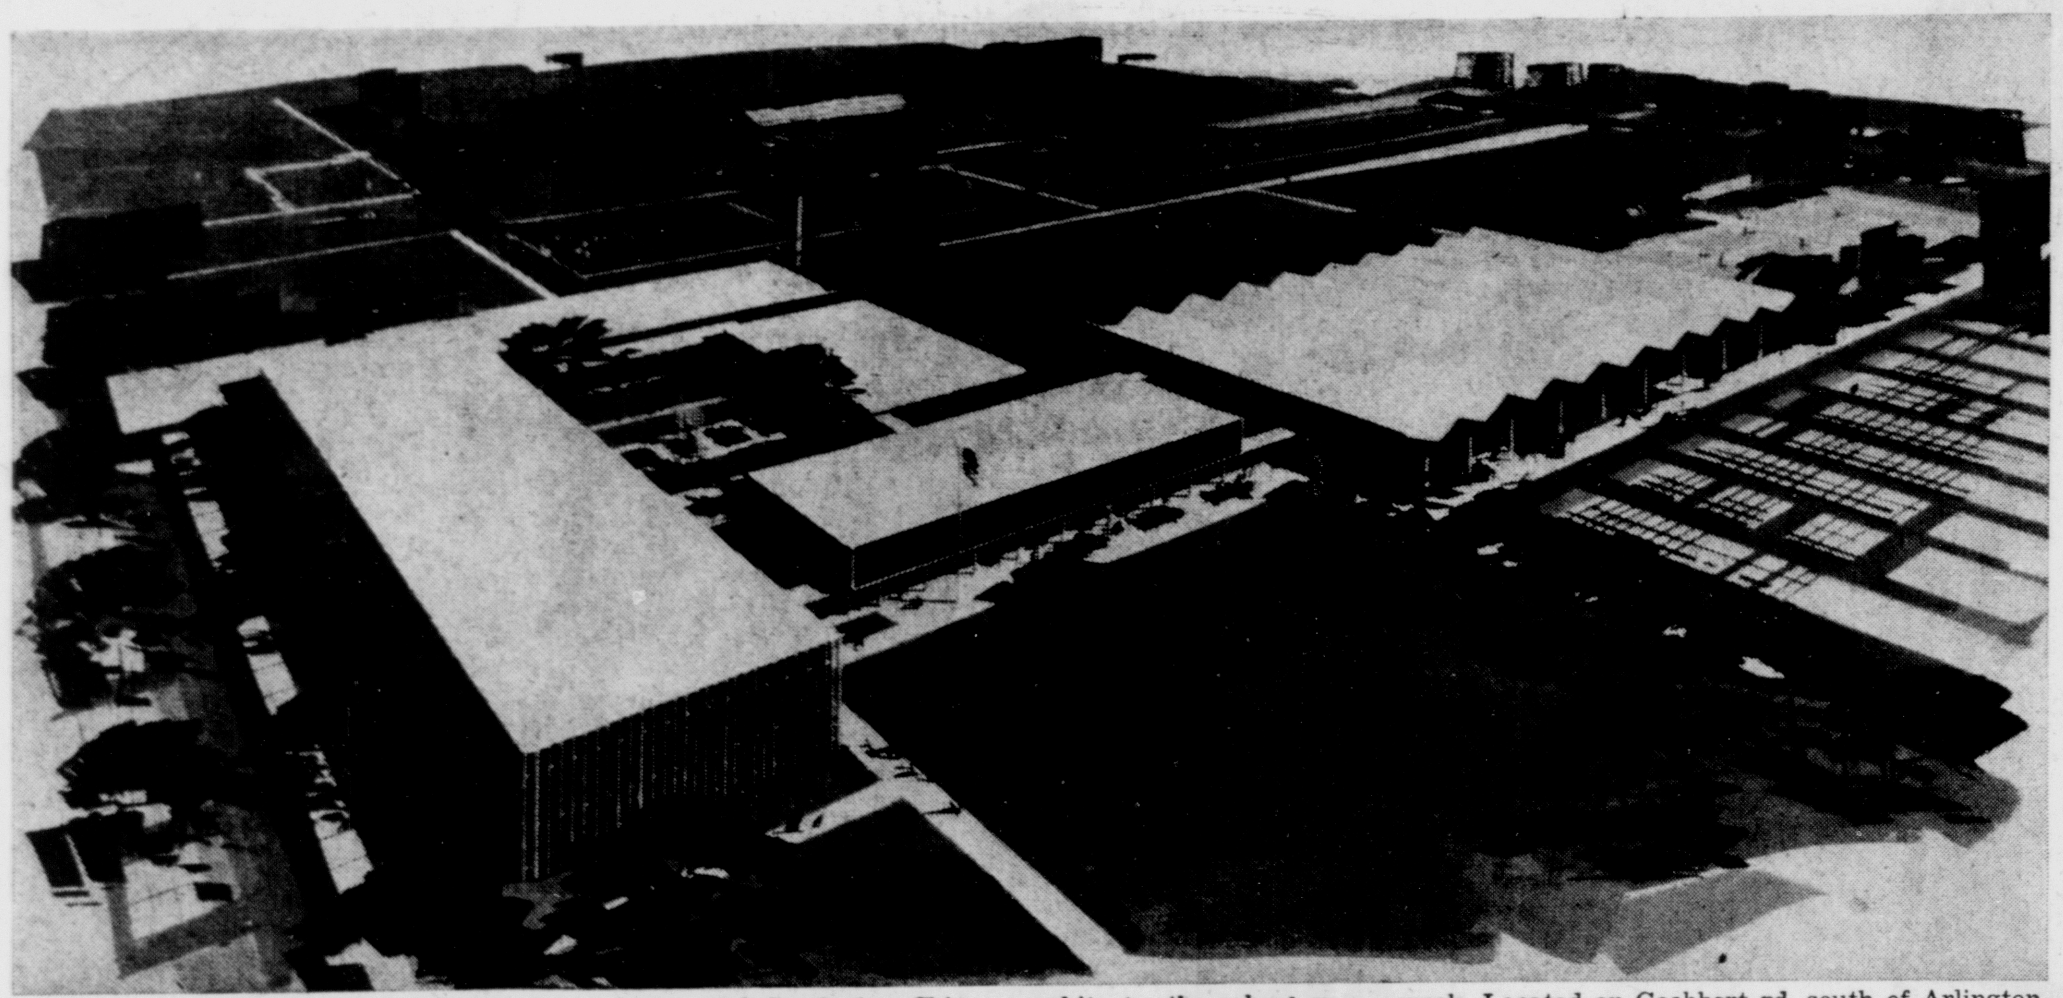
CONTROL PANEL OPERATOR Tom Bardo directs the lifting of the roof slab for the Forest View high school business-administration building under the supervision of Darrel Wills, superintendent for Great Lakes Lift Slab Co. The slabs for the roof, second and third floors are poured on the ground and elevated into position by hydraulic jacks.

Forest View High School Awarded Design Citation



A TOP ARCHITECTURAL AWARD has been received by Arlington-Prospect high school district 214 for their new Forest View high school now under construction. Designed by Samuelsen and Sandquist, Chicago architects, the school received a special citation among 250 architectural exhibits at the convention of the American Association of School Administrators in St. Louis this week. Located on Goebbert rd. south of Arlington Heights the school is scheduled for opening in September, 1962.

When students enter Forest View high school in September, 1962, for the first time they will be attending one of the best-designed schools in the country. The school this week was chosen for a special citation by the American Association of School Administrators from a group of 250 new school designs submitted.

Designed by Samuelson and Sandquist, Chicago architects, the school was one of only 20 cited by the educators at their annual convention in St. Louis.

The campus - type plan school will have separate buildings for administration, vocational training, academic studies, cafeteria and physical education. It will accommodate 2500 students.

LOCATED on Goebbert rd. south of Arlington Heights, the new school will be the third plant for Arlington-Prospect high school district 214. Construction was started last August. General contractor for the school is E. W. Sproul Construction co. Cost of the completed building, completely landscaped and equipped, will be about $4,400,000.

Winners of special citations at the AASA convention were selected by a jury of three members of the American Institute of Architects and three school administrators.

The citation for the Forest View high school noted the "effective use of interior space in a large compact school plant." It praised the distinctive feature of a "utility core unit" containing conference and office space, lockers and washrooms between corridors in classroom wings.

Superintendent Harold L. Slichenmyer of district 214 attended the convention. Messages of commendation for district 214 were received from administrators, board members and architects for the foresight of the district in developing the Forest View school. Theodore Samuelson, Arlington Heights, partner of the winning architectural firm, was similarly commended while attending the convention. (ACM

GUARANTEE better maintenance for all township roads —the Better Government party pledges to use Motor Fuel Tax funds, where available, for the improvement of township roads . . . with particular references to Prospect Heights, Forest River and Arlington Knolls;

Promote support of the Blue Ballot for judicial reform—(Better Government JP candidates) pledge their full support of the judicial reform legislation now before the Illinois legislature;

Insure competent auditing of township transactions—the Better Government party auditor candidates have accounting backgrounds; and

GIVE VOTERS year-round access to all township records and information—the Better Government party pledges to issue agendas of all meetings and full information with respect to the operation of the township government to the newspapers and to all organized civic groups.

In addition to Norman, Better Government candidates and their target offices are Robert L. Sklodwoski, 720 N. River rd., Mt. Prospect, justice of the peace; Samul J. Abbinanti, 308 N. Windsor dr., Arlington Hights, and Arnold F. Krause, 169 Wildwood, Wheeling, constable.

Frederick Siebert, 310 S. I-Oka, Mt. Prospect, was honored as the patient of the year. He was selected for his determined efforts to train his left hand, enabling him to continue his 19-year architectural career in spite of paralysis of his right side, arm, face and leg.

MRS. BEATRICE Moss, 411 Oxford rd., Barrington, was elected as employee of the year by fellow staff members. She was cited for her readiness to work on any shift, her interest in patient welfare and her willingness to "give her all" to her job. Swedish Fruit Soup Recipe Wins Praise of Baer Family

An old recipe for Swedish Fruit Soup ranks among the family favorites in the Gordon E. Baer household.

"I've made this recipe so many times the past few months that I'm afraid my family might tire of it," said Mrs. Baer, "but they continue to request it. The recipe originally belonged to my husband's grandmother and I just altered it a bit to suit our taste."

This flavorful soup is made by cooking mixed dried fruit, such as apricots, apples, peaches and prunes, with raisins, lemon, tapioca and jam. It is sweetened with sugar, flavored with cinnamon sticks and colored with grenadine syrup.

THE BAERS prefer this soup chilled, but it may be served warm, if desired. Its uses are many, as it may be served before a meal, for a lunch or as a dessert.

"Yummy" is an appropriate name for one of Mrs. Baer's favorite baking powder coffee cakes.

Sour cream is used in the batter, which contributes to the high, light and moist texture of this appealing cake. It has a topping and filling of sugar, cinnamon and nuts, and is so delicious that it can be used as a dessert.

"Because it is so moist I'm sure it would keep for days," commented this good cook, "but it never lasts that long in our house. We like it with coffee before retiring at night and it is a Sunday breakfast treat."

ANOTHER of her favorite recipes is for savory shrimp.

Simple to prepare, this recipe combines shrimp with a flavorful creole sauce dotted with sliced olives, green pepper and onion. Sherry wine lends additional zest.

Mrs. Baer serves it over rice which is garnished with parsley. She suggests a fruit salad, dessert and coffee to complete the meal.

Though easy to prepare, this Creole dish is elegant to taste and is excellent company fare.

A GRADUATE of Bradley university, Mrs. Baer worked before her marriage as a home economist for the Commonwealth Edison company. She laughingly admits that she likes to eat almost as much as she likes to cook, and particularly likes to entertain guests who enjoy good food.

In addition to her culinary interests this busy mother of two boys has several outside activities. She is secretary of Circle 5 of the Women's association of the First Presbyterian church, treasurer of her golf league, a member of the PTA and the Finessers Bridge club.

The Baers live at 1147 N. Hickory in Arlington Heights. Their sons are Roger, 12, and Robert, 8-years-old.

Swedish Fruit Soup

1 pound mixed dried fruit (apricots, apples, peaches, prunes)
1/3 cup light or dark raisins
½ lemon, sliced thin
3 4-inch cinnamon sticks
½ to 2/3 cup granulated sugar
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
3 tablespoons jelly or jam (any kind)
1 tablespoon grenadine syrup

Place all ingredients in a saucepan and add eight cups water. Bring to a boil, stirring. Then simmer, covered, about 30 minutes or until fruit is tender.

Let cool, remove cinnamon sticks and place soup in refrigerator. Serve cold, either before a meal, for lunch or as a dessert. The soup may be served warm, if desired.

Serves 10 to 12.

Yummy Coffee Cake

½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup commercial sour cream
1 teaspoon vanila

Cream butter until soft. Add sugar and cream until very fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition.

Sift flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt together. Add dry ingredients alternately with sour cream, beginning and ending with the flour. Stir in vanilla.

Pour one-half of the batter into a greased 9 by 9 inch pan. Cover with half of topping mixture. Spread remaining batter over and top with remaining mixture.

Bake in a 325 degree oven for about 40 minutes.

Topping

1/3 cup brown sugar
¼ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup finely choped pecans

Combine ingredients and mix well.

Shrimp Creole

1 pound boiled shrimp
2 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper
2 cups Creole sauce
¼ cup cooking wine

Remove shells and intestines from boiled shrimp.

Melt butter in skillet; add the shrimp and cook for about two minutes. Season with salt and pepper. Add creole sauce and cooking wine. Cover and simmer for five minutes.

Serve shrimp with steamed rice which is garnished with parsley. Serves 4.

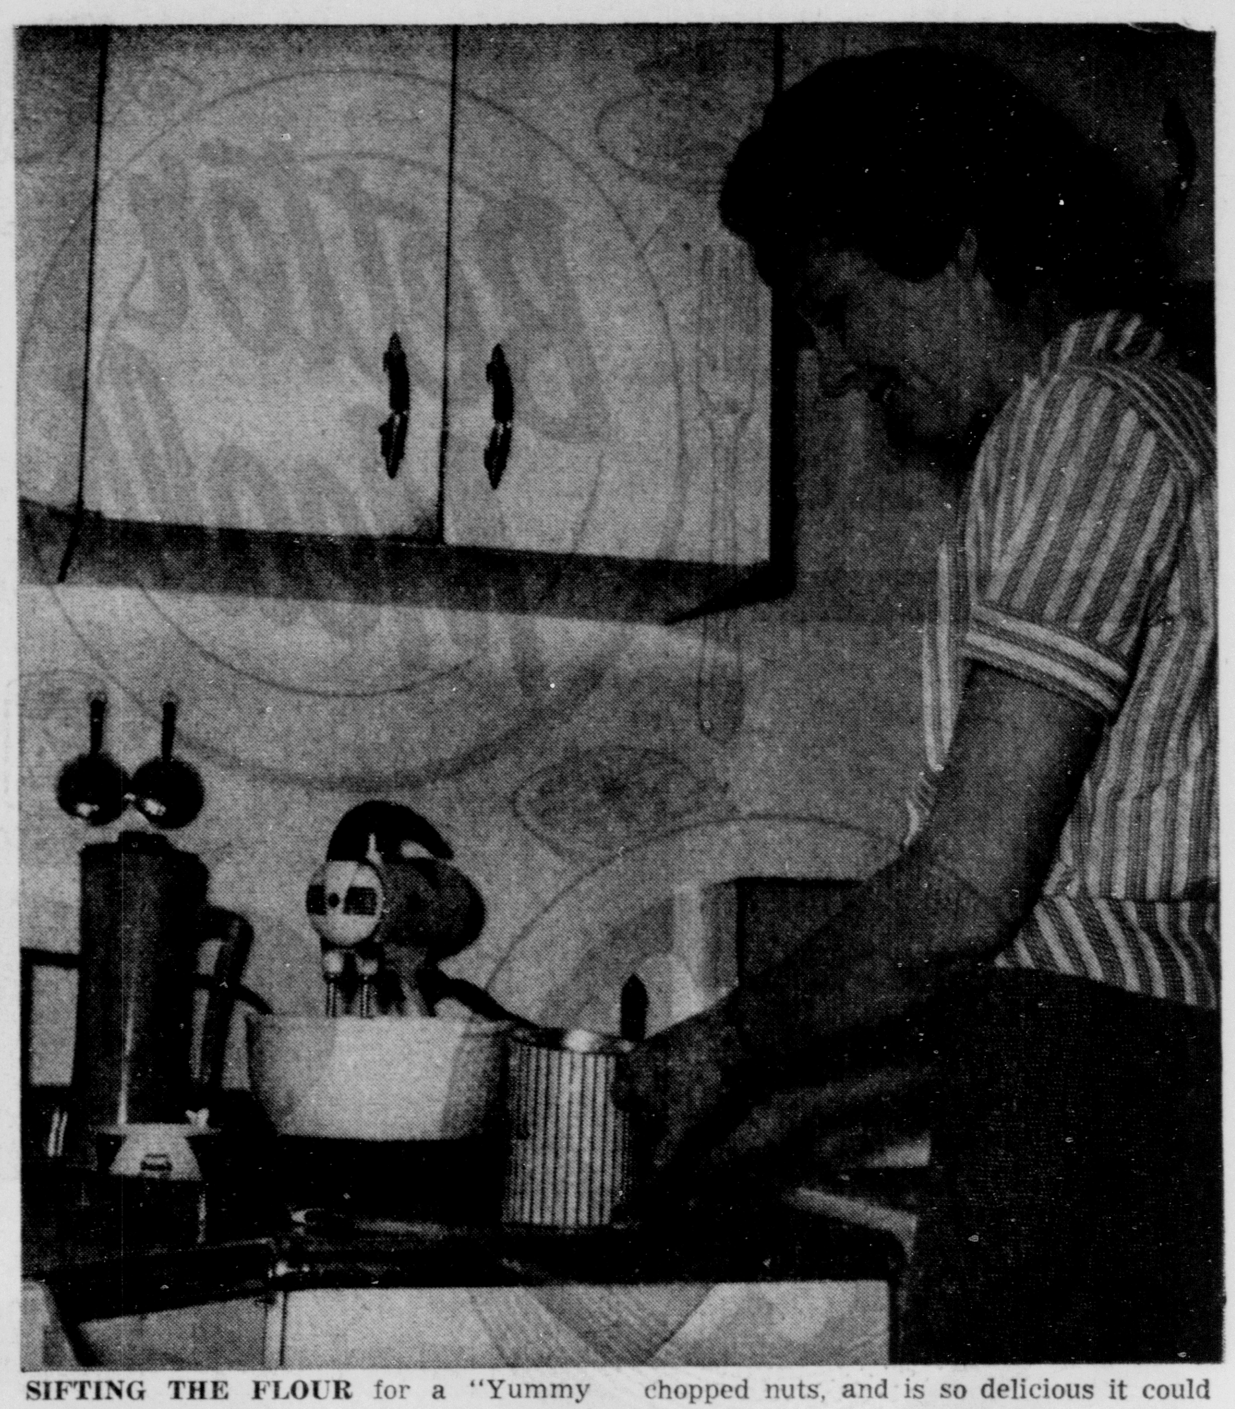
Creole Sauce

2 tablespoons butter
1 medium onion, sliced in rings
6 or 7 stuffed olives, sliced
1½ cups tomatoes
½ green pepper, cut in medium-size pieces
1 teaspoon granulated sugar

Melt butter and add onion and olives. Cook, covered, for two minutes. Add tomatoes, green pepper and sugar. Cook until sauce is thick. One tablespoon flour mixed with a little water may be added to hasten the thickening process. (SH

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

by LOIS SEILER



SIFTING THE FLOUR for a "Yummy Coffee Cake" is Mrs. Gordon E. Baer of Arlington Heights. Appropriately named, this high and light coffee cake has a filling and topping of sugar, cinnamon and chopped nuts, and is so delicious it could be used as a dessert. This cake, a flavorful Swedish Fruit Soup and a savory Shrimp Creole are among this good cook's favorite recipes. (SH

Electric Control Panel Is Newest Kitchen Aid

Today's modern kitchen makes adequate provision for the many electric housewares appliances which have become so popular in the home. Several manufacturers offer control panels providing four to six convenience outlets, with deluxe models including such added features as retractable cords and timing clocks.

The panel pictured here is supplied by a 120/240 volt three-wire circuit which provides sufficient current to operate a coffeemaker, griddle and frying pan all at the same time, with enough outlets remaining for a mixer, a toaster, and an electric can opener.

Especially attractive to the orderly homemaker is the "appliance center" offered by one manufacturer, which provides not only a control panel but also an especially planned cabinet which holds up to fifteen plug-in appliances. (SH

Gourmet Creates New Blue Cheese Garnish For Perch

HERE MATHON Kyritsis, who makes it a practice to develop new recipes for his popular seafood restaurant in Waukegan, watches while his brother, John, mixes a batch of the special blue cheese sauce that is used to top perch and trout. Economical American blue cheese is used in the unusual sauce, which is easy-to-prepare, yet possesses a genuine gourmet flair.

Mathon Kyritsis, top gourmet and owner of Mathon's Seafood restaurant in Waukegan, has introduced a new tangy blue cheese cucumber sauce that he says will turn an ordinary Lenten meal or Friday night fish dinner into a gourmet treat right in the home.

Kyritsis, who has garnered a national reputation for his ability to predict weather by observing the habits of Lake Michigan fish, features freshly-caught perch on his daily menu. Crisp, pan-fried lake perch are a favorite with his customers, and the blue cheese cucumber sauce highlights the flavor of this delicious fresh fish.

"Although we serve this blue cheese sauce with perch, it also is wonderful with broiled or baked fish. The recipe has been designed to satisfy both the gourmet and the average person who enjoys a good fish dinner," Kyritsis says.

MATHON'S BLUE CHEESE SAUCE

½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon prepared horseradish
1 teaspoon minced onion
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 cup evaporated milk
½ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 3 ounces)
½ cup finely diced, pared cucumber

Blend seasonings and vinegar slowly into evaporated milk. Fold in American blue cheese. Shortly before serving, fold in diced cucumber. Yields approximately 8 servings of about four tablespoons each. The sauce is served as a cold accompaniment on the fish. (SH

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Edward Rentz

You'd think, wouldn't you, that anyone who tried to make his living selling ants, grasshoppers, or french-fried Mexican worms as food delicacies should have his head examined. At the very least, you'd predict with all the certainty in the world that the only alternative to an institution would be bankruptcy.

There are, however, firms in this country who are doing a landoffice business selling just such food oddities as those mentioned above, and the competition in the exotic food field is keen, too. There seems to be no lack of customers for the zany delicacies like pickled rosebuds, bees in soy sauce, and canned octopus.

the Loaf that became a Legend....

WAY BACK IN 1856, St. John's Abbey and University were founded. From the start, the monks baked a wonderful grain-rich bread from an age-old monastic recipe. The thick, brown, hearty loaves became a tradition.... a special trade-mark to the thousands of St. John's men who enjoyed it. Graduates write for it, come back for it.

NOW, this old-abbey bread, with its rare, natural flavor and quality, is being baked for you. You'll find it fresh at most good food stores, in the original ROUGH-GRAIN DARK loaf, and in WHITE. Ask for it, try it, you'll agree:

It's what bread was meant to be!

TUNA A LENTEN favorite—Because of its convenience and delectable flavor, tuna in vegetable oil appears frequently during Lent. Now it turns up in gumbo, a hearty soup from New Orleans. Into the kettle go tuna in vegetable oil, canned corn, rice, tomatoes, and okra, the vegetable that lends gumbo its distinctive character.

Robust Tuna Gumbo For Lenten Change

From way down yonder in New Orleans comes delectable gumbo, a soup so hearty it verges on classifying as a stew. Into gumbo goes a variety of ingredients—this Lenten version calls for tuna in vegetable oil, rice, canned corn, tomatoes, and okra. It is okra that gives gumbo its distinctive character.

The appearance and blend of flavors in the tuna gumbo are excellent. Even children who do not like to try something new will find that every ingredient is familiar; the okra they also know via canned soup introduction.

SINCE ALL the ingredients for this luncheon or supper main dish are on the pantry shelf, it is only necessary to combine them and simmer them long enough for a mingling of flavors. With tuna's protein added, this gumbo is a meat and vegetable course in one dish. Corn sticks, another Southern favorite, complete the Lenten menu.

TUNA CORN GUMBO

2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna-in-vegetable oil
1 medium onion, chopped
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
1 can (1 pound) okra
1 can (1 pound) whole kernel corn
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon paprika
½ cup packaged precooked rice

Drain oil from tuna into saucepan. Add onion; cook until tender but not brown. Add vegetables with liquids and seasonings. Bring to a boil. Add rice, simmer five minutes. Add tuna, cook five minutes longer. Serve in large soup plates. Yield: 6 servings. (SH

Week's Best food buys

Corned beef and cabbage serve in a dual role this week as an indicator of marketing economy as well as a traditional feature buy.

Retail food prices and bargains are steady at week-ago listings by the University of Illinois consumer service.

Behind the scenes, so to speak, were these developments that prove interesting and somwhat significant as a current influence.

Government purchased for needy families 1,540,166 pounds of dried eggs, 9,161,100 pounds of canned pork and gravy, and 1,113,000 pounds of frozen lamb carcasses. Supplier offerings were 3,875,508 pounds of dried eggs and 13,063,050 pounds of pork and gravy, one indication of supply abundance outweighing consumer movement to set up the lower costs reported recently.

THESE purchases built some steam in wholesale distribution lines and costs firmed on pork, lamb and eggs.

Turkeys as a category continue plagued with over-supply. Storage stocks now total 170,000,000 pounds — 28,000,000 pounds more than year-ago, with producers planning a 20 per cent increase in flocks.

At retail, the long-expected price break on turkeys began to set in this week. Heavier weights dropped on promotion as much as 10 cents a pound in some outlets that seek to slash inventory regardless of initial costs.

ADD corned beef to representative meat bargains and strawberries to seasonal produce values and the consumer service consensus buy list of last week can virtually be repeated for the current period ending March 18.

Meats — corned beef, beef rib and rump roasts, steaks, lamb leg roasts, pork chops; poultry — fryers, turkey, large eggs; produce — strawberries, anjou pears, grapefruit, cabbage, celery, lettuce, potatoes, onions.

With basic retail prices steady, the UI notes only significant changes or new postings this week:

Corned beef, brisket and round cuts are prevalent in area stores at a consensus 59 cents.

HEAVIER weight tom turkeys tumble from the long-holding 45 cent level to range 35 - 39 cents on feature promotion in more stores. Lighter weight hens and Beltsvilles also range more widely from 39 cents for selective weights to the competitive 49 cent high. Fryers lost another penny on a long sliding decline at wholesale but last week's new lower 29 - 37 cent range holds this week.

Stewing hens seem fixed at 45 cents. Eggs recovered last week's 2 cent wholesale loss on new strength shown by the purchase program, during a period of seasonally lowering prices, but retails hold at the 53 - 63 cent range for grade A large whites. Storage stocks this week are 245,000 cases under a year ago, up from 241,800 cases last week.)

More variety keynotes fresh fruit and vegetable markets, although some slightly higher prices show on weather reduced tender lines from Florida. A random look at vegetables shows: cabbage at give away prices, lettuce cheap, green onions a good buy, celery off, peppers vary in size and price and radishes more settled.

COOKING greens cheap, new supplies merging with old stocks make potatoes and dry onions ample, asparagus seems to be short, carrots are a good buy, cauliflower ample, tomatoes pricing stronger and artichokes rate good as a delicacy.

Fresh strawberries bow in at volume with modest prices, anjou bears and grapefruit hold bargain value positions.

The grocery index is steady, but orange juice trends still higher. (SH

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

If you fall flat in midmorning like a sour note from a short-winded tuba player, you, like he, are suffering from power loss.

Your power loss can come from too little breakfast or too much. So concluded two scientists at the State University of Iowa who studied the reactions of junior high school boys, oldsters, and college men and women.

Too much breakfast and their subjects all felt sluggish. Too little, and they could not work up to ability. The ideal breakfast, they found, supplied about one-fourth of the calories needed each day.

THIS RESEARCH denies a widely held belief: that breakfast should furnish as much as one-third of the day's calories.

You accomplish most—and feel like doing it—if you have your first meal within minutes after you roll out of bed, whether you are dedicated to a three-or-six-meal plan for the day.

Eating breakfast is good insurance for:

plenty of life in the late morning.

a solid step toward controlling your weight.

No food is specially sacred to breakfast. You may want to start your day with a sandwich—toast it, if you like—and fruit.

To keep your power and not run down before noon, make your selections for breakfast from essential food groups recommended for each day's eating.

Enriched or whole grain bread and cereal, milk or cheese, egg or an alternate, fruits and vegetables are among them. (SH

Great Day For The Irish With Traditional Fixins

CORNED BEEF and red cabbage, homemade Irish soda bread and lots of cold beer and ale. What more could a man ask for on St. Patrick's Day?

It wouldn't be St. Patrick's day without corned beef and cabbage, but have you ever made your own Irish soda bread for the occasion? Aromatic and generously filled with raisins and caraway seeds, soda bread is a treat for all who love homemade bread.

Many a toast to the Irish is proposed with a glass of beer or ale on March 17, and it is the perfect beverage to serve with the traditional foods of the day.

If you haven't experimented with beer cookery, however, now is the time to start. The bread is lighter for the use of beer or ale in the batter and the corned beef brisket becomes tender and subtly flavored when part of the simmering liquid is beer or ale.

CORNED BEEF

1 4-pound corned beef brisket
12 ounces (bottle or can) beer or ale
1 small onion, sliced
1 bay leaf
½ teaspoon whole cloves
4 peppercorns
2 stalks celery, with leaves

Put brisket in deep kettle; add cold water just to cover. Add beer, onion slices, bay leaf, cloves, peppercorns and celery. Cover; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 4 to 5 hours, or until tender. Serve with sweet-sour red cabbage.

IRISH SODA BREAD

4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 tablespoons caraway seeds
¼ cup butter
1½ cups raisins
1/3 cup beer or ale
1 egg
1 teaspoon baking soda

Sift together flour, sugar, salt and baking powder; stir in caraway seeds. Cut in butter with two knives or pastry blender until mixture is the consistency of coarse crumbs. Add raisins.

Combine beer, egg and soda; stir into flour mixture. Turn onto lightly floured board. Knead lightly until smooth; shape into ball. Place in greased 2 quart casserole.

Cut cross on top 4 inches long, ¼ inch deep. Brush with lightly beaten egg yolk or light cream. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) one hour, 15 minutes. Cool before slicing. Yield: one loaf (SH

Jambalaya For Mardi Gras Combines Shrimp, Ham, Rice

Carnival day in New Orleans is Shrove Tuesday, the day before Ash Wednesday and the rigors of Lent. Masquerade balls, parades and floats are part of the gaiety and there are good things to eat and drink.

A New Orleans favorite that you can duplicate at home for your own Mardi Gras celebration is jambalaya. It combines shrimp and ham with rice, tomatoes, okra (available canned and frozen in most parts of the country) and a variety of seasonings.

Important to a tasty jambalaya is Tabasco, a native Louisiana product, made from red peppers grown on Avery Island. It gives authentic pep to the pleasing jumble of flavors that is jambalaya!

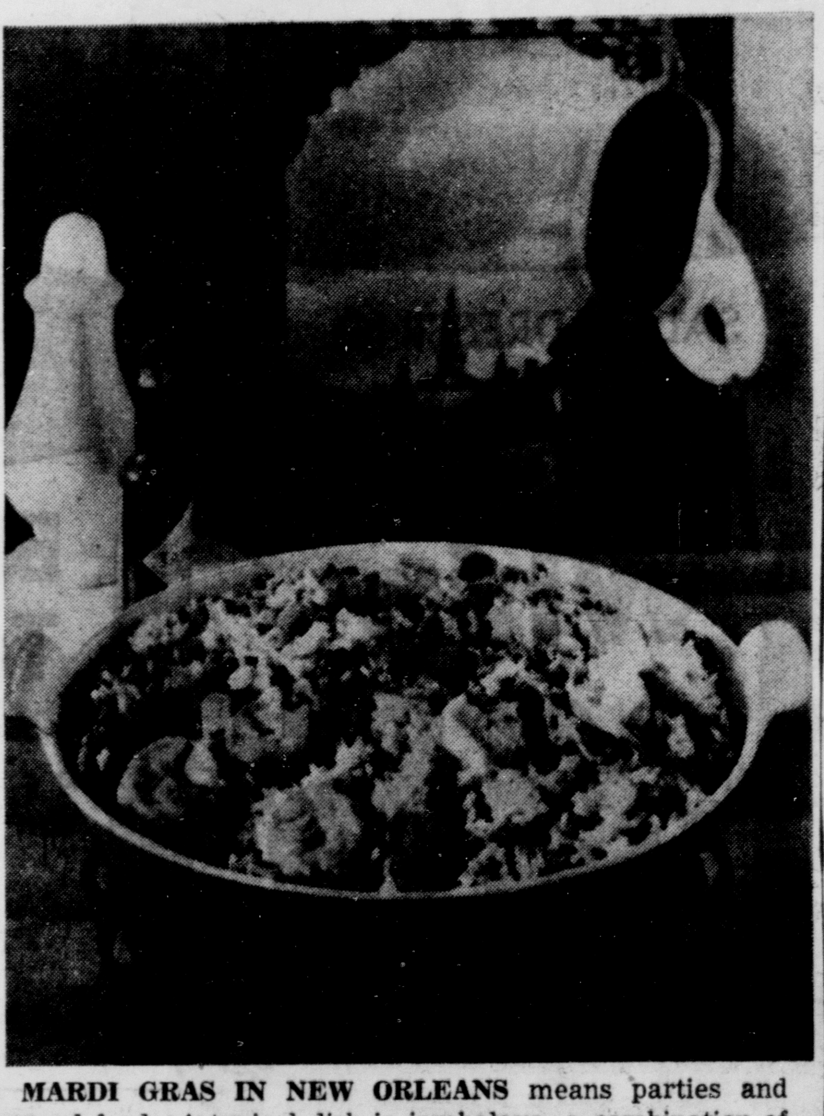
MARDI GRAS JAMBALAYA

6 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 bay leaf
1 stalk celery with leaves
2 pounds shrimp
1 1½-inch thick slice cooked ham (about ¾ pound)
4 tablespoons butter
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1 garlic clove, minced
1½ cups raw white rice
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
¾ cup bouillon or water
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon Tabasco
1 can (1 pound) okra

DAY BEFORE: Combine water, salt, bay leaf and celery in a deep saucepan. Bring to a boil. Add shrimp; return to boil, then reduce heat and simmer five minutes. Drain shrimp and cook quickly. Shell and clean. Cut ham into ½-inch cubes.

TO SERVE: Melt butter; add onion and garlic and cook until tender, but not brown. Stir in rice and toss lightly to coat with butter. Add tomatoes, bouillon, salt and Tabasco. Quickly bring mixture to boiling; reduce heat and cover.

Cook, stirring occasionally, about 20 minutes. Add shrimp, ham and okra. Continue to cook, uncovered, until heated thoroughly, about 10 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings. (SH



MARDI GRAS IN NEW ORLEANS means parties and good food. A typical dish is jambalaya, a combination of ham, shrimp, rice, tomatoes and okra. A local product, Tabasco from Avery Island, La., is an important seasoning in the dish.

The Palatine Volunteer Fire Dept. at a recent meeting, decided to have new coats and pants and have contracted with E. Prellberg and Sons for eighteen dark blue suits to be made to order. They have found out from experience that Prellberg's work gives good service. As proof that they make good fits and do first-class work at right prices they have many city customers, among them Frank Colher, the great Chicago lawyer, who planked down $50 cash in advance for a nobbysuit.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

Daniel Richardson, after a short illness, passed away Monday morning. He was born in Milton, Chittenden Co., Vermont, April 25, 1835. He became a resident of this community in 1858. On Oct. 15, 1867 he married Elizabeth Proctor, who survives him together with his two sons, Eugene, now of Fairmount, Minn., and Nathan. Mr. Richardson was one of the best known men in our village, and his place in the community will be hard to fill.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

Our Village Board needs a new up-to-date set of rules to facilitate prompt dispatch of business and not cumber the clerk's records with so many unnecessary motions for suspension of rules, etc. in paying regular monthly pay roll, bills, etc.

We need and must have police protection nights. The Board would do well to appoint Constable D. T. MacNab chief, with power to select two or three helpers for whom he will vouch and authority to discharge any who neglect their duty. We could have three or four policemen when needed and one or more on duty all night for not to exceed $100 a month. It is not safe to risk affairs thus, especially while gangs of strangers are working on the sewer and other projects. No one man could properly police even the business portion, but if it is generally known that there are several available officers, lawbreakers could not watch them all and would fear being caught. Arrests and fines would help pay expense for police, and everybody would feel safe, and if desired police would escort ladies and children home evenings.

Village Board meeting notes: Some S. Dunton Ave. property owners want the Board to vary the sidewalk line to save their trees.

Special committee reported purchase of ground for the sewerage purification plant for $425. Their action was duly supported. A committee was appointed to confer with R R officials and other interested parties about location of stock yards. Question of having police protection was discussed but no action atken.

George Klehm has bought 30 cares of land from Wm. Glade, south of town, for $200 an acre.

A. H. Basket Ball team will play Armour Square Browns Saturday night. Admission 10 cents.

Arlington Athletic Club have rented Arlington Hall for use as a gymnasium. Visitors welcome any Thursday night at either gymnasium or club rooms.

There was an unusual scene at the railway depot Sunday night. The two young men from McCormick Seminary who spoke at the Presbyterian church that evening while waiting for the 9:30 train to the city, sang hymns, and were soon surrounded by a larger audience than that in church. The young men improved their opportunity and began preaching. The audience was attentive and appreciative and joined heartily in the singing.

ELK GROVE ECHOES:

Herman's schimmel got kicked.

Miss Kublank has over 50 pupils which keeps her very busy in the school at Everding's Corners. She is a first-class teacher. Pupils who were perfect in attendance during school month ending March 8, were Emilie Deering, Alma Schwanke, Henry Schwanke, Paul Goebbert, Millie Goebbert, and Amanda Frederick.

ROSELLE:

ITASCA:

A horse caught its foot in the railroad tracks last week and had to lie on the tracks until axes were procured to chop part of a plank away. It was able to walk after release; but the foot seemed to be seriously hurt.

PALATINE:

F. F. Danielson and Dr. C. A. Starck came near being heroes one night last week. The former saw what he thought was a large fire south of town and routed out the doctor, cranked up the machine and raced south. It was only the smoking of hams on the Theis farm.

The village board took action Monday night on the street cleaning proposition. Parties who have been filling up ditches with rubbish must do so in a systematic manner and cover the same with dirt inside a reasonable time. A week in April will be set aside when all citizens will be expected to place their rubbish, tin cans, etc. on their curb and a wagon will call for same. This is partly an experiment and its success depends upon the support it receives from our citizens.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

E. W. A. Rowles & Co. will move the rest of their manufacturing plant here this spring. Contracts were recently let to Ed Schulenburg for the construction of a new building 50x125 ft. The storm this week interfered with the starting of actual construction work which is expected to be completed in six weeks. The new building will be used for a furniture warehouse while the present structure will be utilized for the manufacture of window shades and erasers. Fifteen people will be employed. Some of these will be local residents. A. F. Jasper, local superintendent, states that his company has been considering this change for some years. In addition to their own manufacture, Rowles handles all other kinds of school supplies.

The Arlington Heights Relief committee received approximately $29 as a direct answer to the appeal for funds, and additional funds to the amount of $66.66 have been made available. The need is great—will the community harden their hearts and permit the relief work to fail?

Observer's Notes tell of the first crocuses in Mrs. C. E. A. Lorenzen's yard on Euclid, and the robins in town, plenty of them; and then came the Storm! From near noon Saturday March 7 until Sunday night and even longer, the storm raged. Many were the dates called off; many were the disappointments. Mr. Henning of Palatine, state patrolman, stated that the storm was the worst in many years. He is responsible for the opening of Northwest Highway between Baldwin Road and at Arlington Heights, Euclid Ave. east to Rand Road, thence south to Des Plaines. He and his gang started work at noon Saturday, and the first good night's sleep they enjoyed was Tuesday night.

Between Barrington and Arlington Heights, the highway filled in almost as fast as the men opened it. By noon Sunday it was evident that the road could not be kept open, so their efforts were directed to Rand Road in order to have an outlet for traffic to Chicago. There were many stalled cars, no newspaper deliveries by trucks from Chicago until Wednesday morning. A Southbound passenger train was stalled near Arlington Park Sunday for five hours, and a relief engine sent from Des Plaines was stalled between Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect. The storm was a boon to the spring crops of the farmers, and after the wonderful weather we had over the winter period, no one could blame him much if Old Man Winter did go on a rampage.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Meier, 201 S. Walnut ave., had the misfortune to have their Pontiac sedan caught in the rails amid deep slippery snow Saturday afternoon during the blizzard; being unable to move it, it was run into and smashed by local train No. 639 from Chicago, and carried on the front of the engine to the shelter opposite the depot.

They had come west on Northwest Highway, and turned south over the State Road tracks when the car skidded in the deep snow and the hind wheels got caught in the ruts over the rails. Both Mr. and Mrs. Meier got out of the car and attempted to push the car out of the hold; meanwhile the gates went down and a flyer whizzed past them on the center track, they being stalled on the south track. Henry Gaare of the garage on Davis Street near the crossing ran out to flag the approaching local from Chicago. Due to the blinding blizzard, the engineer apparently did not see Mr. Gaare until about 150 feet from the stalled car, when it was too late to stop.

Car was struck on the left side, bent in two, and carried to the station, practically a complete wreck. A bag of wheat in the car was spilled, a bag of oats having been pulled out before the train came.

BENSENVILLE:

The first women to serve on the jury from Bensenville have been called to appear at Wheaton, March 24, to sit on the petit jury. The lucky ladies are Mrs. Harry Runge and Mrs. Walter Mittelheuser. The name of Mrs. F. P. Dutherland was also drawn but she had passed away before the notices were served.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

Mayor J. D. Flentie is not a candidate for re-election. He has given eighty years to public service in the Village, Town Clerk, 1904-15, 11 years; Village Trustee, 1920-21, 2 years; Arlington Heights mayor, 1931-41, 12 years; Park Commissioner, 6 years; School Board Member., 6 years; Member Fire Department, 40 years; totaling 80 years. He was 22 years old when he was elected town clerk, a position he held 12 years. He also served one term as tax collector. These were during his blacksmith days. It was during the past 12 years when he served as mayor that he accomplished his greatest public service. Major achievements were: Replacement of gas street lights with electricity; erection of new addition to village hall and library; revision of ordinances; purchased new fire trucks; new municipal water supply; two wells constructed complete, one under way; erection new water tower and installation of large mains around village, reducing insurance rates; second addition to village hall (garage and storage house); made possible the present recreational park; there are many smaller projects, such as tree planting, side walks, street widening, etc. in which he was the guiding spirit. Mr. Flentie said, "I wish I could personally show my appreciation for the loyal support given me by the board members to whom a lot of credit is due for the things that have been brought about during the past twelve years that I have been mayor. I hope to be as good a private citizen as I tried to be a public official."

Selective Service Board No. 1 has sent notice to the following young men to report for duty March 25: Alfred E. Pederson, Eric L. Johnson, Melvin L. Kehe, and Joseph A. Urick.

Commander Rudolph J. Rizzi, on behalf of the Arlington Heights Post 981, Veterans of Foreign Wars, who was with the Rainbow Division of the World War, will present a flag for the large pole to the people of Arlington Heights next Monday at the Village Hall. Mayor Flentie and the members of the Village Board will accept the flag in behalf of the citizens. The public is invited to attend.

Chicken pox is rampant in the North side public school, with 65 pupils absent one day last week—and there were only five cases at South school; one absent from St. James, and St. Peters had 24 cases but nine have returned to school.

PTA sets the date of April 25 as the time of the Annual Hobby Show.

SCHAUMBURG:

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sporleder held open house Sunday in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary, at their farm on Roselle Road, where they have made their home a greater part of their wedded life. Both are members of pioneer families of Schaumburg. The late Wm. Sporleder, father of Albert C. came to Schaumburg in 1848, and Christopher Kastning, father of Mrs. Sporleder, arrived in America about the same time. Mr. Sporleder is 75 years old and Mrs. Sporleder is 74. They were both born in Schaumburg.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS:

Application for a 4th class post office for Prospect Heights and to be located in the new drug store, which will open on or about April 15, has been sent to Washington, D. C. This is the only means by which Prospect Heights will ever be able to get house to house delivery. First we must establish a post office, and throughout cancellations, purchases of stamps and money orders, with constant growth, then and only then will come house to house delivery.

PALATINE:

Called to report for duty March 25, by Selective Service Board No. 1, are John N. DePue, Lee C. Blankenship, Irwin F. Hanfeldt, Lavern J. Ellinghusen, George W. Smith, and Harlow H. H. Smith.

Leslie Deverman volunteered for immediate service and was inducted into the army Feb. 17. First stationed at Ft. Sheridan, he was given special clerical training and left Monday for Camp Grant at Rockford.

MOUNT PROSPECT:

This town will have a complete system of ornamental street lights extending along the Northwest Highway from Elm St. to Center Rd. Mayor Besander and the village board secured the O.K. of the state to the improvement, but were unable to obtain bids within the allotted amount. A request to make this improvement a WPA project was made, and Mayor Besander reports that this request has been approved.

Organize Illinois Migrant Committee

A state-wide citizens committee to improve conditions for migrant farm workers in Illinois was organized this week with the support and participation of a northwest suburban human relations group.

The Opportunity Council, Inc. is joining with church, labor, and farm organizations to form an Illinois Citizens Committee for Migratory Labor. The committee, which will be affiliated with a similar group at the national level, will seek to develop proper state legislation to improve housing and welfare facilities for migrant workers.

SUPPORT for the committee was officially voted last Thursday at the council's monthly meeting. Named as local representatives to the state committee were Robert W. Dieterich, 108 N. Knight, Park Ridge; Willis J. Jensen, 418 S. Lincoln, Arlington Heights; Mrs. Walter Bricker, 414 N. Maple, Mount Prospect; and Rudy Perales, 6N112 Poplar, Wood Dale.

Organized in 1958, the Opportunity Council, Inc. has been concerned with the plight of migrant workers and other minority and underprivileged citizens in northwest suburbs. (A-14

Open Forum For Slates Is Tonight

Harold Fichte of Prospect Heights, program chairman of the Wheeling Township Regular Republican club, said this week township candidates' respond to tonight's (Thursday) candidate night has been excellent.

"We expect most all of the 40 candidates for Wheeling township offices to attend the public forum," Fichte noted. The program will begin at 8 p.m. in the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall, Arlington Heights.

CANDIDATES will be introduced in alphabetical order and by office and will have three minutes apiece to list their qualifications and ideas for operation of offices. A social hour will follow the brief addresses.

The program is being sponsored jointly by the Regular Republican, Young Republican and Women's Republican clubs of Wheeling township.

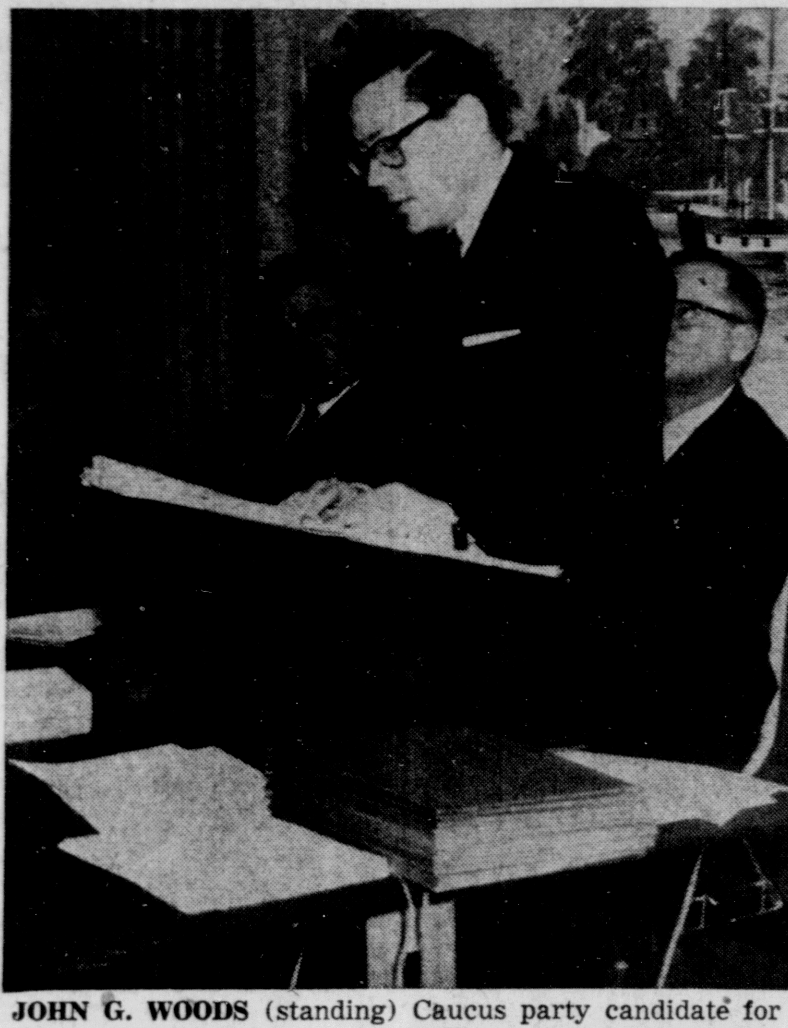
Caucus Hits Statement of Opposition on Platform

Allan P. Christiansen, 537 S. Burton, campaign director of the Arlington Heights Caucus party, this week took exception to what he termed a "loose and inaccurate" statement made by Joseph Schneller, Citizens party candidate for village president.

SCHNELLER, in a statement last week, charged his two opponent parties with adopting "weak imitations" of his party's campaign platform.



JOHN G. WOODS (standing) Caucus party candidate for village president, addresses 50 party workers Saturday. Caucus supporters heard results of investigations regarding other suburbs' experiences with full and part-time village attorneys and information regarding party policies.

Christiansen said in reply: "If Mr. Schneller had read the Caucus platform he surely must be aware of its rather complete disagreement with his own platform.

"Various important matters in the Caucus platform are not even mentioned in Mr. Schneller's, and wherever positions are taken on the same matters, there are significant differences."

CHRISTIANSEN said Schneller's platform states his party will renew efforts to have an underpass constructed under the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks, noting the Caucus party realizes this project will cost taxpayers "many millions of dollars."

He also pointed to the Citizens party plank which calls for the establishment of a full-time village attorney.

"This is apparently an off-the-cuff decision, ignoring the fact that a village board committee has this complicated question under study," Christiansen said.

The Caucus party campaign manager said he finds "no mention" in the Citizens party platform of the importance of the sales tax dollar to village revenue.

"THE CAUCUS platform clearly states that Caucus candidates will cooperate in all ways to assure maximum retention of sales tax dollars," Christiansen concluded.

Caucus candidates are John G. Woods, candidate for village president; Richard H. Glantz, William J. Moore and Norval B. Stephens, trustee candidates, and Mrs. Alberta Foerster, clerk candidate.

Runningmates on the Citizens slate are Schneller, George Coker, Barney Erickson and James Sutton, trustee candidates, and Mrs. Howard Jarvis, candidate for village clerk. (A

Good Management Party's 4-Point Platform Cited

The Good Management party released a four-point campaign platform this week explaining it is founded on "individual candidates of experience, ability, and integrity."

Basing their candidacies on demonstrated interest in the problems of Arlington members are Robert H. Bukowski, candidate for president; Mrs. Gladys Carlisle, Kurt F. Meyer and Henry P. Wist, trustee candidates, and Irving A. Johnson, candidate for village clerk.

THE CANDIDATES pledged themselves to the support of the following principles:

Sound fiscal policies — gearing the level of necessary expenditures to the rate of expansion of the tax base. This assures, insofar as village government is concerned, that the tax bite will remain about the same year after year.

Strengthen the economic character of the community — by encouraging compatible industrial expansion, upgrading commercial areas and maintaining quality in residential development.

Continued consistent and fair enforcement of village ordinances and regulations.

AND, efficient administration of village affairs through the council-manager form of government.

"In summary, we will strive to maintain the character of Arlington Heights so as to deserve the continuing pride of its residents and the respect of its neighbors," Bukowski told the Herald.

The Good Management party is opposed in the race for five board seats to be filled in the Aprii 18 election by the Caucus and Citizens parties. A

BUYING BROOM from Arlington Heights Jaycee members is Harold Carlson, (center) acting village president. The Jaycees will undertake to sell the brooms this Saturday, March 18. Making the organization's sales pitch is Robert Compton, (left) Jaycee president, and Frank Kams, broom sale chairman. All brooms are made by blind persons in Illinois, the Jaycees point out. (A

Jaycees To Sponsor Broom Sale in Village Saturday

Arlington Heights Jaycees this week announced plans to sponsor a broom sale Saturday, March 18.

Frank L. Kams, 8 S. Belmont, sale chairman explained: "By purchasing a broom from a Jaycee member, residents will be helping blind workers to be self-supporting and also helping the Jaycees to carry out a program for community betterment."

Residents may watch for the Jaycee broom trailer to appear Saturday or telephone orders to CL 5-4486 or CL 3-8465, Kams noted. He said the brooms being sold are made by blind workers.

FUNDS FROM the sale will be used to support the Junior Olympics, junior golf tournament and other youth programs of the Arlington Heights Jaycee chapter, an organization of young men devoted to civic progress.

There are now 360,000 blind persons in the United States and this number increases by 7,000 annually, Kams pointed out. The majority of these people, not wanting charity, support themselves by making brooms and other worthwhile articles.

Kams said there is one half hour blind labor in each broom the Jaycees will sell Saturday. Every 16 brooms the Jaycees sell will provide one day's work for a blind worker, he added. (A

Q. When meat is passed at the table, and the portion held closest to you is too big, or too well done, or has too much fat on it, is it all right to search through the portions until you find a suitable piece?

A. This is all right if you can do it without taking too much time or without disarranging the whole dish.

Q. I've been asked to a baby shower. Since I, of course, do not know whether the baby will be a boy or girl, would it be wise to give a gift in a "neutral" color, such as pale yellow or pale blue?

A. Certainly. However, today's babies wear pink and blue interchangeably for both girls and boys.

ROLLING MEADOWS

The fifth grade Intermediate scouts of troop 152 were the first Girl Scouts to use the pool facilities of the new Northwest YMCA. They held a family splash party February 18 under the supervision of their leaders, Mrs. Cornelius Green and Mrs. Bruce Jones.

Four troops are working on the backdrop of the Swedish booth in the G. S. International rally. Mrs. Harold Kees and troop 353 have done research on the map of Sweden and are copying the design onto the backing. Mrs. Elden Snyder and her troop 213 are sewing doll dresses into authentic patterns. These also are planned into the drop.

Troop 633, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Winsell and Mrs. John Little, will add details such as natural resources, products and capital. Actual booth decoration of tables will be handled by Mrs. Arthur Poyer and Mrs. Zeno Bell and their brownie troop 774.

PALATINE

Troop 368, Mrs. T. Bouffard, leader, made red felt valentine sachets for their mothers and valentine cards for their fathers. At the valentine party the brownies took complete charge of the decorations, refreshments and games.

February 21, these same brownies, to commemorate Thinking Day, talked about South Africa and learned songs of that country. The songs were taught by Mrs. Heineman. At the March 1 meeting, elections were held. Elected were presidnt, Diana Stier; vice president, Robin Hoigard; secretary, Rhonda Karst; treasurer, Doris Curtis.

Girls of Brownie troop 612 are working on their tenderfoot requirements so that they may fly up in May. Under the direction of Mrs. Fred Vrtis, the girls are embroidering useful items for their homes. Also in their agenda is project South Africa. Each brownie wrote to a section of South Africa asking for information. Becky Jones is the first girl to receive an answer to her letter. The Mayor of Durban is delighted that the brownies are interested in his city. He is forwarding some literature to Becky.

BEFORE attending the South African Song Fest, the troop had a party. Patrol 1, in charge of entertainment, gave a fashion show. Peggy Hill wore a brownie uniform of 1935. Roberta Urquhart had on a brownie uniform of 1939. Janet Miller modeled a girl scout uniform of 1941 and Alison Hall a girl scout uniform of 1943. All the uniforms belong to Mrs. Howard Hill.

At St. Paul church, March 3, 72 girls from South neighborhood attended a film showing on Australia, South neighborhood's country for the International rally. Mrs. Helen Beck, district 5 director, was present and led the girls in songs that will be sung at the rally. Mrs. Beck taught the Kookaburra song to the girls. The Kookaburra is an Australian bird.

MRS. BERNARD Hookanson, rally chairman, and her committee have given each troop its rally assignment. One troop will work on the aborigines, one on sports, one on the currency, one on animals and birds, one on a native dance and one on the vast outback region. One troop is making a mural.

ELK GROVE

Leaders and other adult Scouts from Elk Grove neighborhood met February 28 for the monthly meeting. At this meeting, Mrs. A. Sove was guest speaker. She described life in Oslo, Norway and all the activities of Norway. Her descriptions will be of help to the scouts at the International rally next May. The Scouts of Elk Grove thank Jaroush Baker at Elk Grove Park and Shop for the use of the window during Girl Scout week to display Girl Scout interests.

Intermediates of Elk Grove presented a flag ceremony at the Rupley school Mothers club March 1.

February 22, Brownie troop 49 went roller skating at the Paladium in Glenview. Leaders Mrs. Henry Earnest and Mrs. Thulin and Mrs. Walker Millner, a Brownie mother, accompanied the 16 girls.

March 25 and April 8 are the Saturdays the fathers can help repair one of the Girl Scout Camps. Messrs. Metcalf, Haroldsen and Kraft have already volunteered to help. Others may call the Girl Scout council of Northwest Cook county to volunteer. Brownie troop 291, Mrs. E. Thomey and Mrs. R. Seidl co-leaders, held an investiture ceremony for 12 girls February 28 at Ridge school.

BROWNIES Debby Austin, Patty Bush, Pamela Connelly, Diana Kinn, Debby Miller, Inger Overland, Joanne Scheuneman, Louise Seidl, Carol Thomey, Debby Urbina, Diane Workman and Shelly Zirlin were invested and then served refreshments to their mothers and Jim Kinn who attended the ceremony.

SOUTH MT. PROSPECT

Sixth graders in troop 477 enjoyed a day at the Chicago Natural History Museum last month. Traveling by train, the girls were accompanied by their leaders, Mrs. Caldini and Mrs. Kotowski, and also Mrs. Revnes and Mrs. Di Vito.

Brownies in troop 792 have been assisting Mt. Prospect Women's club with service projects. Last month they mounted earrings and necklaces which the club women collected to send to women patients at Illinois State hospital. The troop and its leaders, Mrs. Sweet and Mrs. Beck, are preparing a picture display for Girl Scout week and will mount it on the bulletin board at Westbrook school.

All neighborhood troops have been making yellow trefoils to display in their windows at home for Girl Scout week. Many of the Brownie troops recently wrote letters to their parents reminding them of a Girl Scout Camp movie which will be shown at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights Saturday, March 18, at 1:30.

INTERMEDIATES in troop 557 have been learning to square dance this month. The girls and their leaders, Mrs. Duffy and Mrs. Tangney, are completing their requirements for the second class rank.

Brownie troop 714 has made place cards for the annual father-daughter banquet to be held next month. Scouts and their leaders, Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Beckstrom, had as their guests, Mrs. Burke and Mrs. French, who taught several new songs.

Junior high troop 227 and its leaders, Mrs. Wellborn and Mrs. Kasper, decided to omit their annual valentine party last month and instead sent the money that would have been spent to the Chicago Firemen's fund.

GUEST SPEAKER at last week's meeting of troop 179 was Mrs. Mildred Caldwell, a registered nurse, who discussed and demonstrated first aid.

Troop 559 learned to read and box a compass at last week's meeting. They were assisted by leader Mrs. Burke and also Mrs. French. The scouts will complete their second class requirements this spring.

Brownie troop 579 designed and arranged the display for Girl Scout week which is in the window of Mt. Prospect Savings and Loan. Mrs. Nordlie and Mrs. Lee, troop leaders, assisted the scouts with their work.

BROWNIE TROOP 743 and their leaders, Mrs. Howe and Mrs. Gau were guests of sixth grade troop 464 at a world gifts party last month. Intermediates used a Greek theme throughout the party, which was given in connection with their work on the World gifts badge. A lace cloth covered the serving table and the flags of the world and two Greek dolls were used as a centerpiece.

Authentic Greek pastries were served as refreshments, A highlight of the party was large, real tree on which each scout hung a leaf with the name of the country of her origin. A special ceremony was observed around a a large trefoil as each girl placed a penny for each year of her age for the Juilette Low Friendship Fund. The scouts also brought from home and displayed articles from foreign countries and several foreign games were played. Host troop is led by Mrs. Courtney and Mrs. Broadbent.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS

Prospect Heights Scouts started Girl Scout week last Sunday, March 12, by attending church services in St. Alphonsus and the Community church. The flag ceremony was presented by Marsha Saunders, Senior scout, April McConnell, troop 675, Pam House, troop 608, Pam Roth, troop 699, Jane Cochran, troop 376 and Melanie Maloney, troop 23.

Refreshemnts were served to the troop before the service. A Girl Scout display was made by Mrs. Hembd's troop 509 and put in the Austin Paint store window in Prospect Heights.

St. Alphonsus church service was held at the 10 o'clock mass with Pat Gaitis, Pat Shell, Susan Teper and Kathy Zito of troop 376 participating in the flag ceremony. Breakfast was served to the girls afterwards.

A CAMP promotion program is being held March 18 at Pioneer park at 1:30 p.m. for scouts and their parents. Purpose of this program is to acquaint the girls and their parents with camps that will be held this summer. Films will be shown and a question and answer period will be held.

Local Barber Shop Group Win Trophy in Contest

Local SPEBSQSA members added another trophy to a growing collection of the Arlington Heights chapter, Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, when the Fifth Wheelers took the County Line chapter novice quartet contest February 25.

Fourteen quartets from the Illinois district competed in the contest held in Highland Park and the Fifth Wheelers breezed through to their championship over 100 points ahead of their nearest competitor.

VERN BERTRAND, baritone, Len Kloproth, lead, Gus Neill, bass and tenor Don Frantz, all of Wheeling, warbled their way to winning under rules that allow not more than one man to sing in the quartet who had previously participated in district or regional competition. Three of the men have been barbershopping only one year.

Bertrand brought the house down when, after accepting the first place trophy on behalf of the quartet, he dedicated the Fifth Wheelers' song, "Just in Case You Change Your Mind," to the judges.

He went on to sing his solo part with the quartet and there was no question of a reverse decision. (ACM

Two Rolling Meadows housewives accused of shoplifting were fined $10 0each lifting were fined $100 each and costs last Friday by Judge Walter P. Dahl in justice of the peace court.

They entered pleas as the result of a complaint signed by Charles Whetstone, manager of the National Tea food store, 1601 W. Campbell st., Arlington Heights.

WHETSTONE said the two middle-aged women entered the store February 24 and attempted to leave with bags of groceries not paid for. One was apprehended outside the store and the other was served a warrant in her home.

Judge Dahl said the fine would be reduced to $50 if the women would return to the store, select the items involved in the February incident, and then pass through the check out counters according to law.

The housewives agreed to the judge's suggestion. (AK

Travel Wardrobes Complete, Compact

Spring Footwear Varied

Fresh styling and bright colors combine in little girls' spring shoes for school, dress and play. Construction is kept seasonally light, with newly developed leathers supplying flexibility and gentle support, notes Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

Rounded toe silhouette is giving way to slim, tapered shape. Slender shell pumps resemble mother's "needle" toe footwear. Little girls' shoes are full-fashioned until after their toes are accommodated — then the toe is tapered.

Styles include slip-ons, pumps, swivel-strap shoes, sabot straps, Mary Janes and eyelet ties. Shaped heels add to variety and interest.

Black patent leather — in Mary Janes, shell pumps or T-strap shoes—shines brightly. Deep colors are popular and practical for early Easter.

Light, high colors in brushed and smooth leathers brighten the spring season, and there are smooth and grained leather shoes in white and a range of bone tones.

Lustre leather and patent leather are equally favored for party and dress-up occasions.

"SPRITE," the newest Stride Rite for girls at school and play, is light as a feather but all leather. The shoes are carried at Todd's, 20 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights. (SS

"MADAME ROCHAS" is the name of a new French perfume just arrived in the USA, and featured at Harris Pharmacy, Arlington Heights. It's named for the real Madame Rochas of the House of Rochas for it is her artistic taste which dictated both the fragrance and the packaging. Delightful floral notes are fused with rare musk and ambergris and Arabian fragrance. A peppery herb and a citrus accent freshen and brighten this exciting fragrance which is available both in perfume and eau de cologne. (SS

Clothes Adaptable To Varied Climes

Travel, rapidly becoming the number one American hobby, vacation and recreation, makes its own demand on fashion. Going to all points of the compass, feminine travelers want clothing that is attractive, comfortable and adaptable to varying climates. It must also meet train, bus, car and plane schedules in smart, wrinkle-free shape and be easy to care for.

The yardstick that all other fashion-travel needs have to measure up to, is: the wardrobe should be compact and lightweight, to eliminate luggage burdens.

In the interests of a compact but complete wardrobe, current fashions and the fabrics they're made of fit admirably into travel plans. Spring trends stress the "any season, all season" aspect of fashion, with multi-part costumes that switch about to meet the occasion and the temperature, and fabrics that make new advances in lightweight warmth, waterproofing and easy care.

KNITS WERE never more popular and, whether cotton, wool or man-made fibers, they're ideal for travel, reducing wrinkle worries and looking smart in any clime or time.

Separates, another mainstay of the feminine traveler, expand their scope this spring, in new color and fabric combinations. Sweaters and blouses stretch the travel wardrobe.

DRESS AND jacket-or-coat costumes and suits with their own blouses offer many possibilities for adaptability to day or evening occasions. The trend to fluidity or fullness in skirts, through pleats, bias cuts or flares, means comfort as well as fashion for the traveler.

Scarves, jewelry and other accessories go into the suitcase in perhaps the largest quantities of any travel fashion, for they take up little space and give pleasing variety to the basics of the wardrobe. (SS

Junior Follows Dad's Footstep

In boys' shoes for spring, junior fashions follow in Dad's footsteps in moc-fronts, oxfords and bluchers in smooth lightly grained and brushed leathers. For older boys, there are slip-ons, and the slim, tapered toe look.

Two versions of boys' slip-on styling are highlighted. One is the slip-on with the high rising tongue, featuring flat seam detailing for dress wear, or the hand-stitched look for leisure. Another approach is the elasticized slip-on with hidden goring, placket closure and "boxer" toplines.

Burnished browns, with gold-green undertones, and brassy browns are marked for color interest. Or, youngsters may choose blacks, in matte or smooth leather, and tan in grained or brushed leather.

Fancy Turns To Outdoors

In the spring the family's fancy turns to outdoor living, with plans to create or add to a "family room" on the porch or patio, terrace or lawn.

Lightweight, weather-resistant furniture for spring and summer outdoor enjoyment is growing in abundance and handsome appearance. Dining sets, seating and occasional pieces make elegant use of colors and materials, from plastics to redwood and aluminum.

In fact, more and more pieces of furniture are being designed to double for either indoor or outdoor use, so that the family can enjoy them the year around.

Outdoor living means outdoor eating, too. Cooking and serving equipment can be chosen either for dual indoor and outdoor use, or especially for the outdoors.

Most families will probably prefer a combination of the two. For instance, colorful cooking utensils that go to the table in beautiful style and stainless steel tableware are both practical and presentable, indoors and out.

On the other hand, special equipment for the barbecue is part of the fun of eating outside—even it it's only a bright apron for Dad to wear when he's the chef.

Shoes Toe New Line; Slim Down

Men put their best foot forward this season in slim, trim shoes of spring-weight leathers. Jaunty is the word for masculine footwear fashions as new leather shoes shed ounces and styles taper down, reports Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

The slim, sophisticated look at ground level — you see it from head to toe in Ivy and Continental fashions — is achieved by tapering the forepart of the shoe. By no means "needle" sharp, the long-line litheness of men's dress and casual footwear still accommodates the masculine foot in complete comfort. Lighter, more supple leather guarantees flexible ease in walking and full support in standing.

SLENDER shapes are made to look even trimmer through the use of inventive detailing. Double rows of stitching carried further up the vamp, U-shaped throats, higher tongues and decorative single or double eyelet ties help the eye "stretch" the look of the shoe without sacrificing foot room. Light, ultra-pliable leather soles are cut close to the shape of the shoe to emphasize its slim contours.

THE SLIP-ON — laceless or gored—steps out first in men's shoe styles. Handsome and comfortable in spring-weight smooth and grained leather, dress slip-ons underline the neat trim appearance of the young man on his way up in the business world. In just-as-light brushed or smooth leathers, the casual slip-on takes its ease in the living room, on the patio or outdoors. Elastic goring which offers weightless, snug fit is a leading style.

The high-risesr look is widely seen in slip-ons — some with high square tongues.

Seersucker

Seersucker will achieve far greater acceptance this spring and summer in sports jackets, casual suits, slacks, walk shorts and sports shirts. Many of these cool, crinkly fabrics are made in wash-wear construction.

GOLD and cabochon stones combine in necklace, earrings and bracelet. Pendant effect on bracelet is spring news. These by Trifari.

Fresh, Easy Approach

'Basics' Are Styled With Dash and Verve

At this point in fashion, the overblouse, the pleated skirt, the coat and dress ensemble and the knit dress all sound like classic wardrobe staples. But, as seen in junior and young junior spring collections, they certainly don't look like it.

These "basics" are styled with dash and colored with verve, for an entirely new, this-season air. Add to them the many novel ideas in junior styling, and a picture emerges, of fashions as lively and forward-looking as the young set members who will wear them.

ORCHID WOOL WITH a matching orchid linen blouse makes fashion news in this three-piece suit by Glenhaven. The new loose jacket with slim skirt is a favorite style for Mary Walsh, Arlington Heights. Short white cotton gloves and white purse complete the fashion picture. All items are available at the Emerald Shop, 10 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights. (SS

RELAXED EASE, simplicity and good taste take the lead, in true spring '61 style, but there's lots of variety.

Sometimes, for instance, the junior look is "smart young career girl." Suits and dresses for day come in men's-wear-like fabrics. There are classic glen plaids, herringbone tweeds, houndstooth checks. Pleats ripple, jackets are short—longer when there's an overblouse in the picture.

From afternoon on this look turns to soft crepe dresses, for feminine, young sophistication.

AT OTHER TIMES, the junior look is distinctly Spanish. Fashions boast capes, boleros, ball fringe.

For juniors of every age are shift dresses — fluid, figure-following, often ending in a low burst of pleats. The shift is seen in knit, with contrasting colors for a rlaxed long-line look.

Alertness of juniors to new fashion trends, and their eagerness to try new fashions, means that they get an ample share of the news, attractively presented.

Highlights of News

Some of the highlights are: Culottes, in knee-tickler to street length; "off-center" styling, including diagonal stripes, dresses that bare one shoulder, side closings and surplice necklines; bias cut dresses; color and fabric combinations; two-piece effects in one-piece dresses; sleeveless and collarless styling.

Junior fashions enter the color derby with pink, orange, turquoise, apricot, lilac, sea green—everything!

Spring Arrives in Dunton Court

Attention Men! Hats To Hold Small Shapes

Small shapes continue to set the style pace in men's hats for spring. Look for more medium shades as opposed to the dark colors that have dominated felt styling for the past several years.

Lightweight, crushable bodies will be more popular than ever. These will be used in dressy models as well as in the casual shapes.

New colors will be in the olive family—gray-olives and brown-olives. Soft mixture blends will mark the new grays, browns and bronze shades. Deep-dish brims with decided downturns in front and upturns in back are another fashion-worthy note.

Thursday, March 16, 1961

MATCHED JEWELRY WITH A 4-strand necklace in the new matinee length is the choice for spring of Mrs. Don Armstrong, Arlington Heights. A customer of Robbin Jewelers, Dunton Court shopping center, Mrs. Armstrong wears a soft pearl-white graduated bubble bead, complemented by clear quartz and crystal. A wrap-around bracelet and earrings complete the fashion look. The three-stone type jewelry is available in many combinations at Robbin's. (SS

Reflecting current fashion and the American way of life, spring sportswear "go-togethers" meet apparel needs for any hour or occasion, and appeal to both the imagination and the budget. The roles that sportswear and separates play are many —from them, a woman can assemble an up-to-date suit look, a glamorous evening costume, an outfit for active sports, all at modest cost.

Zooming interest in travel accents the need for coordinates, knits, jackets, blouses and sweaters. Pants, and now culottes, grow in importance and variety.

The popularity of bowling and boating calls for comfortable, appropriate clothing, and designers have concentrated on meeting the need attractively.

Wherever these busy go-togethers go, they go fashionably. The spring outlook is for easy, graceful silhouettes that glow with color, and sportswear and separates interpret the trend excitingly.

Supple, colorful knits; flower-printed sweaters and longer, looser, blousier sweaters; cape collared knitted coats; long and easy overblouses; culottes for street or sports, knee pants and long, lean pants—these are some of the many things that fashion offers the woman who is shopping for spring sportswear.

Coordinates, while definitely made for each other, trend away from precise matching to more imaginative combinations — print with solid color, smooth fabric with textured fabric. Three colors often unite in one well-planned outfit.

Adaptable both to the eased silhouette and to travel, knits attract even more than the usual attention this season. They appear in new colors—greens from grass through mint, warm pinks, luscious bananas, to name just a few —and show such fashion influences as side closing and back-draped cowl necklines.

The story is not just a matter of one- and two-piece knitted suits—knits are used for everything fashionable, including tunics, overblouses, culottes.

THE CONTINENTAL approach to the "British look" is exemplified by this British worsted suit with three-button, shorter jacket.

BLACK AND white spring fashion combination appears in sandal pump of white calf with fringed tongue of black grained leather.

Patterned Fabrics Win Favor in Sports Shirts

Patterned fabrics will make a real comeback in business shirts for Spring 1961. British-type stripes, spaced stripes, small overplaids and checks will all make the grade in soft as well as strong tones of blue, gray, tan and red. Ivory and olive tones will please the wearers of Ivy-type clothes.

Short-sleeve shirts in all the popular collar styles will give added comfort to the businessman in the warm weather, especially those made of the ventilated fabrics.

Sports shirts in both cut-and-sewn and knit styles will be seen more frequently in the pullover models. Engineered designs with special cuffs get new treatments. Scarf prints, batiks, madras effects and stripes will be among the other patterns. Look for more deep solid shades for wear with boldly patterned jackets and slacks.

Pull-over sports shirts feature deep front plackets with three and four buttons. On some shirts, the placket practically reaches the belt-line of the slacks.

THERE'S NEWS, too, in neck styling. High V necks, boatnecks, cross-over necks, and many with fancy colorful designs, give sports shirts a sportier, more American connotation.

Sport shirt sleeves have lots of fashion interest. Whereas the short sleeve was outstanding in seasons past, for this spring and summer the less conventional three-quarter sleeve is the favored length. Stylists of knit shirts have embellished sleeves with vents, slits and two-button cuff treatments.

Pockets, too, are not what they used to be. Now they're oversized and noted for detailing. They appear at the bottom of the shirt and on the sleeve as well as in conventional places.

Topcoats Lighter In 2 Ways

Shorter lengths, lighter-weight fabrics and colors a shade or two lighter than have been popular in the recent past mark the new topcoats.

Ivy wearers still prefer the single-breasted, fly-front chesterfields with a slightly accented waist-line. The modified Continental models are made in button-through fronts and, for the most part, are made in the split-raglan construction that appears to be a set-in sleeve at front and a raglan sleeve at back.

This season there's a place in the sun for raincoats. Fashion-wise styling and new fabric finishes have taken the raincoat out from under the umbrella and into an every-day role—on days when there isn't a cloud in the sky.

In rainwear, the Ivy lads go for the British balmacaan model with its full raglan sleeve and military collar. Best colors in this model are the naturals, putty shades and tans.

ALSO TYPICAL of the new crop of all-weather coats is the Continental. A new shorter length, belted back, side vents as well as set in sleeves and custom-like buckle tabs tailor it to a life of fashionable ease for those Spring showers.

The styled-up rainwear for this spring comes in a wide range of patterns including glen plaids, checks and madras-type plaids. These range from 39 inches to 42 inches in length and most are in the split-raglan models. (SS

Style Notes For Spring

UPDATE COSTUMES

Three-piece dress costumes are updated for spring with chiffon blouses. Chiffon appears, too, in dresses and separates for any hour of the day or night.

Jewelry Sets Bold Theme

Collarless, open necklines and simple, supple silhouettes in fashion lead to many opportunities for using costume jewelry dramatically, and spring designs in necklaces, bracelets, earrings and pins are ready to provide important accents.

Bolder and more colorful is the theme. Bead necklaces, long and many-stranded, make use of larger beads, in such colors as lilac, pink, lime and yellow. Big modern beads appear in their natural form or brightly enameled, alone or in combination with glass beads.

Tassels drip from long necklaces, and there are pendant effects on both necklaces and bracelets. Interesting interpretation of this is the necklace with large, matching pin which can either be attached as a pendant or used separately.

To accent back decolletage, some necklaces are adjustable to shift their length from the front to the back.

Shapes are not only large but unusual. Coral twigs, shells and fish reflect the nautical influence on jewelry, while enambled buds, fruits and insects take inspiration from the garden. Delicate butterflies and long-stemmed roses are translated into pins.

The size of some necklaces is such that they could more appropriately be called collars. One such is royal-looking in pearl loops with sprays of rhinestone and turquoise.

FULL-SKIRTED fashion renewal is seen in modernistic print dress, of a new fabric with the look of silk. It's Eastman Estron "55" acetate.

Spring Lingerie Is Softly Shaped

Color, prints and softer shapes make the news in lingerie and loungewear for spring.

Pleated, flared and bias cut skirts in outerwear set the slip free to follow more flowing lines, and there are enough bouffants around to stimulate a demand for petticoats.

The latter are soft, rather than stiff, and especially pretty in prints — bolder prints than are usually employed for lingerie.

Culottes call for their own special under-coverage. There are two principal schools of thought on this. One favors slim pettipants, while the other copies the culotte, in divided underskirts with more fullness than pettipants. Still a third choice offered is in the form of blousy bloomers.

Brief and bouncy petticoats are planned to go under knee-tickler skirts.

Fashions for sleeping follow the trends of outerwear. Sportswear look is important, in well-tailored pajama shirts that double for loungewear. Gay calico prints and patchwork effects add to the sportsy look.

Another approach to slumbertime is fresh dainty and feminine. Miracle batistes, tricots and easy-care cotton blends appear in sleep shifts, gowns and baby dolls. Generous helpings of cotton eyelet provide fashion refreshment.

White organdy is used for peignoirs.

While white continues to predominate in American women's undercover wardrobes, the trend in color is growing, and lingerie designers present an unusually tempting array for spring.

In addition to the prints — stripes, checks, sportswear patterns as well as flowers — there's an abundance of not-quite-pastels and even more sprightly colors.

Outerwear interest in pinks is reflected in warm lingerie pinks. Raspberry, clear blue, kelly-to-mint greens and lilacs are some other choices.

THIS high-rising slip-op in grained, burnished brown leather with "folded over" tongue can double for dress or casual wear. Features a wide "tack" stitch. By Freeman.

Assures 'Tweeners'

Fashion's Function to Build Confidence

Fashion has many functions — and one of the most important is its power to provide self-confidence and assurance. For young teens and tweeners, especially, the "I know I look my best" feeling gives a valuable boost to poise.

Figure problems of growing up and the wish to be an individual yet not too different from others in her age group are special considerations for the young teen. She is often less interested in over-all fashion trends than either her older or younger sisters, preferring, instead, fashions-for-her.

PLANNED FOR her this spring are styles that reflect the current news but place most emphasis on her particular needs.

Designers answer the question of figure flattery with dresses and costumes that have skirt softness or fullness and, often, cummerbunds. Coats tend to look slim, with back fullness to take care both of figure needs and the full-skirted dresses they must cover. Colors enhance favorite classics.

Bandboxy, crisp touches such as white Puritan collars assist the tweener in achieving a well-turned-out appearance. For the same purpose, navy and other well-balanced neutrals have a slight edge, in this fashion-age group, over the riotous colors.

CHECKS, glen plaids and pleats are suit notables, while colors and prints get most attention in dresses and jumpers.

When the tweener gives her approval to new developments in fashion, she gives it wholeheartedly, and knee tickler skirts, culottes and three-piece coordinates are expected to score continued gains. Knee-length is new in conventional pants. (SS

Spectrum of Hues Exciting

Color is the spark that kindles a blaze of excitement in spring fashion. Strawberry pink, lemon yellow, poppy red, brilliant blue, vivid turquoise, spicy green, pungent orange, glowing gold, blooming lilac — if it's in the spectrum, it's a fashionable color this season.

Perhaps a slight edge goes to the many shades of vibrant pink, but colors of all kinds are abundantly available.

Since simplicity keynotes the subtle spring styles, a woman can, by indulging her own tastes in the selection of color, give her wardrobe both individuality and fashion.

COLORS are both hot and cool. There are plenty of pastels, but usually they're clear rather than misty.

The neutrals — black, navy, gray, beige, white—look newest when mingled with color. Bright coats go over dark sheaths; flowered silk coats cover navy or black dresses. Three-piece ensembles often feature overblouses in vivid prints or contrasting solids.

Free-wheeling color combinations are part of the news—pink with turquoise or orange with lilac, for example. Hot colors blaze in bold checks, "crazy" stripes light up prints. (SS

Flexible Fashions Take On Supple Approach

Easy Silhouette Makes Appearance

The now look in fashion is not a new look — yet it looks new. To achieve this seeming paradox, designers have refined upon favorite silhouettes, handled trimmings with descretion and colors favorite silhouettes, handled trimmings with discretion and colors with abandon, made full use of the increasing beauty and variety of fabrics, and developed to the most flattering degree the subtle approach to fashion.

Women will find a satisfying selection of the styles they prefer. The guiding theme is relaxed ease — fit is a matter of a tender caress, not a hug. Free-swinging pleats, flowing bias cuts, long and pliant overblouses, gentle blousing, unconfined and lowered waistlines, casual tie-sashes contribute to the flexible look.

Silhouttes evolve from these and other influences present in fashions of recent seasons, but the fresh interpretations of dresses, coats, suits and separates that result are unmistakably spring '61.

PROBABLY the leading factor in the exciting spring of fashion is the striking use of color. While navy, black, beige and gray will certainly command their share of attention, and white is important, they must compete with the challenge of pink, yellow, lilac, strawberry and practically every color in the paintbox.

Prediction is that the family of pinks may attain the wide acceptance that fall and winter awarded to the purples. Two or more colors combined in one outfit make an attractive impact on fashion.

"Collarless and sleeveless" is the motif for a wide variety of styles. The effect is youthful, artfully simple.

WHEN SLEEVES are present, they're apt to be shorter —sometimes above-elbow for suits and coats. Collars, if any, tend to be either narrow, as in the case of flat or standup band collars, or exceptionally graceful — softly draped cowls or cape shapes, for example.

The asymmetrical aspect of fashion provides further spring refreshment. Side closings, off-center buttons and other trims, side-wrap skirts, surplice necklines and one-shoulder dresses express this trend.

Along with the easing-up movement of silhouettes comes increased fullness for many skirts. In addition to pleats and bias cuts, there are gathers and gores, tiers and flounces, and some all-out bouffants.

Newest way to ease the skirt is to divide it. Fall and winter experiences and experiments determined designers to give the culotte more scope.

It's prevalent in sportswear, lingerie, lou. gewear. The woman with fashion daring will find cleverly designed suits and dresses with divided skirts for street wear.

BEST NEWS here is that the good cut and tailoring essential to giving culottes a really shirtlike appearance, along with the comfort of pants, is now present in modestly-priced styles.

Costume look continues strong, and stronger. Suits with their own blouses, dresses with their own coats and dresses with jackets appear.

Newness comes with the departure from precise matching. Colors and fabrics often contrast—a bright coat with a sleeveless white dress, for example, or a suit in which jacket, blouse and skirt are all of different hues.

"All season" is a term frequently applied to the new spring clothes. With air conditioning, central heating and travel in mind, designers have planned apparel appropriate to any climate, locality or season.

This is reflected in fabrics—more silks, cotton and blends, lightweight wools. The textures are diverse — fleecy, lacy, nubbed, ribbed, spongy, crisp, polished. Knits gain importance in shaping the supple silhouette.

Choice of Styles Spurs Spring Decorations

Home fashion thrives on color and variety this spring, with a deepening importance for elegance paralleled by growing popularity of the country look.

Perhaps the most interesting trend is away from "trends." Modern, traditional, contemporary, early American, English country look, Spanish country look — these, and more, all have their place in home fashion, and there is no rigid emphasis on any one style or way of decorating.

The homemaker, whether she works with or without a decorator, has free play in expressing her family's preferences through a creative, imaginative approach to decor. She may decide that home beauty and comfort can best be achieved through a combination of styles and designs — modern with traditional, for instance. Whatever her choice, the guiding rule is not, "Early American is very important this season," but, "Will my family enjoy this?"

THE FACT that furnishing or refurnishing projects are usually expected to endure for from five to eight years emphasizes the importance of expressing individual, personal tastes rather than following a passing whim for a particular style in furnishings.

In decorating colors, too, there is a stimulating range of choices. Whites, off-whites and earth tones continue much in evidence, and now they are joined by an increasing number of rosy tones, such as lilac or dusky pink. Turquoise remains a favorite.

Color is found not only in drapery fabrics, floor coverings and upholstery but also in painted wood furniture. More and more manufacturers are offering painted chests, chairs and other pieces as an attractive means of bringing color into a room.

IN THE elegant look, color and fabrics play an important part, and so do upholstery materials. This spring, elegant-looking furniture derives its opulence not from added-on ornaments but from clean, graceful lines, luxurious cushioning and rich colors and fabrics.

The country look includes not only America's Colonial past, but English, French and Spanish influences.

Commemoration of the Civil War Centennial has led to an increase of interest in American designs. Fabrics and wallpaper often carry out the American theme. (SS

Handbags Get Coordinated

Accessories for the handbag develop a new range of color and beauty this spring. Coordinated wallets, eyeglass cases and cigarette cases match or complement the handbag.

To use with a black handbag, there are accessories of printed miniature tapestry or brocade as well as authentic needle-point and embroidered silk.

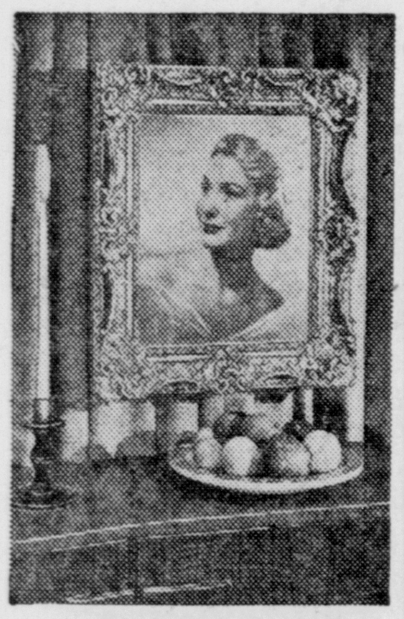
For the tailored or sports bag, copies of favorite spectator shoe trims are shown. These include pinked edges with perforations, tiny lacing and bow effects, and combinations of colors and textures.

Pastel leathers in new purse accessories have special trims that pick up the detail of a special handbag, such as flowers or stitching.

Tie Patterns Get Stronger

Stronger patterns, more brilliant colors and a return to popularity of the underknot designs mark the new neckwear for spring.

There will be more native prints, such as batiks, and there will be more light silvery grounds accented by patterns of deeper hue. Stripes will be woven on twill, satin and madras fabrics, as well as the familiar reps.



PORTRAIT photograph becomes important part of decor, suspended from draperies. "Magic" involves screws inserted in ceiling a few inches from drapery heading. Then, the portrait photograph is hung on wires.

The Fabric 'Yarn'; It's All Brand New

Fabrics reach the "here's what they thought of next" stage in the spring of '61. New yarns, new fabric finishes, new ideas, new fabric insulating materials offer advantages both in beauty and practicality.

Nylon stretch yarns give pliability to an increasingly wide range of fabrics. There are stretch silks, satins, denims, worsteds and laces. Stretch nylon and rayon combine in fabrics with a poplin appearance, "peau" or corded effects.

Pliability of the stretch fabrics, along with firmness for tailoring, appeals to designers, who have developed experimental fashion - applications that they feel will interest American women.

THE "LAMINATES" are attracting attention. One such material is a multicellular plastic foam with insulating properties. The foam can be permanently laminated, it is said, to virtually any fabric, and because the foam is an insulator, the fabric with which it is united becomes suitable for outerwear.

The fabric remains drapable and light in weight, and the insulation results in garments that are comfortable in both cool and warmer weather.

Still another new development is a fabric finish that is said to make fabrics "as waterproof as rubber," yet the fabric keeps the ability to "breathe."

New synthetic yarns are used in a variety of fabrics. Improvements are all in the direction of higher fabric quality, more interesting appearance and wash-and-wear dependability.

TWO FACTORS place the emphasis on light weight in spring woolens and worsteds, and an increasing use of silks, cottons and blends. One is travel. The same clothing must be comfortable in widely differing climates.

The other factor is the early Easter, with an accompanying interest in spring aapparel that can start early and continue after Easter.

Tweeds, open basketweaves, knit and crochet effects create an airy impression. The liking for ribbed effects continues, with twills and ottomans. There's a new softer look to many worsteds, achieved by the addition of mohair loops.

KNITS TAKE an important place. They're practical for travel, and beautiful for spring's pliant silhouettes.

As a quality fabric with an any-climate character, silk receives much attention from designers. Both smooth sophistication and rustic textured effects are noted in the new silks.

Among the many cottons and blends, an old favorite bids for a comeback. Seersucker—probably the original "wash and wear" fabric — seems headed for renewed popularity.

THE COMPLETE FASHION look is available at Miss Mayfield, Westgate shopping center, Arlington Heights. Dressed for any occasion is Mrs. George Bartz, Hoffman Estates, in a navy silk sheath with grosgrain-trimmed overskirt. 'American Treasury' Premieres at Store

"American Treasury" is Drexel's newest collection of furniture which will be premiered at Schneller Furniture company, Arlington Market shopping center, Arlington Heights, this month.

This furniture features designs similar to those found in the homes of the American colonists beginning with the 18th century and continuing to the middle of the 19th century when a truly "American" style began to emerge.

Early furniture in the New England area was scarce. Most of it was large and massive, reflecting its Jacobian orgin. As New Amsterdam and New Sweden were settled, the good Dutch and German settlers brought with them the many influences of William and Mary and Queen Anne.

In the South, the traditions were largely English. However, since life was lived mainly out-of-doors, furniture did not play as important a roles as in other areas until the great manor houses were built.

Not having the tradition of Yankee craftsmen in the South, furniture was imported from England, Philadelphia and Boston. At this time the English masters, Hepplewhite, Sheraton, Chippendale, made their greatest impact upon America.

AS THE FURNITURE and architecture varied, so did the kind of materials used. The first craftsmen, called "joiners," made furniture of whatever wood was at hand. Some of the simplest and more primitive pieces were made by owners on their farms, hence the name "country" furniture. Woods were combined: a top might be of cherry, the legs of another wood.

In Drexel's American Treasury collection, there are four different kinds of woods used, blended together in the true Early American fashion. First there is cherry, rich and patterned found on table tops and on end and side panels. Maple clusters, rare burls caused by unnatural growth, unusual in their beauty, highlight many decks and buffets. Then pine, one of the woods most beloved by the Colonists, forms the drawer fronts of bedroom pieces and last, sturdy pecan forms the framing of almost all the pieces.

The hardware, too, has been researched for an authentic look. To simulate the effect of old brasses, antiqued by age, yet cared for by polishing, Drexel created a special finish for the pulls, hinges and key escutcheons. The familiar brass bail and butterfly backplate of Chippendale is one of many pieces, while the simple white ceramic pull of the very early furniture appears in other places.

There is a plank effect obtained on table tops by reversing the veneer direction in alternate sections. Accent pieces in antiqued blue grey finish are limited in number but add authentic flavor. A group of specially designed prints, with matching wallpapers has also been created. (SS

It's Easier Than Ever to Pick a Suit

BOYS, STUDENTS AND university style clothing, as well as men's wear, is the specialty of J & S Men's & Boys' Wear, 18 N. Bothwell, Palatine. Typical of the store fashions is this black hopsacking wool jacket paired with charcoal grey all-wool trousers in continental styling modeled by Bill Jage. Bill is prepared for any turn in the weather with a washable raincoat with detachable lining. (SS

Clothes Fall Into 3 Big Categories

Men's business clothes for spring fall into three big divisions of constructions and weights, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, and there are at least six or seven overlapping styles from which to choose.

Never before has it been so easy for the average man to find exactly the right type and style of suit to meet his needs.

For example, consider the three basic weights. In most sections of the country the weather from early spring until well into May is still quite chilly, but warmer than wintry.

Thus, for the early spring season we find a relatively new fabric category called "midweights." These are not as heavy as winter weights nor are they as light as summer weights.

As we move into late spring and early summer, tropical weights are the choice of a businessman seeking comfort plus crisp appearance. These fabrics may be blends of worsted with man-made fibers, all-tropical worsteds, blends of mohair or silk with worsted, or all-silks for the fellow seeking a touch of luxury.

HOWEVER, few summer garments managed to withstand the clammy discomfort of the hot humid weather of mid-summer or the rigors of summer travel until new feather- weight suitings came along. Among the favorite featherweights are the increasingly popular washwears.

These three basic weights and types come in a wonderful world of colors and patterns. Soft olive shades continue to be among the most wanted, while medium to dark grays, dressy blacks, medium grayed-tans, browns and the always popular navy blues are runner-up favorites.

Plaids, checks and stripes vie with neat self-weave patterns and plain hopsack-type weaves. The suiting patterns are a bit bolder than they have been in the recent past.

As for styling, suit silhouettes are trim, jackets are a mite shorter and the lines are easy and flattering.

AMERICAN Continental models have been modified, and are not quite as short or as rounded as they were a season age. The more drastically modified Continentals are called "Trans - Americans."

AMERICAN Continental models have been modifieed, and are not quite as short or as rounded as they were a season ago. The more drastically modified Continentals are called "Trans-Americans."

The now familiar classic natural-shoulder Ivy models are still high up on the fashion list and have actually added new friends with their trim, easy fitting lines as each season goes by. However, some former Ivy gimmicks, such as back-strapped trousers and lap-seams on business suits, are gone from the scene.

Those who prefer the tailored look go for the California-inspired American Ambassador model. This has a little more accent of shoulder line which, combined with its easy-fitting body, gives a flattering line to the mature male figure.

Probably the most widely worn style is the conservative American Natural model with its newer slimmed-down lines and lack of exaggeration that makes it a national favorite.

New for spring is the "American International" model which combines the best of many ideas — American, Continental and British — a style that looks at home anywhere in the world where well dressed men gather. It has slightly broader shoulders and lapels, is slightly more fitted at the waist line, but still retains the slim look that is the keynote of today's styling.

Spring Decrees Short Toppers

New fashion significance this season goes to the topper. Always a basic in most spring wardrobes, now the short topper is making news, too.

First of all, it's shorter—hip length or above. Along with the new length goes new styling, which carries out such spring themes as the no-collar cardigan neckline, shortened sleeves and color aplenty. (SS

Current Fashion Approach

Spring Wardrobes, Travel, Go Together

People who are thinking of new wardrobes for spring are likely to be thinking in terms of travel, too. This, at any rate, is the premise from which most of the current approach to fashion has evolved.

Both fluctuating spring temperatures and travel plans call for adaptable coats, and fashion responds with capacious styles in fabrics crisp, spongy or ribbed, but always amenable to weather changes.

New coats disclose these standout trends: cape-influenced fulness, collarless necklines and color, color, color.

FRESH - LOOKING shape is the coat that starts with a collarless, or nearly so, neckline and then swings out in a swirl of fabric. Then there are full coats with deep armholes and cape backs, and some "real" capes, full length or shorter.

Narrow coats are by no means neglected. They make their own fashion impact with side closings, side slashes and, of course, collarless necklines.

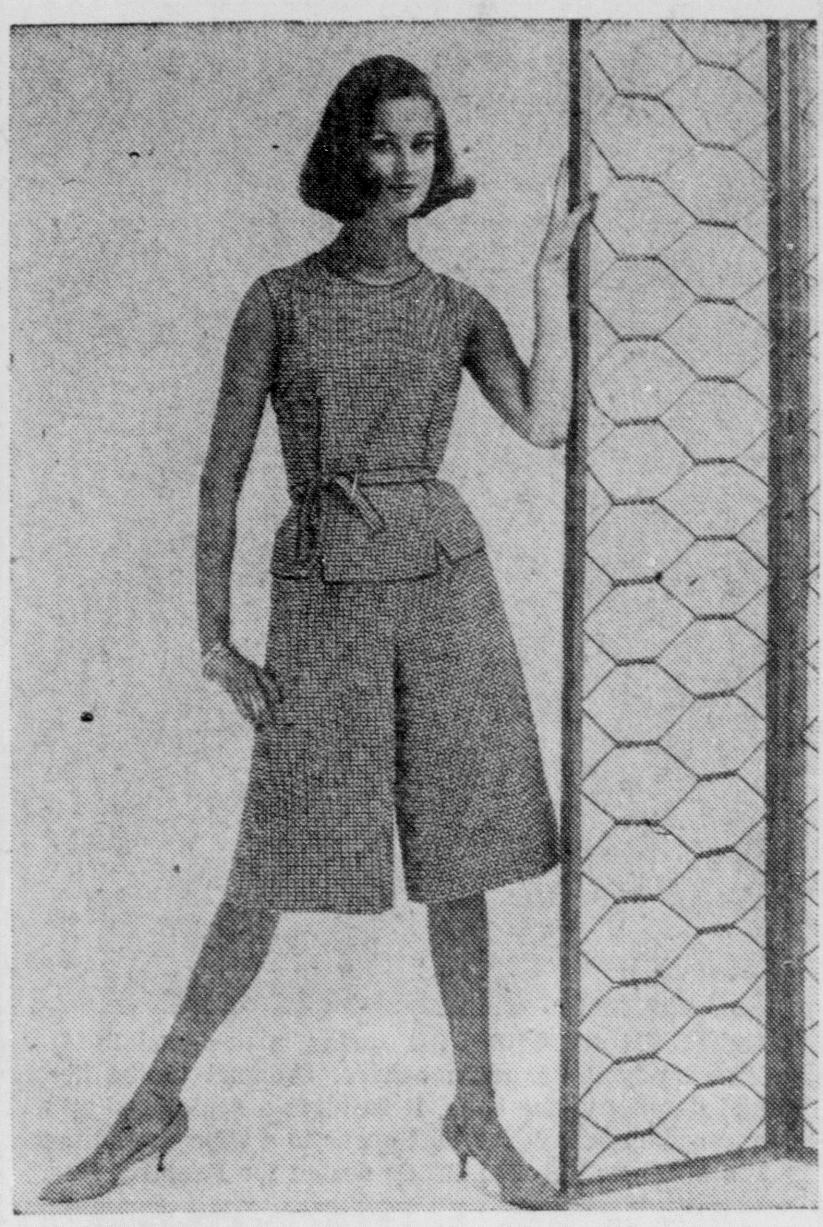
The fitted coat gets new treatment. It's really demi-fitted, and may take a low-placed, easy belt.

DESIGNERS give an enormous play to the no-colla look. There are cardiga necklines, stand-up ring collars, flat band collars. In th cases where a genuine collar appears, it's apt to be a cowl or a cape effect. More conventional notched collars stand away from the throat, leaving space for scarves or jewelry.

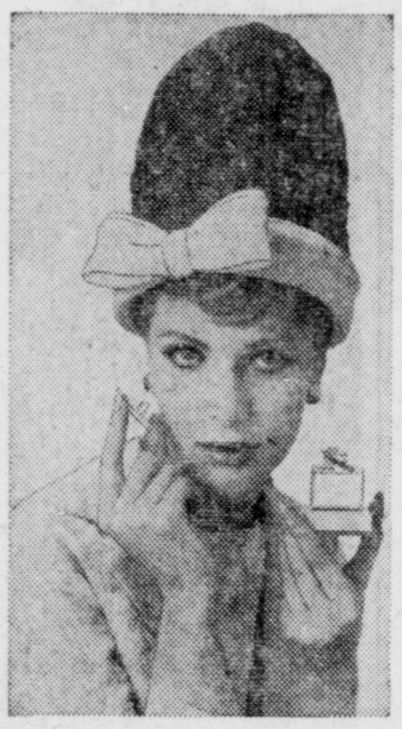
With simplicity the rule in styling, color gets a chance to glow, and glow it does, in bushels of strawberry pinks, purple violets, tangy lemons—greens, turquoise, orange, too.

To compete, navy is brightened, beige turns to string and sand hues, black emphasizes attractive textures.

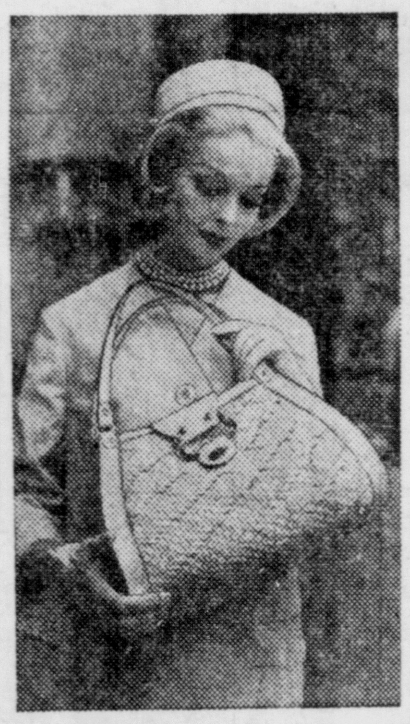
JUST RIGHT for casual wear are these two-eyelet tie shoes in tan glove leather — springweight, soft and supple. Slim leather soles "breathe" in fresh air. By Bates.



CULOTTES, THE pants-that-look-like-a-skirt, continue their fashion progress into spring. Here, they're checked and paired with sleeveless, sashed overblouse. They're designed by Sylvia de Gay for Robert Sloan in Turbo Acrilan acrylic fiber by Chemspun.



TALL silhouette, a spring hat favorite, is shown here in a high, high hat of straw with organdy trim. By Irene; the fragrance accent is Red Lilac by Lentheric.



PASSPORT to fashion is a handbag with no time or travel limitations, in Dutch sisal and harness leather, with gilt trim. By Park Lane.

COSTUME JACKET FOR spring is designed in Apple Blossom-dyed Canadian beaver. Cropped to the hipline and dipping to the back, it features a sculptured midriff and squared-off collar that opens to a wide-spread notch. It's a James Terence Brady design for Fantasia furs.

Furs Have Comfort Added to Elegance

Furs in a variety of pelts, silhouettes and lengths are more than just the dictates of fashion for spring. They are designed with an eye to wearing comfort as well as elegance.

Dramatic, or small and versatile, are scarves, ascots, mile long boas and stoles, but the newest trend is for short fur pieces in capes, boleros and jackets, for day or evening wear.

Little formal jackets and capes or "hug-me" smaller stoles with capelet backs are ideal for slim or full skirts. Jackets are seen in different lengths because many designers firmly believe that each woman should be able to select a jacket in the best suited length to fit her own particular way of life.

FURS IN COLOR — natural or newly dyed—offer a wider selection of peltry than ever before. In the natural furs, of course, there are mink, ermine, chinchilla, sable and fox.

Natural Alaska fur seal now is sheared to achieve a pastel amber color with lustre. Of the dyed furs, black or mocha dyed Southwest and African Persion lamb and white or beige American broadtail are among the newest looking.

Generally speaking, the fur collections stress furs for utmost luxury and lasting charm, furs so durable in their design that they will not be limited to a single season, but will go on throughout the year, looking always pretty, flattering and surely cherished by the wearer. (SS

TAPERED comfort is featured in this blucher in springweight smooth black leather. Refined stitching curves far up the back to emphasize its slender lines. "Southern tie" and slim leather sole add to the long lithe look. By Jarman.

'East-West' Style Leads In Handbags

Fashion comes to hand this spring in a new collection of leather handbags with exciting textures and finishes. On the surface, spring handbags range from smooth and suede leathers to antiqued finishes, woody patinas and rich bark patterns.

Patent leather is seen in a variety of handsome and roomy shapes.

Leading silhouette of the spring is the "East-West" bag, a long, slim, horizontal handbag — usually seen in smooth leather. Its simple lines blend quietly with this season's fluid costume lines.

Other shapes vary from a small suede leather clutch for late day or evening to smooth and grained leather pouches custom - finished with gold hinges and handles.

"WOODY" textured leather finishes make a bid for popularity with suits and late-day costumes. One newcomer, reminiscent of the familiar vanity box handbag, features a "box-top" opening and spacious interior.

In bright, light and vivid colors, it serves as an eye-catching costume highlight.

There's fashion news in shaped handbags. Big box-type handbags in light leathers for daytime show metal-plated ceramic flags of all nations, scroll-lettered names of world cities, or foreign greetings.

Tote and shoulder - strap bags appear in soil and scuff resistant leathers in some of the brightest spring colors yet. Light colors in the orange family predominate.

Bright jeweled clasps appear on vivid-colored suede cocktail bags with tasteful detail. (SS

'Generous' Coats Give Suits Room

New generous coat shapes make room for suits beneath, and so increase the importance of a new suit for the spring wardrobe. Suit styles, and especially the many colors, meet the demand beautifully.

Silhouettes show news and variety. Jackets are fashionable in every length from bolero to tunic. Shorter ones are interesting because they reveal the gathered waistlines of newly eased skirts. Gores, pleats, bias cuts assist in the trend to more skirt fullness.

JACKET SHAPES offer a choice ranging from relaxed cardigan and boxy styles to tightly fitted, with back blousing. Necklines follow the little-or-no collar trend. Draped or scarf necklines and away-from-the-neck collars also are notable.

The longer, easier jackets are often belted in leather or loosely sashed in self fabric.

The varied suit styles all emphasize figure flattery and wearability. The big accent is on color, with vivid strawberry pink leading the way. Designers see thse bright suits as especially effective under light or dark coats.

BOLDLY patterned tweeds, big checks and plaids appear.

As for fabrics, they have been selected with a view to making suits comfortable for wear either under coats or in warmer weather. There are many silks, and woolens tend to airy, meshy textures and light weights.

Ribbed fabrics, such as ottoman in wool or crisp cotton, continue important, and knits are a special favorite, liked by designers for their adaptability to supple silhouettes.

Since color is rampant, decorative detail has been kept to a minimum. Yoke seaming and excitingly-shaped large buttons are two important accents for simple silhouettes.

PLANNED to be packable is junior sheath with band collar, narrow front panel. Fabric is nubby textured. It's Eastman's Estron acetate.

Fashion Flatters Little Girls With Adult Copies

The "older" set may yearn to be young in the spring, but little girls sigh for that seemingly-distant day when they'll be grown up.

This season, fashion has good news for both. The youthful, easy styles that are pleasing the grown-ups adapt readily to a grade-schooler's wardrobe.

To flatter a little girl and her wishes are such adult fashion copies as: sleeveless, collarless dresses with "spaghetti" tie belts and bows; culottes, for suits, dresses, sportswear; suits with newsy, side-closing jackets and pleated skirts; capes for coats, collars and costume jackets; and lots of the popular tweeds, checks and knits.

EXCITING colors and brilliant whites sweep through the whole range of fashion, and the girls get their full share. Among the notables are orange, the purple family, bright pink and intense strawberry. Peaches, mint flavor girls' dresses.

A favorite color combination shows gray with yellow or lavender. Splashy prints are abundant. Contrast trim on solid color appeals to the girls.

Suits lean to knits, for practicality with or without a coat. Cardigan necklines show off blouses with stand-up "bandmaster" collars.

For the girls whose tastes are classic, fabrics, colors and details provide the spring excitement. Simple single- or double-breatsted coats have impact in white, sometimes bound in color, or adorned with jumbo buttons, brass buttons, velveteen.

PARTY STYLES in dresses stress the beauty of embroidery on sheers. Other dress news to note includes: two-piece tailored types, in white or colors; flounced hemlines, eddying with ruffles, eyelet, gingham checks; pinafore, jumper and tunic toppings; and plenty of rickrack, tucks and lace.

Whether she chooses pants or culottes for her playtime, a girl is likely to want knit skirts. They look new in sweatshirt style, sometimes with hoods.

Separate jackets from sportswear collections are planned to run through the wardrobe, pairing up with dress, school or play clothes.

The nautical influence sails in, as it seems to every spring, but the style approach is particularly fresh this season. (SS

The 'High Cloche'

Hats Feminine, Flattering

Curves, colors and a bubbling upward of silhouettes headline a feminine and flattering story about millinery for spring '61. Among the hat shapes seen in the news are the substantial toque, the high cloche, the sailor and the profile brim. Flower and flowered hats seem to be headed for one of their most successful seasons.

Hat variety is developed by such styles as draped turbans, in fabrics and straws; tailored sailors, with a level-on-the-head perch; and close-fitting profile hats in felt. Fitted caps, perky berets, smart pillboxes move ahead.

Crowns tend to be lofty, gently extending the natural oval of the head. Filmy fabrics, tissue felt or spun-sugar straws create a "light-headed" look. Dainty flower petals and leaves, swirls of fabric and delicate ruchings of straw contribute to the airy air.

BRIMS ARE deftly handled, to develop face-framing flattery. These include everything from narrow, side-lined brims on cloches and curling rollers to bonnet shapes. Scallops, pleats, bows, scarves, layered effects and veiling soften brim outlines.

High lines and offside effects distinguish hat shaping of all types.

Color captivates, and caps the head, in a range that moves from smart black and white contrasts to lively hues of raspberry pink, mellow beige, tender green, sunshine yellow and water-color blue.

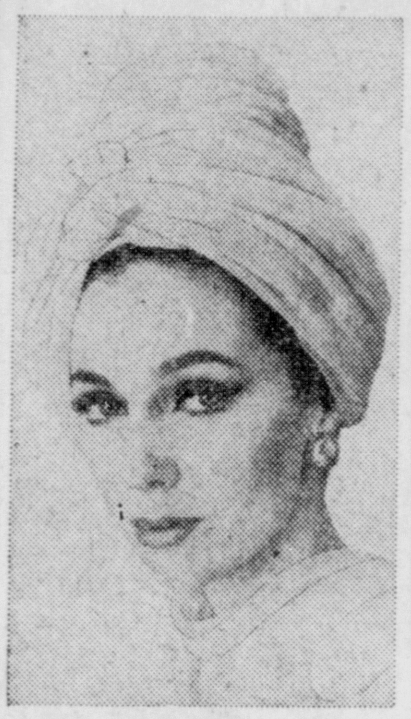
JET BLACK lacquered straw, cire ribbon or patent leather show up in pairings with soft white chiffon or organdy. Black velvet and matte black straw make a spring appearance.

With the many colors involved, "lingerie" touches of white in such fabrics as organdy and chiffon are a consistent theme. Airy ideas are furthered by color, fabric and draping.

Tulle, maline, point d'esprit and other sheer veilings take paart in the fashion for bountiful turbans and high, cloud-like toques.

Flowers and textured straws and strawcloths help to develop a dimensional look. Straw cloths sometimes stimulate patterned and knitted, as well as polished, effects.

Feathers are lacquered to join in the shiny and sophisticated hat fashion trend. Silks, jerseys and other knits contribute to fluid lines.



FOR FEMININE flattery on a spring evening, fashion suggests this mellow beige chiffon turban, draped high and knotted in front for more interest. By John Frederics.

PHOTOGENIC note for the camera - and fashion-minded young miss is glen plaid wool chesterfield with velvet collar, back belt. By Bambury.

IDEAL FOR business or evening wear is this low-crown, narrow brim hat with pinchless crown. Proportioned to complement the trim lines of the new spring suits. Resistol Jet 880.

TOPS FOR casual wear this spring is this jaunty oval telescope hat with deep back roll and deep front snap. Features distinctive buckle on the trim, suede band. By Adam.

IN THE BEAUTIFUL parlor of Doris Kirkeby fashions, 143 W. Prospect, Mt. Prospect, lovely Mrs. Ardelle Karl, Prospect Heights, models a navy worsted suit with slim skirt and loose box-style jacket. TONES OF GREEN, white and rust illuminate the bold plaids used for this spring-shaped coat and suit. Coat reflects cape influence, with stand-up collar, dolman sleeves and four-button closing. Longer jacket of the suit is accented by narrow cobra belt. Both are lightweight British woolen plaid. By George Carmel.

Outdoor Sophistication

Sportswear Takes on British 'Accent'

Men's sportswear styling for spring speaks with definite "British Accent." This new look will give men the handsome traditional outdoor look they prefer — yet with a more sophisticated expression than that found in the youthful Ivy models.

In patterns the British classics take a leading role with race-track plaids and checks. Other designs take their cue from "commonwealth" fabrics such as batik prints and India madras.

Heather tones keyed to the English moors, British blue, desert tones, rusts, camels and, of course, a continuation of the currently popular olive and gold shades — these are among the outstanding colors.

The entire wash-wear concept shows further gains in all sportswear. New technical advances in both fabrics and constructions give the wash-wears an increased performance factor.

SPRING SPORT shirts reach new highs in variety of styling. In addition to new British types, there are Ivy versions and a new group of updated Continentals. Pullover models in cut-and-sewn shirts are again among the top favorites. They boast many types of collar styles, too. New in the pullovers are lowered pockets, a variety of lengths and some with tapering bodies.

Jacket-shirts are making a comeback—mostly in heavier fabrics and in solid colors. Many are coordinated with walk shorts, slacks and swim trunks.

Look for the new "scarf prints" on silk and silk-look fabrics, glen plaids, checks and a return to new looking stripes. Shirt fabrics include homespun or burlap type weaves, tight meshes, linen-types and tone-on-tone weaves. Watch for more bright solid colors, too.

Knit shirts, for active as well as spectator sports, have a firmly established niche in the spring picture. Some of the newest have sweater details, others have varied knits, new collar detailing, new shoulders and new neck closure details.

THE BRITISH Accent in spring sport coats is adapted from the hacking jacket with it natural easy fitting shoulders, slightly indented waistline and its slightly flared skirt. Some have side vents; others, center vents.

Ivy-type jackets, being classic in design, have few, if any, changes in line. However, bolder, brighter patterns will be worn and these will be supplemented by the solid-color flannel blazers.

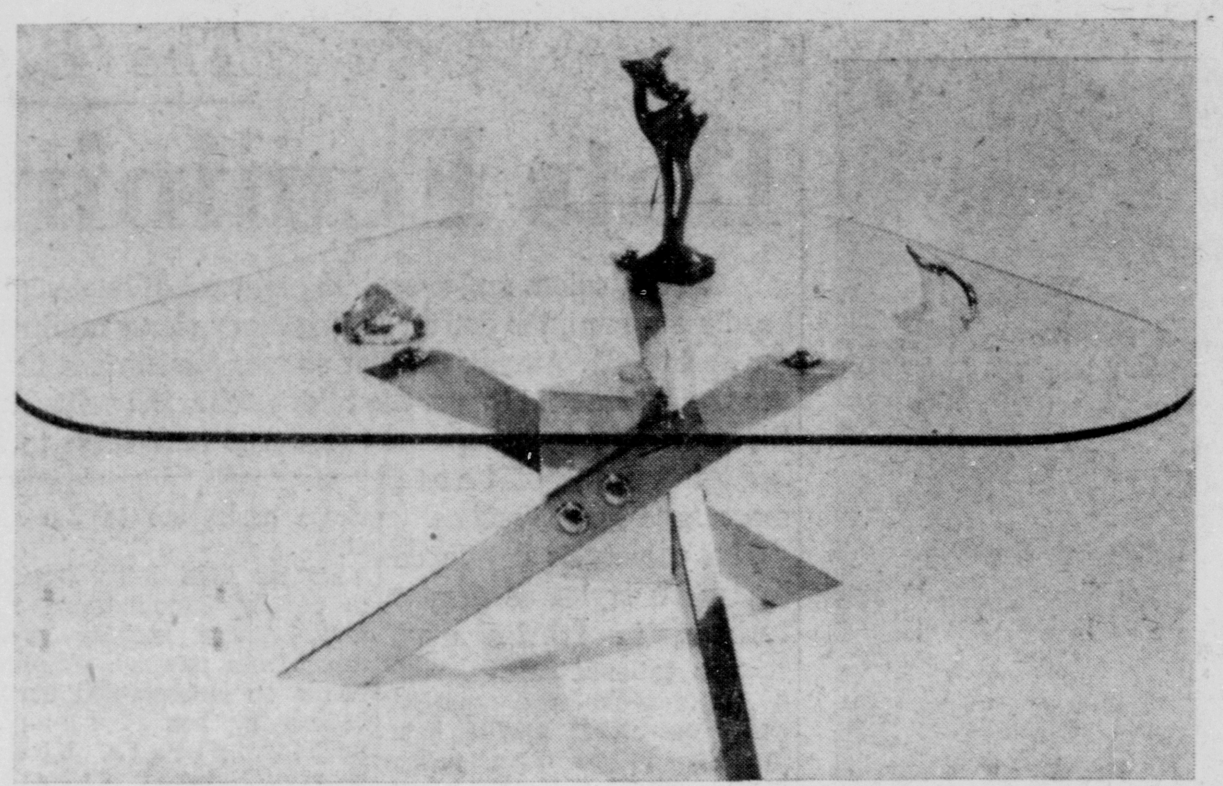
Continental sports jackets are showing the more modified lines of the Trans-American concept.

Slacks continue to be trim, whether in the plain front styles or the single pleat models.

Both self supporting waistbands and belt loop styles are top fashion.

EMBROIDERED leaves and berries entwine on this feminine overblouse, in Springmaid's Poeta cotton. It is a Macshore Classic.

VERSATILE FOR TRAVEL, sweaters this spring add the bonus of gay color. This cardigan style is striped, with a hand-crocheted look and an airy texture that's cool enough for warm weather, yet wards off breezes. It's a blend of Zefran acrylic fiber and linen. By Chestnut Hill Sportswear.



UNUSUAL GLASS cocktail table is a perfect accent for any living room. Standing 17 inches high, it has 34 by 50-inch dimensions. The base is two-toned polished brass. This is one of a selection to be seen at Heights Glass & Mirror company, 1618 W. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights. (SS SHINY OUTLOOK is seen in pump designed by Stylepride to give gleam to new fashions. Brilliant black patent is accented with black matte calf stripping and two tiny buttons at throat. It is punctuated, too, with a tall heel, needle-slim toe. Fashioned also in bone or white leather, it is from the spring-new collection being shown at the opening of Burt's Shoe store, Mt. Prospect Plaza shopping center. (SS

'Country Look' For Wallpapers

The country look from many lands arrives in wallpapers to decorate American homes for spring.

To early American and Williamsburg-style documentaries are added French toiles, Spanish-influence designs, and English 18th century-floral, bird and foliage patterns.

Wallpaper accents elegance in damask and medallion patterns, 18th century English florals and 18th century French designs, often on simulated silk backgrounds for added richness.

Colors vary from dark and glowing to delicate and dainty. New dark backgrounds owe much to the colors of the Orient. Persian blues, rich reds, muted browns, tawny golds, terra cotta and deep blues are used as background colors.

Among the light shades, violets and misty blues lead. Sunny yellow comes to the fore.

Matching fabrics and wallpapers are widely available to bring a custom look to any interior. New wallpaper panels, relatives of the mural, but complete in themselves, can be used in many areas that are too small to take a mural.

Whittled Toes

Sprite Shoes in Sunbright Spring Color

Spritely shoes in sunbright colors accent simple, airy costumes this spring. Feminine footwear is slimmer in shape, more whittled at toe and back, and seen in a variety of smooth, grained, suede and patent leathers.

Not since the pointed toe stepped on the feminine scene several seasons ago has there been such an interest in shoe detailing, says Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

While leather shapes the honed-down needle toe into flatteringly trim lines, the body of the shoe takes on greater fashion styling. Scallop, scroll and swirl add grace and feminity to supple leathers to supple feathers.

TAILORED styles incorporate overlays and underlays of contrasting leathers and hues to give fresh effects. New tip and mudguard effects, refined stitching and perforations on vamps and sides and gay ornamentation give color to walking shoes.

Daytime shoes show dressmaker detailing. Contrasting brushed and smooth leathers, grained and lustre leathers patent and calf leathers are draped, tucked and pleated for dressy effect.

EVENING wear goes dressy too, as luxurious kid and suede leathers show embroidered and jeweled treatment. Where daytime footwear boasts more small cutouts this year, after-five shoes show more closed toes. Patent leather, chiefly lustrous black, stays out after five in jeweled and ornamented styles.

Among the important bright shoe colors this season are oranges and violets. Yellow, apricot, pink, lavender, honey and fuchsia are seen on daytime spectators and cocktail pumps and evening sandals and pumps.

Bone and white share the neutral picture, with many other colors in paled hues.

Black patent leather shoes shimmer in new, brighter, more flexible tannages. (SS

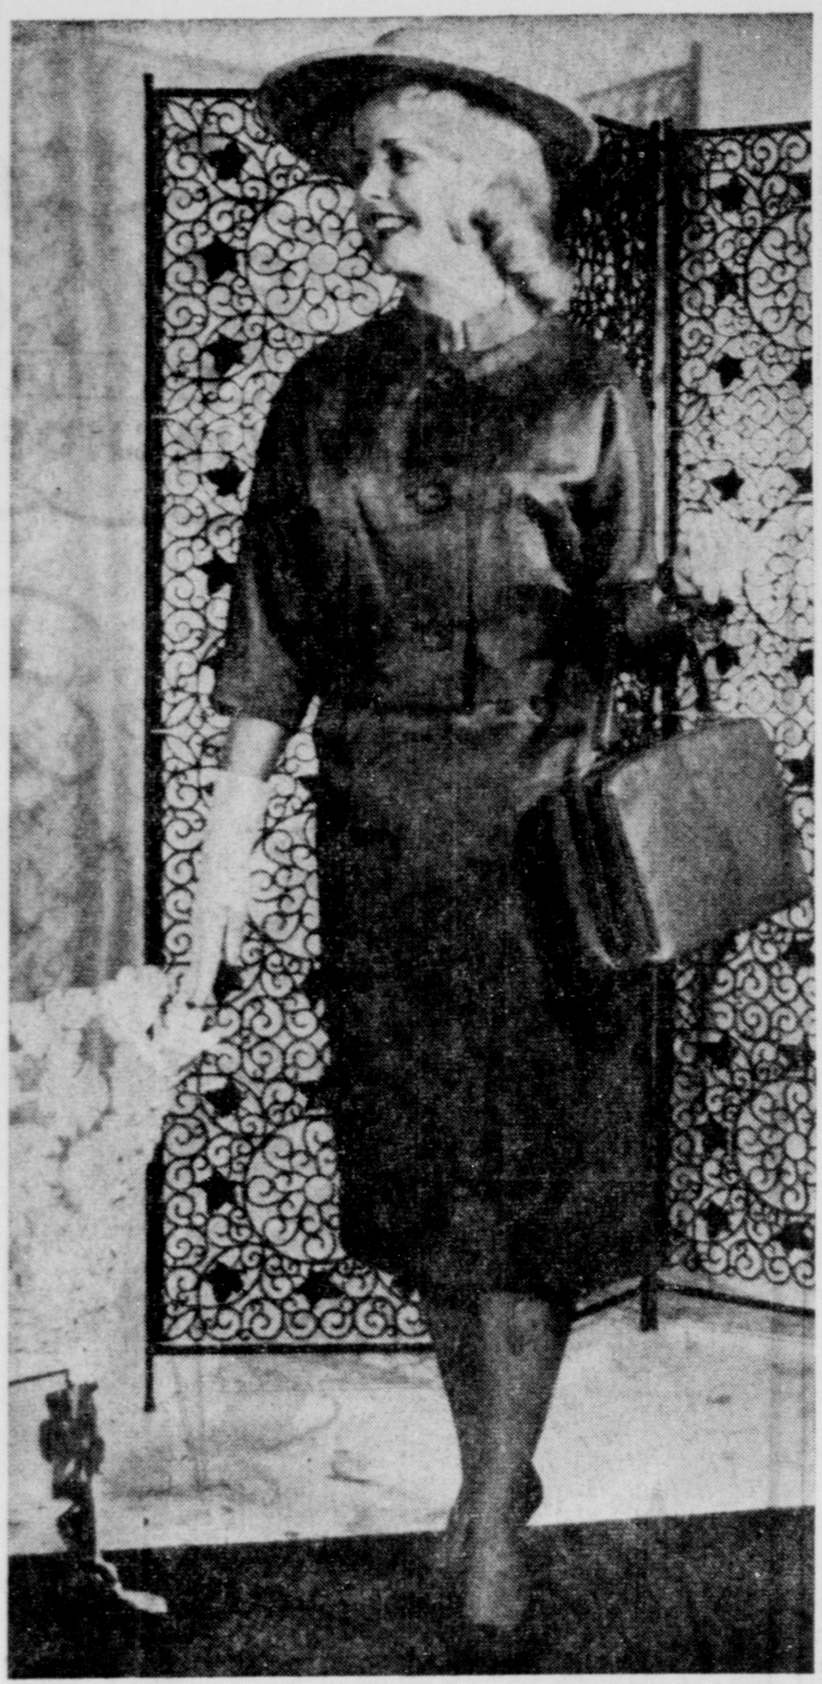
Little Hats

Elegant little hats take their place on the generally high-hat spring fashion scene. They're usually worn at a new, forward-tilted angle. Shapes are pillboxes or hats with tiny brims. They come in styles for both day and evening wear.



READY FOR A day in town or a weekend trip, Mrs. Roland Strom of Mount Prospect, models a deep-beige pure-silk dress and jacket featured at the Maison de Romayne, 45 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights. The new jacket is the semi-fitted box style with mandarin collar. A wide-brim cartwheel straw hat in beige and a Margolin "globetrotter" bag complete the daytime costume. (SS WITHOUT HER COVER-UP jacket, Mrs. Roland Strom, Arlington Heights, is ready for cocktails or an evening "on the town." Maison de Romayne, Arlington Heights, recommends the beautiful pure silk dress for one-dress many occasion wear. Soft Grandoe beige-tone leather gloves complete the costume. The fashionable two-piece dress is available under $40. (SS

Foundation Look—Not Line—New

Since there is no extreme change in the outerwear silhouette, foundation garments vary in look rather than line this spring.

Girdles, brassieres, corselets and bra-lettes gain in prettiness. They're done up with frills (which flatten to the figure so as not to be revealed under dresses), with camisole straps, with elegantly detailed laces and satin appliques.

The fabrics are sheer, the colors either clear and bright or subtle and pale. Turquoise, mauve, apricot and a range of pinks join the basic beige, white and black.

Deep-dipping cowl necklines and "one-shoulder" fashions have focused attention on improved designs in bras without straps and on backless bras with narrow straps that attach to the girdle in back or that cross and anchor at the waistline.

Also highlighted in most foundations collections are lingerie-weight, but controlling, long-legged pantie girdles and smooth corselets.

Washing Tip

Knit shirts of durene mercerized cotton are home machine washable. Bleach and blueing are not recommended for colored shirts. A good idea is to follow the washing instructions found inside the shirt.

PERT duster greets spring in easy-care cotton print, with satin ribbons and cotton lace ruffled cuffs. By Stella Fagin in "Everglaze" cotton.

Brides Offered Opulent Gowns

Current bridal collections offer an enticing selection for the spring bride.

Traditional elegance is retained, along with the air of new fashion. Fabrics are luxurious—lace, organza, taffeta chiffon, tulle, peau de soie and silks of all kinds—and styling is dramatic.

Sheaths and gowns with bouffant or bell-shaped skirts take sweeping trains, some of which are removable. In fact the convertible aspect of wedding dresses is notable, making many suitable for a grand ball as well as a wedding.

A lace train, for instance, is removable to become a cape. A beaded bolero comes off to show a beaded bodice.

Fashion notes include the detachable tunic. Back interest for another gown is developed through a fashionable cowl neckline, highlighted by a silk organza cabbage rose.

A separate lace redingote covers a floor-length organza gown, while still another silk organza gown has vertical pleating to form cap sleeves, bodice and apron effect.

Coat Duets

Coats try new color and fabric combinations for spring. They may be half solid, half checked, or with boucle tops and smooth wool skirts.

To Dress Up Homes Go-Togethers Used

"Go-togethers" are favorites of the American woman for her own wardrobe, and now she is finding the same idea increasingly helpful in dressing her home.

Manufacturers get together to provide drapery fabrics and wallpapers designed to mix and match just as those indispensable sweaters and bluoses, skirts and pants do. Even carpeting and other floor coverings are part of the preplanning.

This season the idea is carried into upholshtery fabrics. Several patterns and textures are offered in coordinated colors, plus appropriate accent colors. For instance, there are striped fabrics accompanied by coordinated plains, to match the stripes.

These home fashion go-togethers show a lively interest in color, with elegance favored in patterns from dramatic abstracts to authentic early American designs. Upholstery fabrics, soft and luxurious, are often enhanced by quilting and embroidery.

ELEGANCE is developed through use of hues with a royal tradition — lilac, lavender and deeper purples — as well as pinks, turquoise, sage and avocado greens. Neutral hues are not neglected but lightened, with white, off-white and oatmeal beige among the most frequently seen.

Accompaniments to the elegant look are damask and jacquard upholstery fabrics, which harmonize with softer lines in new furniture for spring.

Fluid Look Leads Way In Dresses

Fashion is flexible about its approach to spring dresses. The story starts with pliable fabrics and pliant styles, and the sleeveless, collarless dress with relaxed lines expresses the mood of the season.

The fluid look is achieved in many ways — with draping, gores, pleats, bias cuts, flounce hemlines. Two piece dresses impress with long and easy overblouses above slim skirts that float on the bias.

String-tie belts, stoles and scarf-ties may accompany the collarless dress. Sometimes a dress that seems collarless in front dips to a graceful cowl collar in back. For a refreshing change of pace, rippling cape collars appear on sheath dresses.

THE EASY little dresses often take cover under their own coats, as the coat-dress ensemble gains renewed interest this spring. Impressive buttons, no-collar or band-collar necklines and shortened sleeves characterize many of the coats.

For dress costumes, there are jackets with no collars, with ring collars, and sometimes, cape collars. Frequently, a sleeveless one-piece dress appears beneath. When the dress is two-piece, its overblouse is likely to be in a bold abstract or floral print.

NEW ENTRIES for spring include the dress with divided, or culotte, skirt — still a small influence, but a growing one— and fresh versions of the coat dress. The latter is a dress that, in style and fabric, can be literally either a coat or a dress.

Since styles call for drapable fabrics, silks and facsimiles of silk are well represented. Cotton and miracle sheers are notable, especially for late day.

Woolens and worsteds achieve their own miracles of feather weight, in new weaves that are translucently sheer.

Gloves Star As Arms Bared

Arm-baring tendencies of spring fashions give gloves a chance to star in all lengths. Both the short shorties and the glove that reaches to mid-arm attain new importance.

Pretty, feminine look is provided by airy open-work for gloves in leather, cotton, nylon. Lace inserts, eyelet embroidery, fagoting and perforations beckon to the refreshing spring air. Shirring, stitching, pleating and scallops add decorative notes. Sometimes the detailing is asymmetrically placed.

Tiny pearls and rhinestones sparkle on dressy gloves, while little bows adorn gloves that go with suits. Floral appliques accent other gloves, and pearl and covered buttons are also on hand.

TWO-COLOR combinations emphasize that this is a fashion season of many and lovely hues. New approach to black and white finds white cotton shorties piped with black patent leather, and two-tone linen cuffs on gloves are another fresh idea.

Gloves can elect to copy a costume color, or they can stay neutral, in white, black, navy or beige. There's plenty of color variety, in lively brights or tempting pastels.

Choices offered include orange, pink, rose, green, violet and blue, sunny yellows.

CAPE ENSEMBLE is new idea for the bride. Lace cape can be attached to the back of the faille taffeta gown, forming a sweeping train. Her diamond jewelry includes a ribbon-spray pin to highlight the headress. Gown by Murray Hamburger.

HE'S HOPING HER purse holds enough for ice cream. Both share good fashion, the young man in tailored coat and matching hat, the young lady in coat with Peter Pan collar, raglan sleeves gathered at wrist, and yoked front. Coats, in American woolens; Chips & Twiggs, Hellen Lee.

PINWALE cordury enters spring, in skirt and jacket for junior high fashionables. Jacket is lined to match print blouse. By Sea Isle.

LIGHTWEIGHT worsted gives this spring topcoat the crisp, neutral appearance of covert, enlivened by disguised polychromatic under tones. Features split shoulder.

LONG-LINE zip front jacket heads boldly into spring, topping slim, fun-loving patterned pants. Both are color-cued cotton knit. By Aileen.

Leather Wear Has Fluid Silhouette

Brisk color and interesting texture give style and individuality to soft, lightweight leather costumes which follow fashion's simple, fluid silhouette.

Bright warm coral, deep royal blue, vivid pink, cool cucumber green and real red appear in both smooth and suede leather for day, casual and sports wear. Softer shades of mauve, violet and lilac are seen in dressy evening coats.

Middy influence shows up in sporty pull-on cabretta blouses for wear with bandstand skirts, culottes or clamdiggers in smooth or suede leathers. Deep V necklines and wide sailor collars give the nautical flavor.

"Add-ons" — leather separates such as vests, short flared skirts, culottes, shorts and weskits — become wardrobe builders, to be worn with many different costumes and color schemes.

Knit-and-leather suits join the spring fashion parade in such combinations as royal blue trimmed in white, two tones of pink or two tones of lilac.

Full-length travel coat appears in smooth bone or wheat colored leather, with huge slash pockets that effect the "patch pocket" look.

Car coats, light in weight and bright in color, display self buttons and belts, roomy pockets and knit-and-leather mixtures.

BOLERO JACKETS are casual or dressy, such as black suede paired with matching slim lounging pants or smooth leather with lavish jeweling for evening wear.

Leather evening wear is luxurious, in such items as a long, supple ranch hide coat with all-over jeweled applique or a full-skirted ensemble in gleaming silver kid with matching mess jacket.

Colors Brighten

Hot orange, gold, green, carnation pink, air-force blue, all in vivid hues, makes news in lustrous highly polished tones for sports shirts. A process called mercerization makes fine cotton fabrics more acceptable to the new bright dyes.

Color Adds New Zest to Boys' Wear

Color adds new zest to little boys' clothing for spring '61. Lightweight fabrics, especially seersucker or the seersucker look, gain ground.

Suits lean toward the Ivy with natural shoulder. There are worsteds, worsted blends wool blends and all-wool gabardines, while lightweight cotton blends look to after Easter.

Colors seen here include medium olive, gray, black, and blue compounds, in solids, muted glen plaids, checks.

Solid all-wool blazers top the sports jacket list, in olive, blue or putty. Madras influence strong plaids, checks, stripes and new batiks show up. The white sports coat is news.

SEERSUCKER look marks both jackets and separate slacks. Some other fabrics for slacks are gabarines, tropicals, polished cottons, cords, poplin, in tan, black, bone, olive, blue tones, stripes and plaids.

Sport shirts for little boys appear in a variety of ice cream hues, as well as olive and gold.

Laminating process with plastic foam turns virtually any fabric into lightweight, warm outerwear for the boys.

First Federal Savings and Loan Begins Grand Opening Festival

A special ceremony heralded the beginning of a four weeks grand opening celebration of the First Federal Savings and Loan association, Des Plaines, February 27.

The association had just completed a building addition which doubled its former size. Participating in the event with the association directors, officers and staff were Herbert H. Behrel, Mayor of Des Plaines; Mrs. Emma Plew, wife of the founder of the association, Don Geyer, staff vice president of the United States Savings and Loan league and E. Lee Hubble Jr., Treasurer of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago.

ALL OF those officiating are savers at First Federal Savings of Des Plaines.

A giant gold chain and padlock which had been installed in front of the association's main entrance were removed to signify the commencement of the official grand opening.

Each participating official dialed one number of a special combination to open the padlock.

Mrs. Emma Plew dialed number 87 to signify the first day's receipts of $87.00. When the association commenced doing business more than 27 years ago, Don Geyer of the United States Savings and Loan league then dialed number 34 to represent the $34,400,000 constituting First Federal's present assets. Mr. Hubble then dialed number 30 which represents the $30,000,000 now in association savings accounts. Mayor Herbert H. Behrel then dialed number one to signify the association is the first for Savings and Home Loans in the Northwest area.

An attractive gift of a smoky glass ash tray-candy dish is being given to each visitor to the association during the grand opening festivities. (BB

Mueller Climatrol Announces New Quiet Air Conditioner

Here's an air conditioner that was designed for the homeowners' neighbors! "One of our major engineering design objectives was to insure quiet operation," said George Hase, Mueller Climatrol's manager of planning.

"We were able to reduce the sound of air conditioning from the owners' own home simply by placing the air conditioner's moving parts outdoors. Now we've solved the outdoor noise problem, too," said Hase.

AN EXTRA large size centrifugal blower in the new air conditioner has much lower operating sound levels than units which use propeller fans. The large size of the centrifugal blower moves huge volumes of air at slow operating speeds. ((The slower the blower revolves, the less noise. Propeller fans revolve at very high speeds and cause vibration and air noise.)

"This unit is designed for use in a remote air conditioning system," Hase explained. "A remote system has all of the air conditioner cooling machinery outside of the home. Only a pair of copper tubes connect it to a coil located at the furnace. This type of remote system allows the homeowner to economically add summer air conditioning at most any time. Simply add the cooling coil and connect it to the outdoor condensing unit and you'll have summer cooling."

This new unit is a central or whole-house air conditioner and is available without premium costs. Installation costs will vary with the size of equipment needed, house construction, and the present air distribution system. Hase estimated the cost of whole-house air conditioning would vary from about $900 to $1500 for an average new three bedroom house.

He also noted that the whole-house air conditioner qualifies for FHA financing.

Mercedes-Benz 200 SE Coupe Combines Engineering, Style

Introduction of a new Mercedes-Benz 220 SE coupe was announced today by L. A. Fleener, president of Mercedes-Benz Sales, Inc., U. S. distributor of the internationally - famed West German automobiles.

The new car is sold at Mark Motors, Inc., 2020 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights.

"This hardtop 4-passenger coupe in the popular six-cylinder passenger car series," Fleener said. "It combines the advantages of a sport - styled vehicle with the comforts of a touring car."

POWERED BY a fuel injection, six - cylinder, overhead cam and valve engine, the coupe's power plant develops 134 h.p. at 5,000 r.p.m. The engine's displacement is 133.9 cubic inches; bore and stroke is 3:15 x 2.86; and the compression ratio is 8.7 to 1.

Over-all length of the body is 182 inches and the width is 72.7 inches. Curb weight of the coupe is 3,155 pounds.

A four-speed fully - synchronized transmission is operated by a short stick-shift mounted on the transmission hump. Maximum speeds in the first to fourth gears are 27.9, 47, 74 and 105 miles per hour, respectively. Fuel consumption averages 22 miles per gallon on overland trips, according to manufacturer's tests.

Mercedes - Benz 220E sedans were first and second place over-all winners in the Rally Algiers - Central Africa the world's longest and most gruelling test of automobiles.

DRIVERS of the first place car were Karl Kling and Rainer Gunzler, who repeated their over - all victory of first place in a Mercedes-Benz in 1959. They set a new Sahara Desert speed record this year of 74.8 miles an hour. The second place car was driven by Sergio Bettoja and Herman Eger.

Beginning at Bangui, Central African Republic, the rally's route was 7,145 miles north to Algiers, Algeria, requiring 16 days of tortuous travel. Driving conditions included sand and slush, rocky and pitted desert roads, with intense heat during the days and bitter cold at night.

"Superiority of Mercedes - Benz fuel injection engines," Fleener said, "was evident after the winning M-B cars reached the highest possible points in all speed laps that comprised a part of the rally."

Kling and Gunzler, in their report, said they "had to keep fully concentrated while driving because of the unexpected rocks, holes and shifting sand in the desert roads. It was exceptionally tiring to drive the long stretches through monotonous desert, and even breathing was difficult because dust and sand pressed on our lungs. Never have we gone through a more exhausting experience.

"But we had full confidence in our 220 SE car, and we knew it would be able to get over all the recognizable treacheries of this enormous stretch of distance." (BB

James Fizzell

Assistant Farm Advisor

Established trees benefit from fertilization before active growth begins. When growth begins, the nutrients from the fertilizers are then immediately available for uptake and use by the plants.

Although liquid feeding is usually more desirable for feeding trees than dry feeding, most gardeners do not have the equipment necessary. To get the most effective use of dry fertilizers on trees, the fertilizer should be placed in the soil rather than on top. With a soil auger or pipe, punch holes in the ground around the tree. The holes should be about one foot deep and should be spaced about two feet apart in circles around the trunk of the tree. Begin the smallest circle two feet from the trunk, and make the largest circle as large as the spread of the largest branches.

THE AMOUNT of fertilizer to use depends on the size of the tree. A good rule of thumb is to apply 1½ pounds of 10-10-10, 10-8-6 or a comparable fertilizer per inch of trunk diameter on small trees, and three pounds per inch of trunk diameter on trees larger than three inches in diameter.

Fruit trees growing in the lawn should be treated the same as shade trees. If there is no grass under the fruit trees, the fertilizer can be broadcast on the ground under the tree.

THE AMOUNT of fertilizer to use on fruit trees depends on the age of the tree. On trees up to five years old use 4 pounds of 10-10-10 or 10-8-6 per tree. On trees up to 15 years old use 10 pounds per tree, on older trees use 20 pounds. 10-10-10 or 10 8-6 is the analysis of the fertilizer. Many different brands of fertilizer carry these analyses. The analysis is the guaranteed per cent of nutrients in the fertilizer and is printed on the bag of all good fertilizers. The numbers represent the percentage of notrogen, phosphorus and potassium, in that order, contained in the bag. (FM

Offer Tips on Planting, Caring for Evergreens

The growing suburbs have created a need for inexpensive housing. Mass production has created a need for individuality.

"Good landscaping is the only way to create individuality," said a local nurseryman.

Planning your landscape will insure you a beautiful home and save you money at the same time.

PREPAIRING THE SOIL. If the soil is in poor condition, dig to a depth of 12 to 18 inches and remove all roots, stones or other objectionable matter. The hole should always be considerably larger than the ball of the tree. When the ball is in place, the top should be just level with the surface of the earth. Leave all burlap and twine in place and stand a tree in the hole. Fill in around the ball to about one-half the total depth with good garden soil mixed with one-half shredded peat moss. When the hole is half filled, soak down thoroughly with hose and then complete the job by filling the hole to the top with the soil and peat moss mix. Soak your newly planted evergreen thoroughly once each week throughout the first growing season with special attention to the period of late autumn.

CARE AFTER ARRIVAL. If you are not able to plant your evergreen immediately in the permanent position, be sure and keep the ball moist at all times, watering at least once a day, until it is planted.

BRACING YOUR EVERGREENS. If your tree is large, it may need bracing with guy wires to keep it from swaying in the wind. If a wire or other sharp braces are used wrap a piece of old hose or leather strap around them to prevent chafing of the bark.

MULCHING AND FERTILIZER. No fertilizer should be used on an evergreen the first season because the plant must get established with the soil. In the Fall, cover the base of the tree with 2 to 3 inches of good mulch to keep the roots moist and protect it from heaving during the winter. The following Spring, work the mulch into the soil.

FERTILIZING YOU REVERGREENS AND SHRUBS. All plants need fertilizer after they are established. Much of this fertilizer is present in your soil, but often plant performance is greatly improved by the addition of small amounts of almost any type of recognized fertilizer. There are too many organic and inorganic fertilizers offered today to make specific recommendations regarding each. All are good, and can usually be expected to improve the growth and health of your plant. If you want to be on the safe side, apply all fertilizers at one half of recommended rate. Then apply twice as often. Always follow dry fertilizer with a good soaking of water.

WATERING YOUR EVERGREENS. Junipers are one of the few that will get along on drier soil, however, most evergreens like Yews, Arborvitaes, Pines, Spruce and Hemlock like moisture. During this early Spring and Summer it is advisable to water at least once a week, on newly planted trees.

"If you are in doubt, visit a reliable nurseryman. He has the know how to make the best of your landscape." he added. (BB

Realtor Week Celebration Set by Northwest Suburban Board

Members of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors are now starting to plan with other civic and business leaders of the community to celebrate realtor week which will be observed nationally from April 23-29, Herbert H. Walbaum, president of the board, announced.

Held annually under the auspices of the National Association of Real Estate Boards of which the Northwest Suburban Board is a member, realtor week is expected to be observed by at least 600 real estate boards across the country.

"WE REALTORS know that the purchase or sale of real estate—particularly the buying or selling of a home—is probably the most important single transaction in which most persons ever engage," Walbaum said. "And we want the public to know that realtors can help them in such a transaction with the highest standards of professional competence and ethics. During realtor week we will reemphasize this point."

By way of background, the Northwest Suburban Board president said that the NAREB constitution defines a realtor as "a person—engaged in the real estate business who is a board member or an individual member of NAREB, is subject to its rules and regulations, observes its standards of conduct, and is entitled to its benefits." Such membership is extended to brokers who have demonstrated their competence and adherence to ethical practices in addition to passing state license examinations.

FURTHERMORE, Walbaum pointed out, the term realtor is the exclusive designation of members of local real estate boards and NAREB by virtue of its registration with the U. S. patent office. Numerous federal and state court decisions have upheld the association's exclusive control of the term.

Founded in 1908, NAREB adopted its code of ethics, to which every realtor is pledged, in 1913. The code defines in specific terms the rules of conduct that are to govern the realtor in his relations with the public, his clients, and other realtors. Many state real estate license commissioners have cited the NAREB Code as the most advanced set of ethical standards existent and have expressed a desire to see it extended to the entire real estate calling.

Public acceptance of the service standards of realtors has been such, Walbaum said, that today NAREB ranks as one of the largest trade associations in the nation with 68,818 members in 1,372 boards. (BB

'Mating' Results

Research indicates that the argument for mating dairy heifers with smaller breed bulls make calving easier does not always hold true, according to R. W. Touchberry, University of Illinois dairy scientist.

Touchberry cites University of Wisconsin research which shows that crosses with Angus bulls and Holstein heifers usually produce calves weighing five pounds more than calves from a Holstein bull—Angus heifer cross. This suggests that the breed of the cow has more influence on birth weight than the breed of the bull.

THE DAM'S influence on birth weight was also indicated in crosses made between Guernseys and Holsteins at the University of Illinois. Calves out of the Holstein dams were 18.8 pounds heavier than those out of Guernsey dams. Calves produced by Holstein sires were only 6.9 pounds heavier than those by Guernsey sires.

In the Illinois experiment, the Guernsey heifers mated to Holstein sires had no more trouble in calving than did those mated to Guernsey sires. And Holstein heifers mated to Guernsey sires had no less difficulty than those mated to Holstein sires.

Touchberry says Wisconsin tests also show that the long, narrow head of the Holstein is dominant over the shorter head type of the Angus. This shatters the argument that an Angus sire—Holstein heifer cross will produce a shorter head type and therefore reduce calving difficulties.

New Bell Manager

Successor to the familiar Frank C. Ford, who retired March 1 as Illinois Bell Telephone's LaGrange manager, is James E. Dudley, Itasca.

But Dudley, who holds a bachelor of arts degree from DePauw university, and is father of four children, is not entirely a stranger to the area. On March 30 he will complete three years of service in LaGrange.

Dudley was graduated from DePauw, married the former Valerie Uebele of Naperville, and joined Illinois Bell within three weeks during the month of June, 1954. Two months later he entered military service and spent 18 months in Japan. While there his oldest child, Mike, was born. His other children are Ken and twin daughters, Lisa and Lynn.

HE RETURNED to the telephone company in August, 1956, serving in the sales department at Cicero and Summit. He was transferred as commercial assistant at LaGrange in March, 1958, and on January 1, 1960, he was promoted as assistant manager to Ford.

A graduate of Naperville High school, Dudley, 29, and his family reside in their own home at 224 W. Center st., Itasca. There he is cubmaster of Itasca pack 49 and steward of Bethany Evangelical United Brethren church, and is also recording secretary of the LaGrange Lions club. His hobbies are photography and sports. 'Ghost' Government At Township Level

Interest in the coming township elections in the northwest suburbs is at an all time high. For the first time in the area's history there are township tickets running under a national party label. Candidates are more numerous than ever before and issues are being discussed.

We hope this interest will extend to the annual town meeting scheduled for April 4, the same day as the township election. At this meeting residents of Wheeling, Schaumburg, Palatine, and Elk Grove townships will have the opportunity to fix salaries of township officials and act on proposed budgets, some amounting to over $100,000.

Palatine township residents will be asked to pass a "gravel tax" for maintenance of township roads. Persons living in Wheeling township will be asked to vote on a petition that would divert nearly $100,000 in excess funds to elementary school districts in the township.

Budgets for most townships for 1961-62 have taken a noticeable jump over those of last year. Some observers suggest that township officials have padded their recommended budgets to keep area school districts from getting the excess funds, as provided for by the last session of the state legislature.

Some township officers acknowledge their budgets are high but argue this is necessary if they are to keep from levying a township tax. A cushion is needed, they say, because there will be no excess funds to fall back upon if they go to the school districts.

In any event, we urge voters to turn out for public hearings on Tuesday, March 28 to discuss township budgets, and to attend their town meetings the following Tuesday. We urge that questions be asked. Is a thistle commissioner, abolished two years ago in Wheeling township, a necessity for Schaumburg, Elk Grove, and Palatine townships? Is the annual salary for this office realistic? It ranges from $100 to $500.

And what about the salaries of other township officials? Is it right that some live off the income of their township offices while local municipal and school board members put in long hours for token payments?

The township form of government is an archaic holdover from horse and buggy days. Many of its functions are duplicated by the county. In the interest of economy and efficiency, many township offices should be abolished in suburban areas. It is, however, unlikely that such will be the case as long as rural areas maintain the balance of power in the legislature.

Meanwhile, an alert electorate can make sure that township government renders maximum services for minimum expenditures.

In the past, town meetings have often been "packed" with the friends of township officials who give the nod to budgets and tax proposals with few questions asked.

Such need not be the case. Town meetings and budget hearings are open to all township residents. Each person attending is entitled to vote on matters at hand.

Places and times of meetings for the March 28 budget hearing are: Wheeling township, town hall, 1818 E. Northwest hwy., 8 p.m. Elk Grove township, town hall, 2400 S. Arlington Heights rd., 8 p.m. Palatine township, town hall, 37 N. Plum Grove rd., 8 p.m. Schaumburg township has no meeting scheduled.

For the April 4 town meeting places and times are: Wheeling township, Miner junior high school, Arlington Heights, 8 p.m. Elk Grove township, town hall, 2400 S. Arlington Heights rd., 2 p.m. Palatine township, village hall, 54 S. Brockway, 8 p.m. Schaumburg township, Schaumburg junior high school, 2 p.m.

Metropolitan Area Transit Problems Demanding Action

The current negotiations for merger of the Chicago and North Western railway and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, and the efforts of the North Shore Line to discontinue service focus attention on one of the Chicago metropolitan area's most vexing problems — transportation.

Like other sprawling urban centers in the nation, Chicago and its suburbs are dependent upon cheap, fast, reliable transportation for continued prosperity and growth. Like other mushrooming metropolises, Chicago is plagued with traffic jams and inadequate parking facilities while outlying communities are faced with shaky commuter service and perennial fare hikes.

Even the wide expanse of expressways, in many instances overcrowded the day they are opened, serve only to aggravate the problem by funneling cars into the city at such a rate as to bring traffic to a standstill.

Most of those who have studied the problem are in agreement that the only eventual answer is the creation of a metropolitan authority with the power to set up a rapid transit network.

Disagreement arises over the method of financing such a program and the extent of its authority. A current proposal would seek a $250,000 grant from the state legislature to study these problems.

While we are in favor of detailed planning and study prior to establishment of a metropolitan transit authority, we understand that over $3 million has been spent in the past 15 years for similar studies.

If further study of the matter is really needed, we hope that it will be pursued to the point where it may be translated into positive action.

Frustration Triumphed

New Book on Germany Gives Perspective to U.S. Future

by MARTIN E. MARTY

Germany, says the dust jacket of a new book by that title, seems to be fated to be "the land in the middle." Marshall Dill Jr., in a volume of history (University of Michigan, $8.75), discusses the place of Germany in the family of nations in calm tones without a trace of pamphleteering.

For all the book clubbers who have been reading William L. Shirer's story of the Third Reich this is the ideal follow through. It sets Hitler's "thousand year empire" against the background of hundreds of years of German history.

Reading it, one feels that it may be a thousand years before the depth of Germany's tragedy in the 1930s and 1940s is going to be understood. How could the land of Goethe and Beethoven became the land of Dachau and Auschwitz? Is Germany to remain securely in the family of free nations? Dill does not provide answers, but his dispassionate study provides some clues to the importance of German history.

INDEED, it was as it is "the land in the middle"; had it been content to take the middling role geographically or in the matter of status a quarter of a century ago the face of history would look different and millions now dead would probably be living. Why did the cultural and pacific resources fail Germany in an hour of need? Dill's story does not set out to answer the question but, like Shirer, it throws light on it. In the story there might be lessons for today's America.

Today in the bi-polar Russia-United States world there seems to be no 'land in the middle,' yet in a sense the United States is this. It stands between responsibility and privilege, between a world's hopes and a world's disappointments. Poised and tensed where it is, the U. S. will need all the resources of rationality it can command.

In such an hour the extremisms of left and right will be of little help, for they will force on America fruitless self-definitions and patterns of action that cannot be lived out. Is there an alternative to coexistence? The extreme right wing of America's political, religious, and literary front seems to imply that there is. Energies and passions are whipped up against America's enemies: but how are they to be consumed? Through preventive war or pre-emptive war? How are these to be contained? Germany of the 1920s hovered between extreme left and extreme right in Hitler. Reason and history failed and frustration triumphed.

AMERICA'S extreme left has become extremely disrespectable; but will the little rightist groups bobbing up on campuses and in denominations and in private pamphleteering groups displace them with their own kind of tyranny? They tend to bring with them desires to suppress dissent and unpopular thought; Dill's record of what happened to Germany should give pause to anyone ready to climb on the bandwagons of rightist or leftist doctrines in the U. S. Hitler proved that the two were playing both sides of the street against a "land in the middle." Now we are sitting there; pretension, pride, frustration, and fury will not help. Vigilance and patience and clarity of national purpose will.

Use this history first to learn of Germany, second to hold up the mirror to America.

'Little People' Are Victimized by Spoils

by REP. PAUL SIMON

Let's call him Tom Jones.

He's 52 years old, has a wife and three teenage children and until a few weeks ago was working on the highways for the state of Illinois.

Now he's unemployed, his wife is in the hospital and he cannot even qualify for unemployment compensation, since he worked for the State. And a man 52 has an extremely difficult time getting a job.

He was fired simply and solely because he was a Republican. Everyone admitted he was doing a good job.

THOUSANDS of people in Illinois are going through this these days. If there were a Republican administration coming in and the Democrats going out, the same thing would be happening in reverse.

Both parties in Illinois accept the spoils system.

Didn't Tom Jones know he would lose his job when the Democrats came in? Wasn't that taken for granted?

Yes, he knew it. But I don't believe there is a Democrat or a Republican in this state so heartless he can rejoice to see this man out of work and his family suffering.

ILLINOIS has approximately 15,000 patronage jobs out of a total of 60,000 state employees.

We are one of the worst (or best, depending on your viewpoint) of the states in the nation in this respect. By comparison, for example, the Governor of Iowa has power over 35 jobs, in Wisconsin 26 jobs, California 60, and so you could go on. In Colorado the Governor does not even have the opportunity to appoint his own cabinet—which I frankly think is going too far.

Almost everyone agrees that policy-making positions should change with an administration.

BUT WHEN there are the wholesale changes like Illinois experiences, this is not healthy, for several reasons:

1. It saddles the Governor with burdens he should not have to bear. Governor Otto Kerner—as any governor—is overloaded with work and should not have to worry about patronage too.

2. It gets people interested in politics for the wrong reasons. Politics in Illinois tends to be job-oriented, rather than issue-oriented, and this is responsible for some of our deficiencies as a state.

3. It is costly. I happen to be in business, and if every few years there were a turnover in employees far above the ordinary turnover there always is, it would be expensive. It is also expensive for the state.

4. It results in people working for the state, not because they can do a job well, but because they can produce a certain number of votes. Obviously, this results in inefficiencies.

THERE ARE some hopeful signs.

More and more, there is a trend toward civil service employment—weak as I agree that system is in Illinois.

The climate has also changed, so that when Governor Kerner named two Republicans to top positions in the state, there was no huge outcry. He named Miss Maude Myers as personnel director and Ralph R. Bartelsmeyer as the chief highway engineer. Both are eminently qualified and highly respected.

Another hopeful sign is to hear political leaders say privately: "Every political job means there is one ingrate and ten enemies." By that he means that the person getting the job usually feels it is owed to him, and the ten people who don't get the job are most unhappy.

In the meantime, the system continues. Among other places, it is reflected in your pocketbook, a little emptier than it should be.

by DICK HOFFMANN

"We have a really big shew, tonight." So, the mealy-mouthed mortician has turned out to be an assassin. I refer to that resuscitator for vaudeville and name-dropper for a New York newspaper, Ed Sullivan, who last week plunged the knife to hilt-length.

His target: hypersensitive, pampered Jack Paar. But this time Paar didn't appear in response to be shedding crocodile tears; not only that, but he seemed to have the better argument with which to work.

Sullivan's newspaper column complains that he didn't feel he should pay performers up to $7,500 a night when they appeared on the "Tonight" show for the $320 minimum.

FOR ONCE, Jack didn't indulge in the vindictive tirades which characterize his public manner when wounded. His sometimes tearful response to Sullivan's ultimatum was convincingly genuine; herein lay its strength and appeal; it established an empathy with his theater and television audience.

But was the sniping inspired by some slick press agentry? Was it another fraudulent feud being foisted on the gullible public? One must always question possibilities when performers or prize fighters scrap.

Paar's recital of the affair, however, seemed too emotionally provoked; it was anything but a measured, studied reply. But he did make some telling points. He noted that his show was not in actual competition with Ed's, which is probably what really motivated the outburst, since both labor for different networks.

And Paar, while stung by the cancellation of a comic who had appeared on both shows, sheathed his usual vitriolic barbs to reason that many of the performers now appearing between juggler and acrobatic acts on Sullivan's show had received their first break on his talkathon.

Few of Paar's guests actually "perform." They don't work on a routine; most of them sit around and voice whatever inanities (there are a preponderance of these) come to mind. On Ed's show, they can be expected to work (mostly up to a sweat, since the majority of Stone Face's guests have to walk on their hands or balance billiards on their nose).

While I personally rate both shows on par with Lassie, it was somewhat encouraging to see that Jack didn't stomp off the show in a rage and wait for NBC to come wipe his nose, or start the expected character assassination.

INTERESTINGLY, the two piqued participants make their livings off others' talents. Ed utilizes a big budget with the circus atmosphere, "let's overwhelm them by numbers" technique; the Weeper has a small, not-so-select sampling of what passes for sophisticated chatter.

Ed is kind of a deadpan counterpoint to his daredevil show. He limits himself to rubbing off some of his stars' luster. Paar, while given to fits of irritation if a guest seems too winning in his ways (except for established names), is still at his best interviewing, being the foil for the likes of Zsa Zsa and obese party givers.

(Paar's best shows, incidentally, were when he had the misanthropic Oscar Levant on, but the sapping of emotional resources that two appearances apparently caused have left Oscar crossed off the guest list ever since. That he would not be back was obvious after Oscar, who owns the sharpest tongue in show business, used it on Paar a few times.)

Television could probably get along without either of these two. But Jack is probably on the most solid argumentative ground he has yet trod. This is because he has clearly established himself as the poor, little old underdog being compromised by a concentration of corporate interests.

Exec Turnover

The problem of recruiting and training top managers, long a difficult one, gets more challenging each year. It is estimated that from 6,000 to 8,000 men, or about one per cent of executives in this country, change jobs every year. Among causes of executive mobility are growth in business, complexity of business problems, lack of company loyalty of many executives, and rising number of professional recruiting concerns.

Letters to the Fence Post

Caucus Candidate System For School Boards Defended

In his letter to the Fence Post appearing in the March 9 issue of your newspapers, Mr. Maurice R. Vick questions the desirability of the caucus approach to the selection of school bard candidates. I am sure that his doubts concerning the caucus are based upon his own sincere convictions, but I believe that he has allowed himself to be unduly influenced by a subconscious prejudice against any kind of new or supplemental methods of seeking persons to become candidates for our school boards.

Some others have also expressed a lack of confidence in the ability of the caucus to produce beneficial results for the community. However, after consideration is given to the fact that such an innovation is bound to be looked upon with a certain amount of natural skepticism, those of us who have served on the Executive Committee of the School District No. 2 Caucus have been rather well pleased by the cooperative spirit in which the caucus has been accepted during its first year of operation by most of the civic organizations of the area. A few of these organizations did not participate in the caucus this year, but we hope that they will do so in future years.

AS TO MR. Vick's contention that the caucus puts a political connotation on the selection of candidates, I believe that his conclusion in this regard stems from a basic misconception as to the purpose of the caucus.

The true and only purpose of the caucus is aptly stated in the Rules of Procedure for the caucus as being "to seek, screen and select qualified persons to be candidates for election to the Board of Education of Elementary School District No. 2."

Thus, the caucus does not attempt to tell the public that only the candidates selected by it are qualified to be members of the Board of Education. What it does intend, however, to tell the public is that, with the aid of its member organizations and the public at large, it has sought as many potential candidates as possible from throughout our growing community, has screened these persons by personal interview before the Executive Committee and otherwise, and at the Nominating Meeting attended by the delegates from the various organizations has selected certain candidates as being qualified to represent the community on the school board.

IT SHOULD be borne in mind that not only caucus delegates, but any resident of the District may recommend a person for consideration by the caucus, and that all persons whose names are submitted to the caucus are screened by its Executive Committee and later considered by the delegates, provided the consents of the persons whose names have been submitted are obtained. That the caucus does not function merely as a device for attempting to place people from the organizations participating in it on the school board is well illustrated by the fact that one of the candidates recently selected by the caucus, Mrs. Irene Forsythe, is not a member of any of the organizations which are represented in the caucus.

Regarding Mr. Vick's question as to whether the caucus opposes capable candidates who do not submit themselves for its consideration, I think this can be answered rather simply by stating that the caucus is not attempting to oppose any candidates in the political sense in which he uses the word "oppose."

As mentioned above, the caucus merely offers to the voters a list of candidates whom it has selected as being qualified. The caucus would have been very glad to have considered Mr. Spence, Mr. Burde, Mr. Travers and Mr. DiOrio, but since they did not submit themselves for caucus consideration, it was naturally impossible for the caucus to include any of them as candidates selected by it. This by no means, however, should be interpreted as indicating that the caucus considers none of these four men as being qualified candidates.

As a mattter of fact, it is entirely possible that some or several of the caucus delegates, in casting their ballots in the election on April 8, may decide that one or more of these four men are more qualified than one or more of the candidates selected by the caucus.

ALTHOUGH he refers to the caucus candidates as constituting a "slate," Mr. Vick himself, from the fact that he apparently gives his unqualified endorsement to the four incumbent candidates without even considering the qualifications of the candidates selected by the caucus, seems to be employing the political party technique of promoting an entire slate. Also, without casting any reflection on their abilities as school board members, it should be pointed out that Mr. Travers and Mr. DiOrio are "incumbents" not by reason of ever having been elected by the voters, but merely by virtue interim appointments by the school board to fill vacancies. Thus, if they are elected this time it should be because the public approves of their general character and background and not because of any special knowledge and experience derived from their short tenures as incumbent board members.

No one claims that the caucus is the perfect solution to the problem of insuring that our school boards are continually composed of the best qualified people, but I for one am convinced that it can, if properly and actively supported, be of great help in coping with this problem. I do know that most of us who are delegates to the School District No. 2 Caucus are proud that, in the first year of operation of the caucus, it has been able to offer to the voters such qualified candidates as Richard Tobias, Robert Bilhorn, Ray Basso and Mrs. Forsythe.

If the caucus system is somewhat undemocratic, as Mr. Vick seems to imply, then perhaps he might be able to explain how the four incumbent school board members mentioned by him were first placed on the board and how the method by which they were so placed is more democratic than the caucus method. In support of the caucus plan, it can be pointed out that it is now in operation in several of the larger school districts in DuPage County and that it has been endorsed by Roy DeShane, County Superintendent of Schools, who was quoted in the Bensenville Register for June 30, 1960, as follows: "It has generally worked out very satisfactorily for often people of high caliber who might not otherwise choose to be candidates are invited as the result of a caucus. This often provides the district with a better cross section of representation by qualified citizens."

Big Smile Irritates Housewife

Friday about five o'clock on Roselle rd. I was coming home from the doctor's office. My sister and her two children and my three children were in the car, and we almost had a head-on collision with a black car that pulled out from behind a cream colored car to pass. He came right at me. I applied my brakes. He also realized he couldn't make it and dropped back just in time.

I AM WRITING this because he had a smile on his face as he drove on. I didn't think it was funny. I was upset over what almost happened.

Let me remind you, mister, I was driving the 1960 Chevy station wagon. I would like to thank you for that big smile you gave as you went past me. Roselle rd. is not a place to take chances. I live in Hoffman Estates, and I hate it every time I have to go to Roselle.

The road from here to Roselle is in bad need of repairs. I wish something could be done about it.

What Is Purpose Of Having PTAs?

What is the purpose of PTA? Ideally, it is to get parents and teachers together to work for the betterment of our children.

If this is true, then a deplorable situation exists in our community.

One of our local schools recently had a basketball game between the 8th grade boys and their fathers as the "highlight" of the monthly PTA meeting. Another meeting was taken up with a program by a cartoonist. These things are all well and good but do they belong in the PTA program?

HERE IS a tremendous opportunity for learning about the purposes of education in the U. S. (and in Rolling Meadows), for discussions and plans to better our education, and instead we waste these valuable evenings "being entertained." The sad part of it is that this is what the public seems to want.

If adults prefer amusement to learning, what can we expect of our children? You hear many people complain that nowadays children watch TV too much, expect to be entertained all the time, and have little initiative in planning their own activities.

And who do we have to blame for this, but ourselves!

Citizen 'Shocked' At Board Conduct

I attended the village of Buffalo Grove's regular monthly meeting held on Thursday, March 2, at the Alcott school in Buffalo Grove.

After seeing this village board of trustees in action, I implore you to ask each and every qualified citizen of Buffalo Grove to vote in the forthcoming elections. The deportment and conduct of the majority of the trustees was disgraceful! I was shocked and dismayed at their actions in front of the people who were in attendance at this meeting. I assure you that our residents can not possibly be aware of the inept manner in which our village is seemingly governed by this board of men.

AS MUCH as I dislike to admit it, the only trustee who seemed to appear to have any interest soundly in mind concerning the village and its welfare was the village developer, Mr. Al Frank. I have many complaints concerning Mr. Frank's building operations, but he, at least, showed common sense and reliable judgment concerning certain proposals that were put before the board. He actually seemed to be the only one who was able to "think for himself" regarding some foolish measures that were almost adopted by the other election conscious trustees . . . .

Unless the people are made aware of the manner in which their village government is being carried on, this same slate may be reelected to office or another term. In the fice for another term. In the meantime, perhaps the villagers who do attend the meetings should bring baby bottles for these men who act like babies that are up past their bedtime.

Reader Supports Kennedy Position

In reply to Mrs. Ed Ostrowski's letter about aid to education, be it on a federal or local level. We must never be so short - sighted as to lose sight of the real issue basic to all citizens irrespective of special interest groups; namely, education in its true sense, the three R's and other non religious subjects necessary to further the goals of education.

It is the duty of every citizen to aid via tax dollars a public school system dedicated to give society a person who can be qualified to think clearly on various subjects and who indeed will be a contribution to his community. However, this citizenry is made up of all sorts of interest groups and religious faiths. Some of these faiths are compatible with each other; some differ in theory only and some are vigorously opposed to each other. There are also those who believe in no supreme being.

IT WOULD seem unwise for a federal, state or local government to require these people through taxes to support a private school system practicing religious doctrines contrary to the view of the other interest groups. We are free to choose the church, clubs, charities and political parties of our choice in this country, but in one subtle move we would try in the guise of education to take the inherent right of individuals to support the ideologies they aspire to away from them. This I believe is the real issue. Mr. Kennedy is not in favor of the outright grant to private schools for reasons of possible violations of the Constitution. I believe he is interested in education for the masses, and since our public school system is for just that, it seems a shame some would jeopardize a program so vital to the nation for personal desires.

It is a shame that individuals like Mrs. Ostrowski are caught in this conflict of interest. You do have the sympathy of us all. I would like to state that I also attended a private parochial school which my folks supported for 16 years through their real estate taxes in Chicago and public system.

HOWEVER, we were far sighted enough to realize it was our perogative to choose the religious institution. The public system was ours to use. Therefore, we did not feel that society was unfair to us for if one has tastes that are a little bit expensive you must be prepared to pay a little extra for them.

Let's have public education for the public and let religion assume its responsibilities to teach religion. Fair enough?

'Turtle' Attitude Rapped by Reader

Is it just this locale, or is it more widespread, this turtle-attitude toward the "communist problem?"

Let's not pull our heads in and be afraid to laugh at TV's "Dennis the Menace" and other humorous digs at our society because they "may be forms of communistic propaganda aimed to split the family."

To combat this communist menace, we are supposed to become terribly alert for self-preservation.

I'LL GO along with that, but are we really worth preserving if we don't work with all our hearts and minds for a recognition of common humanity?

We say we believe in the dignity of all men. Let this be the cornerstone of our fight. This is not what communists believe. Let's move out of our shells and be men of courage.

Instead of this concern with ourselves and the preservation of our way of life (which is not a static or uniform thing), let's fight communism and begin our fight for man's dignity by sympathizing with their problems, whether they be raising kids in a basement in South Chicago, living in a drafty shack near our own suburbs, or having only rotten cabbage in northern China.

Then let's search, pray, and work for a solution. Please, can't we make an attempt to live in the present?

'Good Samaritans'

This morning driving east in the icy blizzard, about 9:30 a.m. on McDonald road between Wolf and River Roads, I hit an icy stretch and my car skipped across the highway and west nose first down into a ditch.

The oncoming car I was trying to avoid stopped. The two men looked at my car, shook their heads, and agreed to go back to the gas station a mile behind to get me a truck. While I waited quietly in my car, three other cars stopped on the treacherous pavement, asking if I needed a ride to a telephone, medical aid, etc. The two men came back told me the gas station had no truck available, but that they'd flagged down a highway truck, and the drivers had promised to come and pull me out.

A FEW MINUTES later a big red truck drove up and these two men, after considerable shoveling, attaching of chains, etc., got me back on the road. I offered to pay them but they courteously declined.

I was too "shook" to get names or even thank people properly. However, it's reassuring to know that the Good Samaritan isn't an extinct breed. There's something splendid about people offering help without a thought of it ever being reciprocated. I can only thank them all, those who helped and those with good intentions, here publicly, promising to pass on their kindness-to-a-stranger when the opportunity next comes my way.

Suburbanites Aid Accident Victims

Are you aware of the wonderful consideration your townspeople give to strangers? Recently my closest friend and I were the recipients of such kindness and thoughtfulness that I would like to publicly give our thanks.

Ted Schuyler of Green Bay, Wisconsin, was critically injured in an automobile accident at Golf road and Meacham, on February 18. I stayed with Betty Schuyler at the Arlington Motel for the next five days.

This was a trying, unhappy time: made much easier to bear by the concern shown for Betty Schuyler.

To list a few: the Hosimer Motel in Mt. Prospect saw that we had a motel room in a competing motel, because we needed a telephone. They not only directed us to the Arlington Motel but called for us to see that a room would be reserved. The Arlington Motel who saw that we got our messages, brought us home from the hospital, and that final day . . . were so kind. The cab drivers, the phone operators, the waitresses who all put up with us so politely when we were so tired.

THE NORTHWEST Community hospital deserves a laurel of its own. Every person connected with that hospital went out of their way to be helpful, kind and thoughtful. Volunteers, aides, nurses and doctors: all showed us the greatest kindness.

"Thank you" seems inadequate to express our appreciation. Friends could have done no more for us than you did for strangers: we won't forget.

Wood Dale Citizen Insists He Has Given Only 'Facts'

In my every letter published in these columns, I have endeavored to acquaint the residents of Wood Dale with the true facts as they are and how they happen.

Some of the so-called answers from the individuals or groups involved should not be dignified by answering in rebuttal. It has never been my intent nor desire to contribute to or be a party to a running feud. I would not encroach on the newspaper Editor's time nor take up valuable news space.

However, Mr. Doane's recent letter reminds me of the "Tales of Parable." He spent a lot of time constructing fancy remarks but too little time acknowledging the facts.

Mr. Doane, I have never asked you nor the village for anything in the form of a personal favor.

IN THE SECOND paragraph of your letter, you state that from the first week you were in office you were aware of my sewer problem. Mr. Doane, I had no sewer problem. My sewer was installed and operating efficiently. My problem was with the village's ill-constructed manhole and lift station which flooded my property and brought out the epochal "Sandbag" quotation by our mayor. You also stated that in the months that followed you made referrals of my complaints to the village engineer, sewer contractor, and council members. You infer that all inquiries are complaints. In all my council meeting attendance not once did you or any member of the village hierarchy offer to sit down and mediate as friends and neighbors should in a town of three thousand. Instead, I was rebuffed and even asked by the engineer to write him a letter. And one commissioner asked me with a sneery smile "What do you want us to do?

It was only after my contact with the DuPage county health department and their subsequent referral to the Illinois Sanitary Water Board that the village officials realized that it was not a complaint they had on their hands. The many letters written to me by the county and state, copies of which the village received, testified to the seriousness of the situation. These two governmental bodies did not consider opening a "crank" file of two uninfluential voters, as you suggest. Instead, correspondence between the two Boards, copies of which were sent to you and me, indicated a serious situation, calling for immediate remedial measures.

Mr. Doane, you admit that I was a stranger to you when you took office. Then surely I would have no quarrel with you. In my letter regarding the court hearing on the vehicle tax you were mentioned as being present along with the other politicians. If you took offense at being classified as a politician, the implication was only through association. My letter did not ask why you or the others were at the Court hearing. I and 631 others knew why everyone was there.

YOUR REASON for leaving a lucrative teaching position as you stated is strictly your personal secret and no cause to bring out the "crying towel." It is regrettable though that a talented educator should turn politician.

It is my hope that you have the talent to convince your colleagues that they are governing a town of three thousand, not three million, and they have the revenue of $60,000 and not $6,000,000, and practice, not preach, "economy" and not "deficit" spending.

Dogs, Meter Readers Still in 'Conflict'

The classic conflict between dogs and meter readers still is carried on, according to Mrs. Dorcas Ruggio, 3727 Oriole, Rolling Meadows.

Mrs. Ruggio was brought to the emergency room of Northwest Community hospital last weekend after a dog bit her right leg while she was reading a meter.

Another conflict was found at the emergency room last week — a fight between school doors and children's thumbs. Losers in the battle were Marian Hinsberger, 6, 1005 W. Miner, Arlington Hts., and Denis Ahlborn, 14, 419 N. Russell, Mt. Prospect. Both children received fractured thumbs. Splints were applied at the emergency room.

Coins in the stomach and chalk in the nose were the typical childhood accidents which brought two young Rolling Meadows children to the emergency room. Timothy Howard, 5, 3700 Dove, swallowed a coin which was retrieved with induced vomiting. Colette Radcliffe, 3603 Bluebird, had a piece of chalk removed from her nose.

NOT ONLY coins were swallowed by children. Joseph Conrad, 1½, of 931 S. Fletcher dr., Wheeling, drank diluted bleach. Patty Lou Clexton and Mitchell Burbank, both 4 and both living at 2606 School dr., Rolling Meadows, ate baby aspirin. All of the children had their stomachs washed in the hospital emergency room.

Burns brought two small children to the emergency room last week. Michael Jackson, 2½, of 133 Bobby lane, Mt. Prospect, received second-degree burns from hot water. Tiny Patricia Smith, 7½ months old, of 139 Maple ct., Palatine, was found saturated in ammonia. She was treated for first and second degree burns on her chest and abdomen and first degree burns on her arms and legs.

Sticks and knives still prove to be real dangers for children. Four-year-old Greg Zolp, 665 Clarendon ct., Arlington Heights, punctured the palm of his hand with a knife. Surgical repair was needed by Karen Smith, 2½, of 2200 Hawk lane, Rolling Meodows, after she fell on a stick, puncturing the roof of her mouth.

BROKEN BONES resulting from falls brought three patients to the emergency room. Eleven-year-old Carol Burmeister, 119 Audrey lane, Mt. Prospect, fell from a horse and fractured her right arm. Mrs. Agnes Stott, 35 W. Johnson, Palatine, fell on ice, fracturing her right leg. Thomas Haase, 18, of Lexington Fields Estates, Palatine, fractured his right leg.

Facial and head cuts brought several young patients to the hospitaal emergency room where the lacerations were treated, stitched and dressed. Ronald Joyce, 2, of 615 Maple lane, Elk Grove Village fell and cut his lip through on a table. Catherine Kozakiewicz, 2, of 218 N. Lincoln, Arlington Heights fell against a curtain rod cutting the side of her forehead. Falls against tables brought Thomas Paulson, 18 months, of 234 N. Stevenson, Mt. Prospect, and Scott McCratic, 20 months, of 1002 N. Dryden, Arlington Heights, to the hospital. Both children had forehead lacerations. Four-year-old Victor Edwards, 42 Wildwood, Prospect Heights, cut the back of his head when he fell at home. A cut on his forehead was suffered by William Thrasher, 2½, of 919 N. Kennicott, Arlington Heights, when he fell at home.

Cuts were not limited to children. Norman Landrus, 246 E. Village dr., North Lake, received a five-inch laceration on his left thigh while at work. Mrs. Idella Craik, 10 Northwest hwy., Palatine, cut her hand while doing dishes at work. Cutting her wrist on a broken glass door brought Mrs. Carol Loomis, 359 Maureen dr., Wheeling, to the emergency room. Jack Wissert, 250 E. Chicago, Palatine, caught his fingers in a machine at work receiving abrasions and bruises. While working Mrs. Gertrade Andresen, 216 S. Judson, Bensenville, cut her thumb.

An eye injury came as the result of a fire and explosion at work for Mrs. Mary Johnson, 916 Wildwood, Prospect Heights. Eye medication was applied at the emergency room. (A-13

'Pretty' Imposter Is Dud as Movie Success

By JIM PHILLIPS

I know many people who were counting the months until a film studio released some sort of a whirligig about roving impersonator Waldo Demara—well, those people can stop counting.

Universal - International has accomplished the feat, and that's about all. "The Great Imposter" turns out to be nothing more than a collection of events — exactly what Demara's so - called biography consists of. Tony Curtis is a much too - good-looking job - jumper to bring any shade of realism into this unfunny story of a guy I would call slightly daffy.

WALDO'S escapades start in the army—(don't everyones?). He goes AWOL, makes make-believe out of a few credentials and ends up as a Marine officer. At this point the FBI goes Demara hunting, but to no avail, for poor, misguided (or is it guided?) Waldo is already a Trappist Monk.

From monastery to military prison is quite a haul, but our hero makes it; and while he's doing time with the iron bar rank - and - filers, Waldo is also sneaking around the warden's office because way back in his gray matter is some sort of whacky desire to get a job as warden in a Texas prison. He does so, then runs off to the Royal Canadian Navy.

Is he going to play torpedo-tube painter, or make believe he's a galley stove, or possibly take refuge on the poop deck of some Canadian garbage scow? Nope—this time he's fancied himself a salt - water Dr. Kildare, performing operations in the midst of battle, making himself a hero (no doubt Waldo was called a lot of other things, too, at this point), etc. It isn't long before he's on the spot again, then exposed for what he really is—what the heck is he?

NO MATTER how you look at "The Great Imposter," from balcony or front row center, the picture is just not a front-runner as a comedy. Tony Curtis is certainly no Jack Lemmon, and the life of disquise-donner Demara is no solid foundation on which to attempt comedy. Furthermore, I doubt whether Waldo got anywhere near some of the pulchritude Tony is faced with in "Imposter." Capsule Comment: "What're ya, some kind of a nut or somethin'?"

Sanctuary: here's a real gullet - grabber that proves what originally comes out of William Faulkner doesn't necessarily end up William Faulkner. Produced by Twentieth Century Fox and directed by Tony Richardson, "Sanctuary" is another tipsyfied look at the South—Ah say, the deep South, that is!

Society slinker Temple Drake (Lee Remick) has an affair with a slick no-account named Candy (Yves Montand), who spends his spare time making lacquered liquor.

Temple falls in love with Candy, and Candy is supposedly killed, thereby caus- Temple to emotionally break down.

Seeing that there's nothing worse than a broken - town Temple, society - Samaritan Gowan (Bradford Dillman) marries her. Before you can say "pass the buckwheats," Candy returns, as alive as a decay-germ on a TV-toothpaste commercial. This brings us back to the beginning of the whole 95 proof mess.

Temple runs off with Candy. And to make sure everyone in the audience is completely confused, there's Temple's maid, Nancy, (played by Odetta) who kills Temple's baby—at this point, lacking a Doctorate in Psychology, I'm unable to explain why she does the horrible thing—perhaps it is William Faulkner's way of telling us that salvation is rooted in sacrifice. At any rate, Gowan and Temple do get back together and make a bid for happiness.

"Sanctuary" is typical of the Deep South motion picture we've been experiencing during the last few years. There is psychology in it — there is booze, there is a schnooky hero - villian type, and schnooky villian - hero type, and of course, the confused, slightly love - happy heroine.

Miss Remick is not the mature Faulkner female—she is rather a honey - dripping, pupils-in-the-eyes edition of Little Orphan Annie. Yves Montand is still French, no matter how you get him to roll his "you-alls." He comes off well as a lover, but not the Faulkner type. Bradford Dillman is excellent in his role of the naive husband, and Odetta proves she's an actress with poise as well as talent.

"Sanctuary" as a modern-day dramatic film, however, is not the kind of thing to see after a good home cooked meal. Producer Dick Zanuck can certainly spend his time digging better things out of the magnolia-blossomed air of the good ol' Southland. Capsule Comment: "Oh, Ah'm Glad Ah Ain't In De Land O' Cotton, Cause Things Down Dere Is Mighty Rotten, Look Away, Look Away, Look Away, Movieland!" Take Medieval Trip To Chicago Museum

by LUCILE ERNST

Would you like to take a trip back in time? You can, and if you have a romantic bone in your body, you will have had a very real adventure.

Not long ago I took 24 children on a field trip to the Beorge F. Harding Museum in Chicago. It is located at 4853 South Lake Park Avenue. I will admit any field trip with 24 children contains an element of adventure. I counted them carefully at odd moments and came up two short. With growing terror, I recounted, only to see a couple of pair of laughing eyes peering from behind a bus seat. I guess it is worth it just to see the same eyes shining when history becomes real instead of just something to study.

THIS IS precisely what happened. The Harding Museum is a beautiful old home with a stone castle built on the back.

There are so many things to see one could spend a week and never see it all. One room is filled with medieval weapons, spears, maces, crossbows, lances and daggers. There are more than 400 specimens of various weapons displayed.

The 58 suits of armor and the numerous odd helmets, breast-plates, gauntlets and similar pieces tell the story of metal-clad warriors in Europe from the days of chain mail until armor was driven from the field by firearms. Battle axes, swords, halberds and maces depict the development of weapons of the middle ages. The collection of armor and firearms include pieces which are among the finest in the world.

FROM a balcony we looked down upon armored knights astride their horses. All around the balcony are figureheads from ancient ships. It was like walking into a middle age world.

And now for the art. There is a room filled with Frederic Remington's paintings. His early paintings are monochromes done as illustrations for books, including his own writings, for magazine articles and for newspapers during the Spanish American war. The pictures include seven in oil color. Eight bronzes of Remington's are exhibited, including his first sculpture, "The Broncho Buster."

What really thrilled me were the many Medieval primitive paintings. There are many early Spanish paintings which are among the best I've ever seen. My little charges were most impressed by one of these. I'm afraid it was not so much the art work as the fact that the painting pictured a gentleman who had just suffered the indignity of having his head removed.

TO THOSE who love art there is about the Harding Museum the fun of a side street antique shop, very real art treasures mixed with paintings and hand work that was collected quite simply because it was loved.

Nine hundred years ago man walked the earth, a strange creature who is difficult to understand. Any child knows more than his kings did. Any child would laugh at his pretensions. Yet he did live and left behind him a few talisman. When we see his pathetic remnants, suddenly he comes alive again.

If you have lost the ability to be thrilled by anything, take a child and look at his face. (Bill

Legends, Controversy Surround St. Patrick

This year marks the fifteen hundredth anniversary of the death of St. Patrick — historical authorities have set 461 A.D. as the year of his death.

Through the centuries, many legends and controversies have arisen surrounding the life of St. Patrick.

Almost as many countries claim the honor of having been the natal soil of St. Patrick, for example, as made a similar claim with respect to Homer. Scotland, England, France and Wales have each furnished their respective pretentions.

WHATEVER doubts may obscure his birthplace, however, he came from a patrician family, as his name implies.

When St. Patrick was 16 years old, he was carried off by pirates, who later sold him into slavery in Ireland. His master worked him as a swineherd on the well-known mountain of Sleamish, in the county of Antrim. Here St. Patrick lived for seven years, acquiring a knowledge of the Irish language, as well as their manners, habits and customs.

St. Patrick eventually escaped from captivity and after many adventures reached the Continent, where he was successfully ordained deacon, priest and bishop. With the authority of Pope Celestine, St. Patrick, once more, returned to Ireland, to preach the gospel to its then heathen inhabitants.

THE HISTORY of St. Patrick's Day is mostly legendary history. Probably the most famous fete associated with St. Patrick was his driving the snakes out of Ireland.

However, a little known but cute legend is associated with this event.

It is said, that when banishing the snakes and toads from Ireland, in the Gaultie mountains situated between the counties of Cork and Tipperary, St. Patrick chained a monster serpent in a lake called Lough Dilueen, telling him that he would remain there until Monday. However, St. Patrick never returned to free the serpent and on every Monday morning, it is said, the serpent calls out in Irish: "It is a long Monday, Patrick!"

That St. Patrick chained the serpent and that the serpent calls out to him every Monday morning, is still firmly believed by those who live in the neighborhood of the Lough.

ONE OF the better known of all the legends dealing with St. Patrick, is how he was responsible for the Shamrock becoming the familiar Irish emblem.

The legend, which has been recounted in the famous Rust Craft "Legend Series" of greeting cards, reads: "Long ago, when Ireland was the land of the Druids, there was a great Bishop, Patrick, by name, who came to teach the word of God throughout the country.

"This Saint, for he was indeed a saint, was well-loved everywhere he went. One day, however, a group of his followers came to him and admitted that it was difficult for them to believe in the doctrine of the Holy Trinity.

"St. Patrick reflected a moment and then stooping down he plucked a leaf from the Shamrock and held it before them, bidding them to behold the living example of this 'three-in-one.'

"The simple beauty of this explanation convinced these skeptics and from that day the shamrock has been revered throughout Ireland."

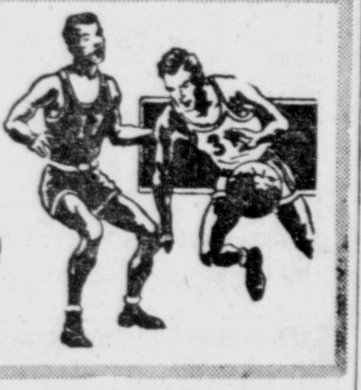
KICKIN' IT AROUND



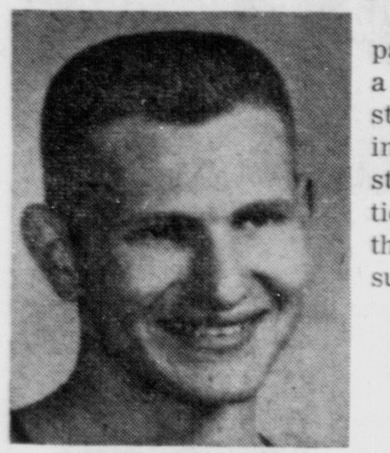
by BOB FRISK

ONLY TWO ILLINOIS high school association quintets will have winning streaks intact by the time the firing subsides Saturday evening in the prep hardwood extravaganza at George Huff gymnasium in Champaign.

One of those teams will be the state basketball champion for the 1960-61 season.

The other will be the third best quintet in Illinois.

Seven hundred and twenty-nine high school squads, including the state tourney runnerup, will have bowed out of basketball competition with defeats. For some squads the end didn't come soon enough. For others it came too soon!



TED CAIAZZA

In any respect, the pressure-packed state tourney will provide a fitting climax to another outstanding campaign. Annually an impressive attraction, the 1961 state affair should be no exception. Eight of the finest teams in the state will battle for basketball supremacy.

Only undefeated teams ever to survive the tournament trail to a state championship were Taylorville, which copped 45 straight in 1944; Mt. Vernon, which won 33 in a row in 1950; LaGrange, which had 29 straight in 1953; and Marshall of Chicago which won 30 consecutive games in 1958.

Five other teams went into the championship finale undefeated, only to meet first loss. In 1922 Atwood's perfect record was nipped by Centralia, 24-16, in the final. Decatur did it to Danville, 26-22, in 1936, while in 1942 Paris, previously unbeaten, fell before Centralia, 35-33. DuSable of Chicago had a perfect mark of 31 straight in 1954 but lost in the title test to Mt. Vernon, 76-70. Collinsville won 34 straight contests in 1957 before losing in the finals to Herrin, 45-42.

ANY LIST OF the greatest high school teams turned out in this state would have to include those four classy outfits which stormed through the entire campaign without a defeat.

Johnny Orr, Ron Bontemps, and Schulte Bishop were the key figures on that 1944 Taylorville powerhouse which rolled over Elgin, 56-33, in the title contest. Taylorville opened with an easy 52-34 win over East St. Louis, then handled Kewanee and Champaign on the way to the showdown with Elgin.

When Mt. Vernon rolled past 33 foes and annexed the 1950 crown with an unblemished record, it was 6-5 Max Hooper who paved the way. The talented Hooper, who later played for Illinois, poured through 36 points in the 85-61 title conquest of Danville as the Rams copped their second straight state championship.

Joining Hooper on that brilliant Mt. Vernon club were such standouts as Johnny Riley, Walt Moore, Eddie King, and Bob Brown. Riley chipped in with 15 in the final game.

IN 1953 LaGrange's Lions, the finest high school basketball team we've ever seen in action, made a shambles of the state tourney as they overwhelmed four sweet sixteen opponents by margins of 17, 32, 13, and 12 points.

Big Ted Caiazza, a 6-8 junior, collected 121 counters in those four tourney victories for a scoring mark that still stands. Caiazza opened with 31 against DuSable, netted 38 against St. Theresa of Decatur, and finished with 27 against Pinckneyville and 25 against Peoria Central.

Although Caiazza had some able teammates in 6-4 Joel McRae, 6-1 Leon McRae, 5-11 Nate Smith, and 6-0 Chuck Sedgwick, he still was the key man insofar as Greg Sloan's Lions were concerned. In the nine tournament games, regional through state, Ted popped in 266 points for a 29.6 ppg.

Isadore (Spin) Salario brought a talented Marshall high school team into the 1958 state tourney with a 26-0 standard. The classy Commandos checked out with a 30-0 mark after bumping Rock Falls, 70-64, in the finale.

George Wilson, then a sophomore, was a key figure for the Marshall entry, but Salario had some other talented performers as the Commandos became the first Chicago entry ever to win a state crown.

Taylorville in 1944, Mt. Vernon in 1950, LaGrange in 1953, and Marshall in 1958 four big names and four great champions! The only unbeaten champs!

The best of all time? Maybe not but those are pretty impressive records.

Mustang Dreams Crushed

by DICK GOTTSEGEN

Thornton high of Harvey overcame an almost disastrous case of state tourney jitters Tuesday night and rolled on to destroy Morton, 48-36, at the Hinsdale supersectional.

By virtue of that all-important triumph, the South Suburban Conference Wildcats clawed their way into the quarter-finals of the 1961 Illinois basketball scramble this weekend at Champaign.

Opposing Thornton in that quarter-final showdown, slated for 9 p.m. Friday, will be Springfield high, conqueror of Monmouth, 58-48, in the Springfield sub-state test.

The Thornton-Springfield clash will be preceded by the Marshall-Schlarman affair at 8:15 p.m. The semi-finals are set for 1:15 p.m. and 2:45 p.m. Saturday with the consolation and championship games set for 7:30 and 9 respectively Saturday evening.

UP UNTIL the waning moments of the third period, it appeared as though Morton was well on its way downstate. The Cicero Mustangs forged ahead late in the initial session and held that lead until Thornton deadlocked matters at 27-all just prior to the concluding third quarter buzzer.

Al Dehnert connected on a drive seconds after the fourth period tip and that was it as far as the Mustangs were concerned.

Larry Mack converted a charity toss for the losers but successive buckets by Jack Dabon, Bob Caress, Ray Banks and Leon Clark without a return from Morton iced the issue.

OFFENSIVELY, it was, for all intents and purposes, a one-man show for Thornton. Six-foot-six-inch Clark stuffed in eight baskets and four free throws for 20 counters, or almost half of the entire Wildcat offensive production.

Yet, victory probably would not have been possible without the excellent defensive effort turned in by Will Henry.

Assigned the difficult task of throttling Mack, Morton's number one scorer during the season, Henry responded by limiting the Mustang star to a meager two baskets in the first half.

Jim Vopicka, son of Morton's coach, was tops for the losers with 16. Mack counted 11 points in all for the contest.

PROSPECT HIGH'S All-Stater, forward George Pomey, looks for an opening in first half action of the Arlington sectional tourney opener last week. On defense for the Crystal Lake Tigers are Bob Falkenberg (25) and Jim Resulek. Crystal Lake edged the Knights, 59-57, in a double overtime and advanced into the sectional finale.

York High Gymnasts Capture State Title

The big three in Illinois high school gymnastics last winter repeated this year only in a reverse order.

In the 1960 state meet at Willowbrook high Arlington came home the winner for the second straight year with Proviso East second and York third.

In the 1961 state finals, staged last Saturday at New Trier in Winnetka, York's Dukes picked off the top prize with Proviso East runnerup again and Arlington third.

A HALF-POINT separated York and Proviso in one of the tightest state meets on record. The Dukes picked up 75½ markers and the Pirates collected 75. Proviso had finished 5½ points off the pace in 1960.

Although Arlington didn't register its third straight state championship, Coach Gay Hughes' outfit did boast of three individual titlists and a creditable third place finish.

Willowbrook finished 1½ points behind East Leyden in fifth place and Coach Rick Farris' Prospect Knights, eighth in 1960, came in sixth this year with 28½ counters.

THE ONLY three defending individual champions, all from Arlington, lived up to expectations with solid performances in their specialties.

Gary Erwin headed the Trampolinists for the second straight year as did Dick Wetzel on the side horse. Bill Sayre, defending champ in tumbling, didn't lose his crown but had to settle for a first place tie with Doug Reynolds of Pekin.

Erwin put on a brilliant show and for the second straight year shared in the top individual score with teammate Sayre. The judges gave Gary scores of 93 and 94 and the two best ratings gave the talented Arlington senior a 187 total.

BOTH SAYRE and Pekin's Reynolds recorded 187 scores in tumbling as they tied for state honors. Wetzel's title-winning 183 count gave him a comfortable 13-point margin over runnerup Mila of Proviso East.

Rounding out the individual champions in the 1961 meet were York's Glen Gailis in the all-around and on the parallel bars and Bob Fontana on the high bar. Proviso East's Joe Carusiello topped the field on the still rings.

Also scoring for Hughes' Arlington Cardinals were John Rush with a tie for eighth in tumbling, junior Jerry Russell with an impressive third on the parallel bars, and junior Bob Cordaro with a sixth on the Trampoline.

PROSPECT'S top finish was registered by Ray Stroble with a third on the Tramp.

Picking up the Knights' other markers were Jim Oldham with a seventh in tumbling, Dave Price with a ninth on the high bar, Bill Palmer with a fourth on the parallel bars, Dick Lebenow with a seventh on rings, and Paul Shaw with a seventh on the Tramp.

Price finished tenth in the rough all-around event, three points out of sixth and only nine from fifth.

Chicago Champion Decisions Bulldogs

by BOB FRISK

Although they showed little of the class evident on the 1960 state champions, Marshall's rangy Commandos still earned a trip downstate Tuesday afternoon with a 56-55 victory over Waukegan's battling Bulldogs in Northwestern's McGaw hall.

The super-sectional decision, accomplished before 8,200 fans, boosted Marshall's season mark to 25-4 and sent the Chicago Public league titlist into the Elite Eight of Illinois high school basketball.

Coach Harvey Hartenstein's Commandos will open play in the crucial state playoffs this Friday evening at 7:30 at the University of Illinois' Huff gymnasium. Marshall will be shooting for its third state crown in four years and second straight schoolboy championship.

EVEN IN victory over a strong Waukegan quintet the defending state champs didn't look impressive. This club just isn't the same without All-Stater George Wilson, and it will have to play some sharper basketball this weekend to reach the coveted top rung of the prep hardwood scene.

Jim Pitts, a 6-7½ senior, and Charley Jones, a 6-1 senior, were the boys mainly responsible for giving Marshall another crack at a state title.

Pitts, only a reserve last season, popped in 17 markers against Waukegan, hitting seven of seven from the field, and turned in a strong game on the boards. Jones came through with some clutch points in the final half when the Suburban league Bulldogs threatened to overtake the Commandos.

EDDIE JAKES, the 6-0 guard who was such a standout on the 1959-60 outfit, collected only eight points Tuesday and that wasn't for lack of trying. The senior backcourt performer fired up 16 shots and connected on just three in a sub-par exhibition.

But it was Jakes who countered two crucial free throws with 17 seconds remaining that put Marshall ahead by three and insured the super-sectional decision.

Waukegan had been down but not out throughout most of the contest and battled back to take the lead at 53-52 with 1:16 remaining on reserve Jim Brown's layup. Jones then put Marshall back on top with two charity tosses and Waukegan took over with 1:03 remaining in the game.

THE BULLDOGS worked the ball around, trying to set up that one good shot, but a pass went astray and the Commandos gained control with 28 seconds showing on the clock and a one-point lead.

With 17 seconds remaining Jakes was fouled by Ken Gehrke, and he promptly canned both free throws, giving Marshall a 56-53 cushion.

Waukegan called a time out and with six seconds left Gehrke netted a fielder from the side but it wasn't enough. The city champs had come through with the big victory and had earned another trip to Champaign-Urbana for the state tournament.

MARSHALL held the lead throughout most of Tuesday's encounter with Waukegan grabbing an abbreviated one-point advantage midway in the opening stanza. With Pitts collecting a drive and free throw in the closing seconds the Commandos went into the second period with a 16-11 margin.

Hartenstein's crew opened up a seven-point lead at the outset of the second quarter but Waukegan never gave up. The Bulldogs fought back and with 1:49 remaining before halftime they climbed within one.

The two clubs traded points before Pitts tossed in a nifty hook that put Marshall up by three, 28-25, at the intermission.

WAUKEGAN couldn't pass the Commandos but stayed within striking distance throughout the third stanza, then made its move in the final five minutes of the game.

It just wasn't enough though and Marshall wrapped up the crucial victory.

Glidden Paces Prospect High In Track Win

Senior Jim Glidden picked up three individual firsts and ran on a winning relay team to spark Prospect high school's varsity track team to a convincing 55 2/3 to 40 1/3 victory over Downers Grove Monday afternoon.

Glidden won both the high jump and broad jump and finished in a tie for first in the 50 yard dash. He teamed with Rog Luedke, Brad Blair, and George Renner for a snappy 3:45.5 clocking in the 12-lap relay.

The victory was the third straight in dual competition for Coach Bob Scott's Prospect Knights.

THE HOSTS took ten firsts in the indoor test in their final tuneup before Friday's big Evanston Relays. Other individual winners for the Knights included Jim Peters in the shot put, Tom Flynn in the pole vault, Mike Field with a tie in the high hurdles, Gordon Buchanan in the lows, Luedke in the 880, and Cliff Stock in the mile run.

Prospect's trackmen are hooked up in the Evanston Relays on Friday and the Frosh Invitational at Evanston on Saturday and next week will travel to Waukegan for a dual test at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

IN MOST DISCUSSIONS with spectators, officials, coaches, and sports writers about the playing of a basketball game the principal topic is "how the game was officiated." There usually is a great difference of opinion as to whether the officiating was good or bad. No matter whether on the home town level, state tournament, or college level the difference of opinion will always exist.

Basketball is a hard game to officiate because of the speed and decisions to be made. Contributing to the problem is the fact that some of the rules change each year. Fans are not up on rules interpretations. Fans sit in a good position to see violations, often looking down on the play from a better angle than the officials.

Most fans think they know all about how to call a game though they have never tried it. It is easy to second guess and whenever the call is against their team it must be wrong. Different officials, unfortunately, call the game differently. Some call them very close, others are lax, and some do not work hard enough to be in the right spot for a good decision. We believe that all men who officiate are honest in their work. Some, however, have much better judgment in making their calls and do so in a manner which demonstrates authority and confidence in themselves. This attitude helps win fan support.

The good official is not bothered by a noisy crowd. It makes no difference to him in his calls whether they are against the home team or the visitors. If he allows local pressure or crowd displeasure to affect his work he has no place in the officiating fraternity. The game of basketball is not becoming an easier one to officiate and at the same time it is our opinion, after watching a number of games this year, that the quality of work is declining.

Officiating in the regional at Prospect was exceptionally fine as is the case of the state sponsored tournaments since the referees are carefully screened for these events. However the run of the mill in the North Suburban Conference was not up to par. We hope that the league commissioner does a better job of selecting them this next year or the raise in fee to $25 a man of a year ago was not worth the extra money.

ON MARCH 25 Waukegan fans are having a testimonial dinner to honor Al Grosche who retired last spring as baseball coach at Waukegan High after 35 years directing teams at the Lake County school. Grosche was a star infielder for the University of Illinois back in the early twenties. In this area he is best known as an outstanding referee of football and basketball for over a quarter of a century.

I have known Al for 30 years and along with Mike Rose of North Chicago he is in my special group of officials who had that something that makes for success in handling sports events.

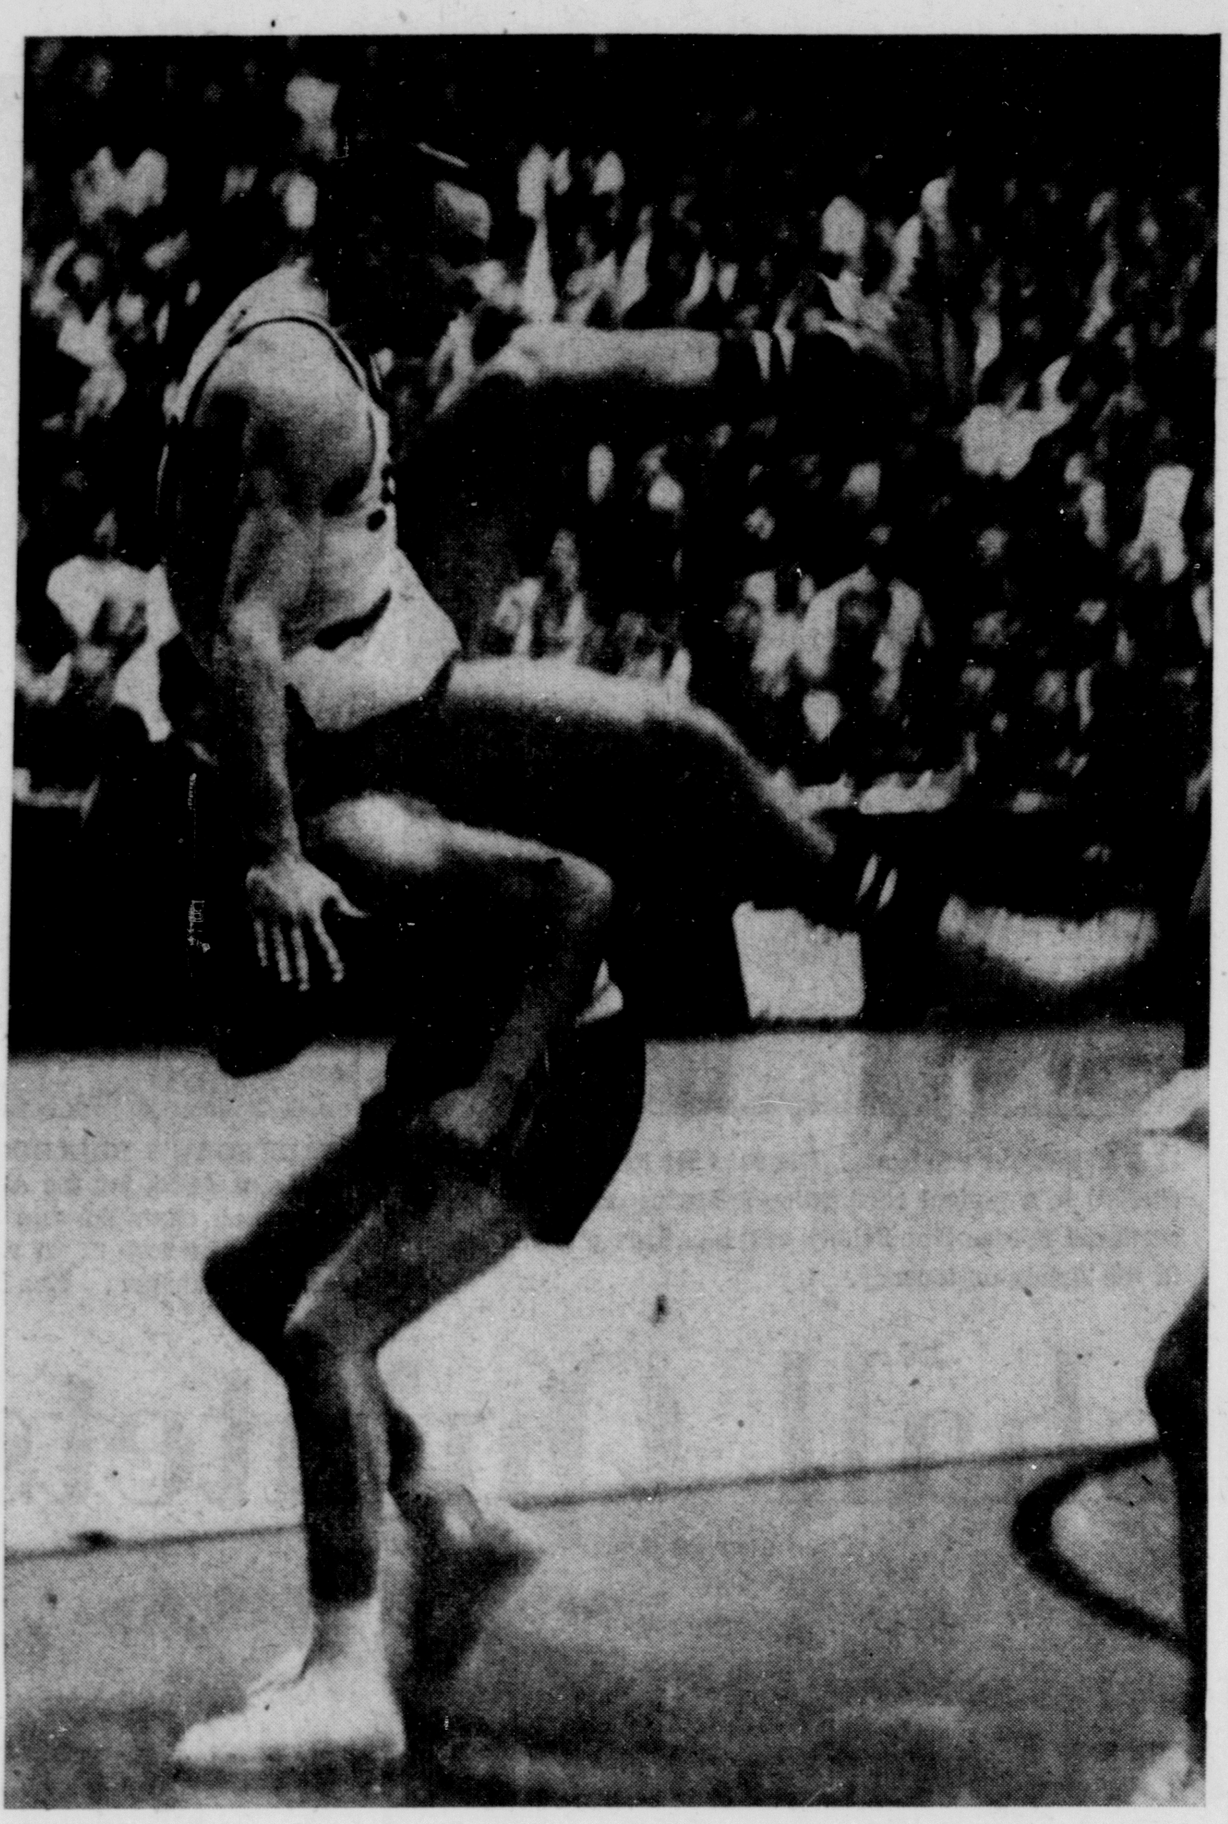
Both men were tops in their knowledge of the rules, used unusually fine judgment in calling infractions, and at all times retained a sense of humor and friendly attitude toward the boys and coaches which caused them to be respected by all including even the critical fans. A bit of booing and criticism from the fans never brought anything but a smile from these men who operated on the philosophy that some yelling and criticism is a part of the game.

20 YEARS AGO

Palatine closed the season in basketball with a flock of records. The varsity won 23 and lost 3 and the lightweights won 14 and lost 4. McElroy coached both squads. Since the graduating varsity has been in school Palatine has won 2 conference varsity championships, 2 lightweight championships, and 2 district tournaments. Palatine in the past 4 years has won 72 and lost 14 varsity games while the lightweights have a 44-20 record. This year's team established a record of 16 straight wins on the home court and the record may be extended next season. The varsity team maintained a B average scholastically with Hollinger, Hahnfeldt, and DeBerge on the honor roll all through high school. Palatine scored an average of 40.6 to opponents' 23 points a game. It was Palatine's first undefeated championship and the most games won by Palatine cage teams in a single season . . . Arlington, Bensenville and Palatine are entered Saturday in the Naperville Relays. Palatine has outstanding track prospects with 16 returning lettermen from a squad which was undefeated in dual meets last season.

10 YEARS AGO

Arlington wrestlers closed the first season of the sport with 2 victories. Leading wrestlers were Bob Schulze and Norbert Leckband. George Torhan coached the squad . . . Arlington faculty featuring Grace, Bell, Ormsbee, Larsen, Conrad, Thon, Carr, and Waara defeated the "A" club 30-2 in their annual contest . . . Freeport with a 27-2 record is favored to take the state tourney this weekend . . . Hinsdale with 9 losses during the season topped Morton and LaGrange in overtimes to go to the state in startling upsets. Oak Park loser of 10, is also going to the state tourney . . . Coach Welty has only 7 veterans and will be hard pressed to take the Northwest Conference track meet this year, making it 4 in a row.



THE CAMERA OF Paddock photog Bob Finch caught this unusual action in first half of Crystal Lake's stunning 59-57 victory over Prospect in last week's sectional opener. Going over the back of the Tigers' Kendall Smith is Prospect's Fred Lussow.

Busy Weekend Faces Local Cinder Units

A busy weekend faces trackmen at Arlington and Prospect high schools as the Cardinals launch their indoor campaign and Knights continue on their extensive cinder program, which opened three weeks ago.

Both schools will be engaged in the Evanston Relays this Friday, March 17, at 6 p.m. while the frosh cindermen will compete in the Evanston Invitational Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

In addition to the two big meets at Evanston this weekend, Coach Russ Attis' Arlington squads will be in action at the outset of next week. The frosh will travel to Maine for a meet at 4:30 p.m. Monday and the varsity and frosh-soph units will travel to Evanston Tuesday to kick off dual competition at 4:30.

COACH BOB Scott's Prospect Knights will be at Waukegan next Tuesday afternoon for varsity and frosh-soph affairs at 4 p.m.

Attis indicated his probable varsity alignment for the Evanston Relays and will go with Rog Freise in the broad jump, Dale Coventry and Dan Jennings in the shot put, and John Burgermeister and Jim Clabaugh in the high jump.

SOPH AL McDonald and junior Tom Wilmotte will be entered in the pole vault with John Latta and Dan Bedford handling both hurdle events.

Soph Joe Wertheimer and Clabaugh are expected to run the 50 yard dash with a two-mile relay squad of Tim Smith, Bob Dodge, Robin Auld, and Jack Mutti. Dick Beckman, Clabaugh and Wortheimer will make up three-fourths of the varsity four-lap unit with the fourth slot a question-mark.

Jim Hendricks and Rog Fredrickson will give Attis two capable entries in the mile run, and Tom Tully, Bob Splitberger, Rich Carlson, and Greg Bucyznski will work in the frosh-soph mile relay.

SPLITBERGER, Mike East, Ron Harstad, and Carlson will represent Arlington in the frosh sprint relay, and the varsity mile relay alignment will include Beckman, Mutti, Wertheimer, and Smith.

For Prospect high school Jim Glidden and Rog Owen will be in the broad jump with Glidden and Gordon Buchanan in the high jump. Jim Peters and Bruce Andrise are set for the shot put.

TOM FLYNN and soph Danny Johnson will handle the pole vault for Scott's Knights with Greg Field and Dennis Leonard in the high hurdles and Tom Petrosino and Buchanan in the lows.

Cliff Stock and Bob Koenig will be in the mile run, and Keith Voigt and Pat O'Keefe will vie for honors in a crack 50-yard dash field.

Insofar as the relay units, Scott plans to go with Rog Luedke, Freyer, George Renner, and Brad Blair in the two mile event and with Jay Magnuson, Jim McMillan, Mark Wolf, and Gary Davison in the frosh four-lapper.

THE LINEUP for the varsity four-lap relay is a definite question-mark with the quartet to be selected from among Voigt, Dick Lebenow, Rich Bachhuber, Buchanan, Keith Grams, Leonard, O'Keefe, and Owen.

Gary Marks, John Carsello, Ken Reed, and John Orr will make up the frosh-soph mile relay team with Glidden, Luedke, Brad Blair, and Renner in the varsity mile relay.

Knights Bump Palatine High In Indoor Test

Three fieldhouse records were broken last Thursday afternoon as Prospect high school's varsity track squad rolled to a 58-42 victory over Palatine.

The Pirates' Andy Merutka cracked the existing shot put standard and Prospect's Tom Flynn and Rog Luedke established new marks in the pole valut and 880 yard run in the indoor spectacle.

Merutka tossed the shot 54-9½ to snap the Prospect fieldhouse record of 52-8½ set last year by Palatine's Don Smith.

FLYNN vaulted 12-0 to top by six inches the former standard of 11-6, and Luedke covered the 880 in a sparkling 2:08.3, seven-tenths of a second better than the 2:09 previously turned in by Jim Glidden.

Prospect took nine of the 12 first places in its second straight dual meet decision. Coach Ron Helberg's Palatine team was opening its 1961 campaign.

Other victors for Coach Bob Scott's unit were Glidden in the high jump with a record-tieing 5-10 effort and in the broad jump, Mike Field in the high hurdles, George Renner in the 440, and Cliff Stock in the mile run. Both Prospect relay teams came in with victories.

In addition to Merutka, Palatine's firsts were claimed by Wayland Campbell in the 50 yard dash and low hurdles. Campbell covered the 50 in :05.9 and had a :07.8 clocking for the lows.

Sudden Death Finish!

Crystal Lake Tigers Stun Knights, 59-57

by TOM McSHANE

The place had all the silence of a tomb, and the death-like aura was there, weighing heavy over the impersonal gray of the locker steel.

The boys were ranged out on half a dozen benches, heads bowed low, dripping sweat, too stunned and sad to speak or cry or even shed the sticky suits of battle.

Up the steps outside the door the feet shuffled the stunned crowd to the snow-filled street. Here the tears were everywhere with the moans of disbelief.

It was a great ball game.

It ran for four quarters, an overtime, and half of another. The Prospect Knights lost it in the first eight minutes, and again many times after that. And with it a season of glory, four months of chest-racking racing from one end of countless floors to the other, and a year of growing, becoming men, and waiting for the second chance.

IT ALL vanished in storybook fashion. A young man came off a bench, played three minutes, and made two free throws. Minutes before, another young man had thrown in an impossible shot from the corner with a second left on the clock to put the battle into overtime.

It was like you read them in the books. Only this was live and real and the very end of a lot of things.

Crystal Lake beat Prospect 59-57 in a sudden-death double overtime last Wednesday, March 8, in the Arlington high school gym to advance to the finals of the Arlington sectional basketball tournament.

Coach Fran Wagner's Tigers, champions of the North Suburban conference sporting a 21-4 record going into the game, built up an 11-point halftime lead, blew it in the third and fourth quarters, and then came back in the second extra session to claim the victory on a pair of free throws by Reserve Forward Jack Weightman.

PROSPECT played one of its poorer opening quarters of the season, missing most of its shots and handling the ball poorly, as it fell behind 14-11 at the whistle.

The Knight slump continued through the first four minutes of the second period as Crystal Lake, led by some excellent shooting by Guards Jim Rosulek and Kendall Smith, poured in 13 straight points to go ahead 27-13.

Prospect, with All-Stater George Pomey coming to life, closed the gap slightly in the final minutes of the half. The scoreboard read 33-22 at the buzzer.

POMEY continued to come on strong in the third session, banging home 11 points to lead a Knight surge that lifted them within three points at 46-43 as the final period started.

Bill Zadel, Prospect's All-Conference center, who sat out most of the second and third quarter after committing four personal fouls in the first 10 minutes of play, hit two free throws as the quarter started to make it 46-45 Crystal Lake.

For the next five minutes, the Tigers clung to the lead and tension mounted.

Pomey tied it at 52-all with 2:54 left in the game. Fred Empkie put Prospect ahead 23 seconds later with a 20-footer. Gordon Bond tied it again with a 10-footer.

Pomey scored from 10 feet to give Prospect another lead, and it looked like the Knights were going to pull it out.

WITH 1:15 left, Pomey blocked a shot by Tiger Bob Falkenberg, and Prospect went into a stall. With 41 seconds left, Fred Lussew missed a free throw, and Falkenberg sank one after he was fouled in a rebound scramble. It made the score 56-55 Prospect.

Prospect tried to stall again with 35 seconds left, and managed to hold the ball for 13 seconds until Empkie was fouled. The Knight guard made the first shot, and then missed the second to give the Tigers new life.

Crystal Lake brought the ball down and tried to set up a shot with the seconds pounding by. The Tigers could not shake a man, and with five seconds left, Falkenberg took a pass in the left corner. With a man on him closely, the Crystal Lake ace jumped and threw a desperation one-hander. The ball dropped through the net with a second on the clock. The first overtime was necessary.

DURING THE three minutes of hectic action that followed, neither team scored a point, though both had many opportunities.

When the buzzer sounded, ending the extra period, the sudden death rule went into effect. The first team that scored two points would be the winner.

Once again both clubs looked shaky as they blew shots and lost the ball trying to set up that big one. Rosulek and Zadel both went to the free throw line with chances to decide it, and both boys missed. It took Weightman, the reserve forward, to spell the end.

WITH 1:20 gone in the sudden death session, Zadel fouled Weightman under the Tiger basket. The big fellow calmly dropped the first one through. The crowd seemed insane; the noise was deafening as he took aim. When the second shot sliced the net, the Crystal Lake stands surged forward at once in a smothering thunder.

It was a great ball game.

CONTROLLING this rebound for Crystal Lake is forward Jae Edwards with team-mate Gordon Bond (32) and Prospect's George Pomey (44) also involved in the action. The Tigers bounced the Knights from further tourney competition with a 59-57, double-overtime win in the Arlington sectional opener.

Bulldogs Hot in Win Over Bronchos' Five

Waukegan's talented Bulldogs methodically took apart a determined but out-classed Barrington quintet last Thursday evening and earned a shot at Crystal Lake in the title contest of the Arlington sectional basketball tourney.

Showing a packed house why it dominated the Suburban league race this winter, Coach Jack Miller's outfit turned in a steady performance in fashioning an impressive 68-53 decision.

Waukegan took a one-point lead with 20 seconds remaining in the first half and never trailed again as it wrapped up its 22nd victory in 24 games. Forward Jack Young, a 6-2 senior, popped in 26 points for a hot-shooting Bulldog squad that fired at a 62.2 clip from the floor.

FOR A GOOD part of that action-packed first half it appeared as though Barrington would match Crystal Lake, another North Suburban league entry, in sectional hardwood heroics.

Prospect and Waukegan had been favored in the pre-tourney speculation to meet in the sectional finale, but Crystal Lake took care of the Interim league powerhouse in a sudden-death thriller on Wednesday.

With Tommy Douglas putting on a brilliant show the Bronchos of Bob Madding climbed out to a 14-10 lead with 1:33 remaining in the first quarter. Waukegan narrowed the gap on fielders by Tony Seals and Young but still trailed by two heading into the second quarter.

DOUGLAS canned five baskets and two charity throws for 12 points in the opening eight minutes.

No more than four points separated the two teams at any time in the second quarter and Waukegan jumped into the lead to stay with just 20 seconds remaining before halftime. Young knifed through the Broncho defense for a layup and then came back seconds later with a jumper that gave the Bulldogs a 36-33 halftime lead.

Waukegan hit 17 of 26 shots in the first half for a 65 per cent mark and Barrington collected 14 in 30 attempts.

THE THIRD quarter and second half was all Waukegan. Young and Seals keyed an offensive explosion at the outset of that third stanza that sent the Bulldogs off and running.

With 3:16 remaining Young netted a fancy jump and Waukegan held a 45-37 lead. With little over a minute remaining in the third period the Bulldogs were on top, 52-40, and when the firing had subsided Waukegan claimed a comfortable 54-41 bulge.

TOD WATERMAN'S 15-foot jump shot accounted for Barrington's only basket in those eight minutes as the Bronchos had to rely on their work from the free throw line to keep the score within reason.

Waukegan opened up to a 15-point lead midway in the fourth quarter with Young again leading the way. Most of the final stanza was spent at the two free throw lines with Barrington showing the effects of a fast-moving ball game.

Young topped both teams with his 26 points and teammate Tony Latham, son of the school's principal, added 15. Douglas had 21 for the Bronchos and Bruce Condill contributed 13.

Seals Paces Win With 30 Markers

by BOB FRISK

Talented Tony Seals, a 6-2 jumping jack who wasn't too prominent in his first Arlington sectional appearance on Thursday, keyed a fourth period explosion Friday that sent Waukegan's high-flying Bulldogs past a scrappy Crystal Lake five and into the coveted "Sweet Sixteen" of Illinois high school basketball.

The senior sharp-shooter, author of ten points in Thursday's win over Barrington, poured through 30 markers against the North Suburban league Tigers and canned 13 straight for the Bulldogs in a fourth period rally that put them ahead to stay.

Waukegan outscored Crystal Lake 20-16 in that hectic fourth quarter and wound up with a 61-56 decision and the right to meet city champ Marshall in the sub-state battle at Northwestern's McGaw hall.

THE VICTORY was Waukegan's 16th straight of the season and 23rd overall. Coach Jack Miller's entry had won the Suburban league title and had claimed the North Chicago regional crown before rolling to the Arlington sectional championship.

Until Seals got hot it appeared that Crystal Lake would pull off its second major upset of the tournament. The North Suburban champions had bumped favored Prpspect in a sudden death thriller on Wednesday.

The Tigers' Bob Falkenberg netted a shot from the side at the outset of the fourth quarter that gave Crystal Lake a 42-41 lead but Seals tied the count with a charity toss.

WITH 6:38 remaining Jack Young collected two free throws and Waukegan held a slim, 44-42 advantage. That's when Seals took over.

The Bulldogs' hot-shooting senior collected his team's next 13 points and although Crystal Lake did manage to chip in with some markers of its own, Waukegan always met the challenge. The Suburban league squad boasted a 59-51 lead with 1:20 left and held on for the decision.

Waukegan had moved out to a quick 10-4 lead in the first quarter but Crystal Lake closed the gap and tied the count on Jae Edwards' fielder in the closing seconds.

FIRING AT a .565 clip in the first half, the Bulldogs were never headed as they raced off to a 33-27 halftime lead. Miller's classy crew was on top by nine on two occasions and looked ready to wrap up the victory by the third quarter.

But Crystal Lake had different ideas and the Tigers fought back and pulled ahead at the 3:23 mark in the third period on Jim Rosulek's free throw. The two teams battled on even terms until Young's two charity efforts gave Waukegan a 41-40 lead heading into the decisive stanza.

The Bulldogs took the lead on Young's free throws at the outset of the fourth quarter and were never headed in the closing minutes.

Crucial Position Round Test In Classic League Saturday

Cook County Mobile Homes and Bill Bond's Mens Wear will go into their position round battle in the Paddock Classic Traveling League Saturday virtually deadlocked for first place thanks to Casablanca's work Saturday night.

Cook County Mobile Homes, representing River-Rand of Des Plaines, will carry a half game lead into the clash, scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Saturday at Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling.

It could have been a wider lead but for the fact that Tommy Thomas' Casablanca five took one game and tied another against Cook County Mobile Homes as the two teams battled to a stand-off Saturday at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine, home of the Casablanca bowlers.

BILL BOND'S Mens Wear of Rolling Meadows, despite rolling 70 pins below its series average, took all three games from seventh place Timroth Plumbing of Des Plaines which had one of its poorest nights of the season.

On the other hand, Moyle Construction of Barrington waxed hot in winning all three games from Bill Cook Buick of Arlington Heights. Moyle shot the second highest series in league play, 3099, on games of 994, 1043, and 1062.

Moyle Construction, rolling out of Ten Pin in Barrington, will meet another hot team, Jeffery Lanes, in its position round match. Jeffery captured a pair from sagging fourth place Pro Sport Center of Mt. Prospect.

A NUMBER of outstanding series were rolled Saturday headed by a 684—third high among individuals this season—by Casper DeWitz of Barrington for Moyle Construction.

DeWitz bowled a 202 first game but finished third to teammates LeRoy Papineau of Lake-in-the-Hills with 215 and Chris Pulos of Crystal Lake with 214 as Moyle beat Bill Cook, 994-925. Moyle stepped up its efforts in the second game with a 1043 game, topped by a 248 game by DeWitz and 204 by Pulos.

The final game was nearly a 200 pin victory as DeWitz shot 234, Pulos 219, Papineau 209 and Ed Dudek of Wauconda 206. When all the series were in, DeWitz had 684, Pulos 637 and Papineau 623. Bill Cook also had two good men, Jim Perna of Rolling Meadows with a 646 and Russell Sack of Arlington Hts. with 625.

BOTH CASABLANCA and Cook County Mobile Homes turned in good series in their tie match. The tie came in the opener as each shot 984. Cook County Mobile Homes got a 222 game out of Ted Zimmerman, 207 out of Bob Rogers, and 200 out of Dick Nethaway, all of Des Plaines. On the other side, Casablanca's three hot-shots were more spectacular. Ron Fogarett of Palatine fired 224, and Irv Hahnfeldt of Palatine and Harvey Randolph of Northbrook both rolled 220.

George Stone of Wilmette was the man as far as Jeffery Lanes was concerned. When he rolled 214 in the first game and 228 in th third game, Jeffery won, but when he was below 200 Pro Sport Center came through with its lone victory. Stone was the only 200 bowler in the first game, but teammates Ed Melton of Northbrook and Chuck Gibson of Bensenville chipped in with 212 and 202, respectively, in the final game triumph. Ernie Koche of Hoffman Estates with 209 and Al Valentino of Rolling Meadows with 201 were the leaders in the lone win by Pro Sport Center, which bowls out of Gunnell's. Top series were 630 by Stone, 612 by Valentino and 607 by Melton.

BILL BOND'S, representing Country Lanes of Lake Zurich, bowled good enough to handle Timroth Plumbing, the Beverly Lanes of Arlington Heights entry, three times although none of its games was spectacular.

Herb Lohman of Lake Zurich posted 212 and George Radke of Mundelein 205 in the first game win. A 212 game by John Taylor of Waukegan spearheaded Bill Bond's second game triumph, and 204 by Radke was tops in the final game. Radke posted high series for Bill Bond, 598, and Warren Olson of Arlington Heights was high for Timroth with 533.

Crown Champs in Shooting Contest

Arlington Heights park district basketball players recently tested their skills in a shooting contest with nine divisions of competition.

The contestants shot free throws and short and long shots, attempting 25 of each.

In the high school age group Bill Osterman, Ralph Law, and John Ewert finished 1-2-3 in short shots with Phil Johnson, Jack Smith, and Bill Thomas topping the free throws department.

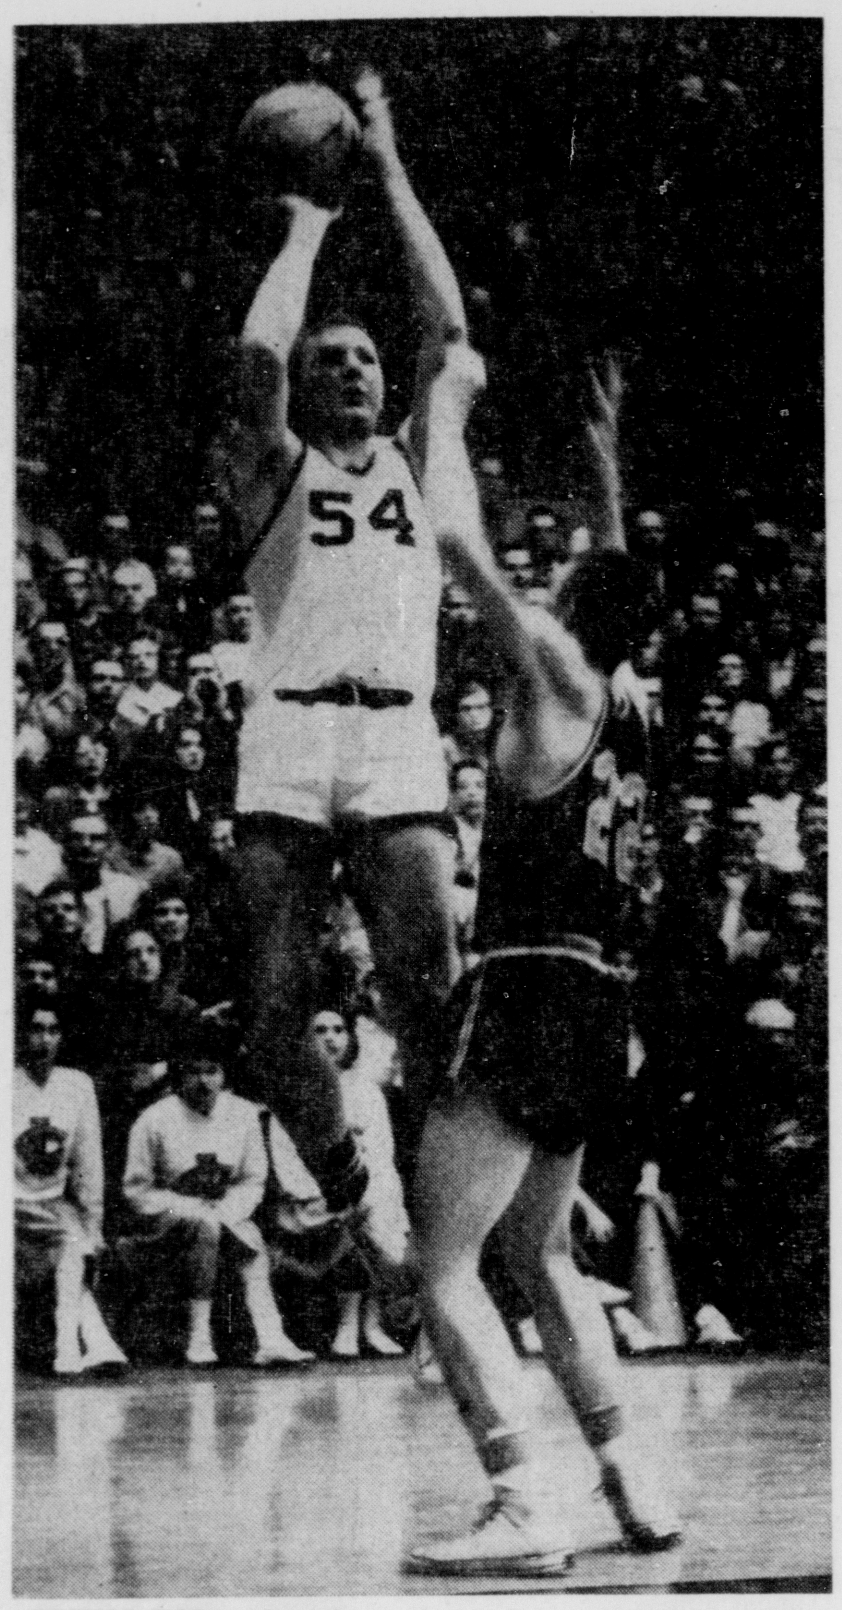
MIKE FITZPATRICK took top honors on long shots with Law second, and Ewert and Osterman tied for third.

In the Jr. high school age group Bill Wilmotte copped first in short shots with Jeff Galyon and Bob Bergstrom tied for second. Wilmotte also headed the free throws class with Mike Goodfellow and Mike Frase tied for the runnerup slot.

Don Russell, Tom Robb, and John Meyn took the top three slots on long shots.

IN THE GRADE school age group Bob Loughman and Pat Loughman tied for first in short shots with Jim Goodfellow third. Goodfellow came back to tie Bob Loughman for first in free throws.

Randy Cordova and Ed Richardson finished 1-2 on long shots with the Loughman boys tieing for third.



RISING FOR a short jump shot is Prospect high school's Dick Palmer (54) with Crystal Lake's Jae Edwards on defense. The Tigers stunned the state-ranked Knights, 59-57, in a double overtime and advanced into the finals of the Arlington sectional tourney.

Leaders in Women's Loop Win Two Games

The two leading teams in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League, Vernon Hills Restaurant and Morton Pontiac, kept pace with one another as they placed distance between themselves and the rest of the league Saturday night.

Vernon Hills Restaurant, bowling on its home Country Lanes in Lake Zurich Saturday, after losing the opener, came back to capture the last two games and retain a one-game first place lead.

But more startling were the two victories scored by Morton Pontiac of Arlington Heights over Steve's Restaurant, the first round champion. The two wins put a three and a half game distance between Morton, which bowls out of Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights where the action will shift this coming Saturday, and Steve's Restaurant which calls Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling home.

AFTER A 224 game by Alice Ulrich of Chicago gave River-Rand Bowl the opener, Vernon Hills Restaurant came back to win the final two. Bonnie Kuhn of Mundelein rolled the night's high game in the second encounter, 236, and coupled with a 213 game by Vi Douglas of Palatine, Vernon Hills won easily. Then Marge Calkins of Lake Zurich scored a 209 game to give Vernon Hills the clincher. Bonnie Kuhn led both teams with a 586 series followed by teammate and townswoman Fran Altergott with 554. Ruth Jemison of Des Plaines was high for River-Rand with a 546 series.

Morton Pontiac proved that evenness among team members can compensate for a lot of high and low scores. The highest series any Morton bowler had was 537 by Pat Proebstle of Arlington Heights. Yet, three of her teammates were within 17 pins of her. No one had a 200 game—Connie Labo of Rolling Meadows rolling 199—and yet Morton Pontiac won two games and bowled a 2601 series, nearly 50 pins above the team's series average.

DELORES Harris of Wheeling paced Steve's Restaurant with a 571 series. She rolled a 210 final game, and when accompanied by a 201 game by Janice Crovetti of Highwood, this prduced Steve's lone win.

Wickie Bohnen of Wilmette bowled games of 207, 210 and 187 for a 604 series to pace Northfield Bowl to two wins over Sims Bowl while capturing high individual series honors. Only when Pat Patek of Niles came through with a 235 game and Maxine Moehling of Mt. Prospect with a 203 game did Sims win, and then only by a pin, 893-892. Pat wound up with a 556 series.

Committee Lists Rules Changes For Classic Loop

Paddock Classic traveling league rules committee charted a couple of changes for the loop at their meeting last Saturday morning, with the same group slated to meet again this Saturday, March 19, to discuss other questions.

The eight-member rules committee will meet at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at Gunnell's according to league president Don Christensen.

NO MORE postponements will be permitted, it was agreed by the rules committee. Conflicts with tournaments, etc., brought the subject of postponements to a head Saturday, with the governing board deciding no more changes of dates would be permitted.

TO EASE the ban, the rules committee eased the rule on substitute bowlers. Heretofore at least three competitors had to be regular members of the team. If three were not available the squad had to forfeit.

Now, all five bowlers can be substitutes, if necessary for competition, providing the bowlers qualify for the league.

ANOTHER CHANGE is the release of the seventh members of all of the teams. Thus, any bowlers currently rated no. 7 by any of the teams in the league can be used as substitutes for any of the other teams in the league.

This should again make it easier for teams to report for Saturday night competition with sufficient qualified bowlers.

JUST DOGS

by DAVE TERRILL

Juniors to judge—

Boys and girls will compete in a contest testing their knowledge of correct type in dogs at the 21st annual International Dog show, April 8 and 9, in the International Amphitheatre, Chicago.

It will be the 20th junior dog judging contest to be held at the International show. The contest is open to boys and girls between 10 and 20 years old. Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts in uniform and 4-H members are also eligible, and trophies will be offered to the highest scoring in all groups.

Contestants will be scored on their judging of classes of three breeds; Cocker Spaniels, Dachshunds and Boxers. Each class will consist of four dogs to be judged and the winners will receive sterling silver trophies from the International Kennel club, based on their ability to judge the dogs in each of the groups.

Walter H. Reeves, veteran Canadian all-arounder dog judge, will judge the contest and Dr. Joseph Ackerman, managing director of the Farm Foundation, Chicago, will superintend the event.

According to show officials, no entry fee is required to compete in the contest. More information and entry cards may be obtained on request from the International Kennel Club of Chicago, 842 Exchange ave., Chicago 9.

As an added thought, you folks who plan to enter dogs in the show have until March 21 to get your entries in—if you need entry blanks contact the address mentioned above. This has been the largest show in the country for the past two years and from the way entries are reported coming in for this year, it looks as if 1961 will set a record.

Boxer Specialty—

Speaking of shows, the Tree Towns Boxer club will hold their specialty show June 17, at Wheaton. Judging the obedience classes will be Willy Necker of Wheeling. All the confirmation classes will be judged by E. O. Holliman, well known Boxer judge from Alabama.

Owners of Boxers who plan to enter this event can obtain more information from the club secretary, Dorothy Ortman, 1801 N. Quentin rd., Palatine.

A.K.C.—"Top-ten"—

The American Kennel club registered 442,875 pure-bred dogs in 1960, according to a recent announcement. The "top-ten," based on AKC figures, are: first-Poodles; second - Beagles; third - Chihuahuas; followed by Dachshunds, German Shepherds, Pekingese, Cocker Spaniels, Collies, Boxers, and in 10th place are Boston Terriers.

Interest in pure bred dogs continues to rise, with litter registrations for the year showing a healthy increase over 1959. Although the total figure of 442,875 dogs registered in 1960 showed a slight decline over the previous year. This is attributed to discontinuance of a former registration plan under which special inducement was offered to register pups individually shortly after birth. This will prove to be a much better system, for it will give a more accurate individual registration figure inasmuch as pups will be older and more on their own when registered and any that might have died when quite young will not be in the final registration picture for any given year.

Barks & Bays—

Folks who don't care for dogs would have had a rough time 250 years ago if they lived in Massachusetts. The governing body directed all householders to keep watch dogs.

Grade School Meet

Mat Tourney Slated Today at Prospect

The area's top grade school wrestlers will vie for team and individual honors today (Thursday) at 4 p.m. in the annual mat tournament put on by V.F.W. Post 981 of Arlington Heights.

Slated for the Prospect high gymnasium, the tournament is open to all schools feeding the Arlington or Prospect high schools or to dividually either represent- anyone wishing to enter in- ing a school or unattached.

Eight schools have indicated that they plan to enter this year's tourney, including South Jr. High, Miner Jr. High, Elk Grove Higgins, Elk Grove's Grove school, Wheeling, Prospect Heights, Lincoln of Mt. Prospect and Wilson of Arlington Heights.

IN ADDITION, over 35 boys have called requesting to be entered unattached.

Area schools have held enthusiastic inter-school meets in preparation for the tourney with over 200 spectators witnessing the Elk Grove and Wheeling affairs.

The VFW will furnish ribbons for the first four places in each weight class and a team trophy to the winning team. Schools entering a team to be considered for the team championship can only enter one boy ineachweightclas s. one boy in each weight class.

THE WEIGHT classes will be as follows: 70, 77, 83, 90, 105, 112, 118, 125, 135. 145, 155, 165, and heavyweight.

Last year 82 boys participated in a total of 79 bouts before the 14 individual championships were determined. South Jr. High of Arlington and Elk Grove's Higgins School tied for team honors with 81 points each.

South Jr. High had annexed the team titles in 1957 and in 1959 with Elk Grove claiming the 1958 crown with 97 points. South scored 121 points in that first tournament for a record that still stands.

The wrestling coaches at Arlington and Prospect high schools will be handling the grade school meet.

Regular league play will start the following Friday, May 5, and run for 17 weeks. Two two-ball foursome tournaments have been scheduled for Sundays in June and August, and a banquet will be held at the end of the year.

Any resident of the area interested in playing competitive golf this summer can join the league by contacting Ed Pool, HE 7-4197; Lowell Slack, CL 5-7461; or Tom McShane, CL 5-5904.

Wayside JVs In Title Test At Barrington

Our Lady of the Wayside's junior-varsity basketball team moved into the finals of the Northwest Catholic Elementary school tournament with decisive wins over Prince of Peace, 30-5, and St. Thomas of Crystal Lake 19-9.

A strong defense played a major role in both one-sided victories.

The championship game will be played at Barrington this Sunday, March 19, at 2 p.m.

Cage Tournament On TV Saturday

The world's series of Illinois basketball—the state high school championships—will be carried on Channel 7 (WBKB) on Saturday, March 18.

Sportscasters for the tournament will be Jack Drees, who has called all previous tournament telecasts; Tom Kelly, Peoria sportscaster; and Chick Hearn, NBC announcer in Hollywood.

Each year the tournament provides new thrills. . . and wonderful sportsmanship. The games will be televised live from Huff Gymnasium in Champaign - Urbana.

Through years of experience in handling the throngs which descend upon the Twin Cities, University personnel is well prepared for the on-slaught.

Housing offices are ready to assist visitors. Temporary facilities are available to high school boys and girls. Accommodations for adults are available in private homes and arrangements can be made at the University Housing Office in Illini Hall. Advance reservations are not accepted.

A complete schedule of events has been arranged to occupy the free time of teenagers when they are not attending tournament games. Center of activities is the Armory, just across the street from Huff Gym. Dances are scheduled in the Illini Union building.

THE ILLINOIS High School association, which conducts the tournament series, has urged students and fans not to come to Champaign-Urbana unless they have tickets for the tournament. There is no public sale of tickets. Each high school in the state has the privilege of buying four season books. Remaining distribution is handled through the school involved in each tournament session.

Arlington Claims Four Positions

Twenty-eight wrestlers, including four from Arlington high school, were named to the 1960-61 West Suburban all-conference team.

The eight league schools are included in the selections with Maine township East's loop champions gaining seven positions.

Rounding out the select alignment are Hinsdale with five berths, Downers Grove and Arlington with four, La Grange with three, Glenbard West and Riverside Brookfield with two, and York with one.

FIVE MATMEN are repeaters from the 1960 aggregation: Hinsdale's Larry Allison and Rex McConaghy; Maine East's Dennis DeStefano and Mike Basedow; and Riverside's Mel Schmidt.

The Arlington boys honored include senior Tim Smith at 112; senior Tim O'Gorman a 133; senior Mike Koenig at 138; and senior Rich Edelblute at 180.

He finished third in district.

103 POUNDS Maine's DeStefano was 7-0 in the conference and 22-2 overall. He was first in both district and sectional competition and copped one victory in state action. Kroger Co. Had Small Beginning

The growth from one small store on Cincinnati's busy riverfront in 1883 to about 1,400 modern retail food stores in 20 midwestern and southern states is the story of the development of The Kroger Co.

Founded by the late B. H. Kroger in 1883, the company increased store by store in Cincinnati and in surrounding towns. By 1903, there were 58 Kroger stores in Ohio and Kentucky communities. Later the company expanded to other states.

Today Kroger stores are accepted members of 1,000 communities throughout the Midwest and South. Under the direction of a general office in Cincinnati, the company operates through 25 separate divisions, each with its own group of retail stores. These division offices are located in important trading centers from Houston, Texas to Milwaukee, Wisconsin and from Kansas Citq, Missouri to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

The company operates a general manufacturing plant at Cincinnati, as well as 13 bread and cake bakeries and two cracker and cookie bakeries in the area served by Kroger stores. Three dairies, an evaporating and instant milk plant, a coffee roasting plant, and an instant coffee processing plant, as well as four plants which grade and pack eggs, complete the list.

More than 40,000 men and women work full time for Kroeger and nearly half as many more work part time. A modern personnel program is responsible for hiring and training employees and keeping records of their progress.

From its early days, The Kroger Co. has followed the policy of promoting men within the organization to responsible positions. Many of its division vice presidents and other executives started as store clerks or in similar positions.

Group life, health and accident insurance are supplied at no cost to employees. Low-cost surgical and medical insurance also are available. Credit unions operated by employees provide loans at a low rate of interest.

The Kroger Employees' Profit Sharing and Retirement Income Plan provides retirement income at no cost to the employee. In addition, the profit sharing portion of the plan gives employees an opportunity to save and to share in the profits they help to earn. More than 95 per cent of all eligible employees are voluntary members of this program.

Recognizing the responsibility business owes the community in which it operates, Kroger contributes in the neighborhood of half a million dollars a year in support of charitable, welfare and character - building enterprises, such as Community Chests and Red Cross.

Kroger employees are encouraged to take active part in community life.

The Kroger Scholarship Program each year provides 105 freshman scholarships for study in agriculture and home economics at land-grant colleges in Kroger states. Scholarships are also offered to outstanding high school graduates of distributive education courses. In addition, support is given state independent college foundations for operating expenses and for college building funds.

Agriculture plays an important part in Kroger's operation. Most of the products sold in the company's stores come from American farms. Because the future of agriculture is so important, Kroger also assists in encouraging agricultural careers among young people by making awards and buying livestock at 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America auctions and shows.

In addition to regular marketing contracts for every type of food products from farmers, Kroger has cooperated in moving farm products in heavy supply over a period of several years through special promotional efforts.

Scores of special sales promotions of this nature have been staged by Kroger in cooperation with other food re--tailers. Outstanding examples have included apples, pork, potatoes, eggs, butter, beans, peaches, peas, lamb and beef. Quick movement of crops which are in heavy supply benefits both farmers and consumers.

Magic Door Specializes In Shades

The Magic Door specialty shop, now entering its second day of business at the Mt. Prospect Plaza shopping center, has been established for 35 years.

The Magic Door specializes in custom-made shades of all kinds, including parchment, silk and organdy. All shades are washable.

The store's owner, Mrs. Caroline Varney, pointed out that the store had its own artist to paint any design on shades.

The firm also repairs and rewires lamps, does china mending, and sells antiques, artificial flowers and gifts and cards. There is also a Magic Door store in Evanston.

IT'S THE SPECTATOR all right, but new and exciting with slender-shaping in soft-to-touch crushed white leather with gleaming black patent at toe and high heel. Prospect Plaza shopping center.

One-Stop Feature Of Goldblatt's

Goldblatt's newest department store which has opened in the Mt. Prospect Plaza shopping center at Rand and Central rds., has concentrated all its sales on one tremendous selling floor embracing 83,000 square feet of space.

The $2½ million store is a one-stop shopping center in itself, store officials point out.

Its products range from ready-to-wear, accessories, home furnishings, textiles, major appliances, household and auto needs, sporting goods, hardware, and specialty lines.

The department store will employ some 150 persons who live within a five-mile radius of the establishment, according to John Vlad, director of store openings for Goldblatt's.

Store manager is David Kaplan, who is also one of the newly elected officers of the Mt. Prospect Plaza Merchants' association.

A UNIQUE feature of the new store is that it affords complete visibility. It has been constructed in such a manner that the services of supporting columns are not required.

Vlad pointed out that "merchandise is selected only after an extensive study of the needs of the community; the merchandise line is patterned to fit these needs."

Among the newer concepts in merchandising, Vlad added, will be a complete outdoor garden and shrubbery department. There will also be a carpeted hi-fi and stereo room where music may be heard under home conditions.

Interior decoration is done in muted pastel color schemes and overhead lighting complements this mood. Music will be continuously piped throughout the reaches of the store, officials say.

"The policy of the company," Vlad explains, "is complete customer satisfaction. It's a doctrine of the company. If a customer is not satisfied, he may return his purchase and we will make good on it."

He added that liberal credit terms are another long-established policy of the Goldblatt's firm. Credit is flexible enough to be coordinated with individual customer's budgets, it was explained.

THE STORE will be open five nights a week, Vlad said. Daily hours are Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, noon to 9 p. m., Thursday and Friday, 9:30 a. m. to 9:00 p. m.; Saturday 9:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. The store will also be open Sundays from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m., beginning this coming Sunday, March 19.

A big appliance department will rival customers' attentions with a complete line of equipment for the sportsmen, including that needed for golfing, bowling, boating, shooting, skindiving, fishing, etc.

The Goldblatt's fabric department boasts velvets and embossed satins, sculptured chromespun* taffetas, printed and plain corduroy, synthetics, and the new coordinate fabrics. (SS—Plaza

New Plaza Center Developers' 20th

The developers of the Mt. Prospect Plaza shopping center, located at Rand and Central rds. in Mt. Prospect, have been active in the development of over 20 shopping centers.

David W. Bermant, one of the principals of National Plazas, Inc., concentrates on the selection of suitable shopping center sites, and leasing and financing of the structures.

The Mt. Prospect Plaza is the latest in a line of centers erected by National Plazas, and includes the Cermak Plaza in Berwyn, in addition to centers in Rochester, N.Y.; Eric, Pa.; Akron, Ohio; Cincinnati, Ohio; Harrisburg, Pa.; Birmingham, Ala.; Geneva, N.Y., and New Haven, Conn.

BERMANT is also president of NASCO Construction company, Inc., the firm which erected the Mt. Prospect Plaza. David Bermant and his brother, Robert, are partners in the Bermant Management company which specializes in the management and operation of shopping center properties. It is the company that will manage the Mt. Prospect center.

Other officesr of the NASCO Construction company are: Rudolph Starr, vice-president; Joseph M. Zobay, vice-president in charge of construction; David Schwartz, treasurer, and Robert L. Bermant, secretary. (SS—Plaza

Big Man to Have Friend At Jack's

The big man will have a friend in Jack's Men's shop located in the Mt. Prospect Plaza shopping center.

The men's clothing establishment specializes in "big" and "off" sizes, according to Rudy Glickauf, store manager. "We carry a tremendous stock in sizes 52 and 54," Glickauf said.

He added that the new store will carry 1,000 suits for men and teenage youths, and that "tailoring is done right on the premises."

Jack's Men's shop's first store has been in business in Cicero for 32 years, Glickauf said. It is owned by his father-in-law, Jack Moss.

Association Rhyme Rival For Variety

The newly formed Mt. Prospect Plaza Merchants' association's officers include a grocer, department store manager, banker, and men's shop manager, rivaling the nursery rhyme for variety.

Newly elected president of the association is Adrian Schellink, manager of the Kroger's supermarket.

Vice-president is David Kaplan, manager of Goldblatt's department store. Other officers include: G. E. McDonald of the Prospect Plaza bank, treasurer; and Rudy Glickauf, Jack's Men's shop manager, secretary.

Woolworth Line Would Startle Its Founders

IN OFFICE overlooking new F.W. Woolworth's store in Mt. Prospect Plaza, Gerald O'Connor (left), store manager, and Philip Seliger, assistant manager, confer. O'Connor is also assistant secretary of the newly formed Mt. Prospect Plaza Merchants' association. (SS-Plaza

The line of merchandise carried in the average F.W. Woolworth company store today would probably make the eyes of its original salesmen at the first store in Lancaster, Pa., pop.

One of the chain's newer stores at the Mt. Prospect Plaza shopping center, for instance, carries a complete line in horticulture and complete stock of tropical fish and aquarium accessories.

This is something of a far cry from the modest, vendor type store first established as "Woolworth's 5 and 10c store" on June 21, 1879. Since that time, the firm has added some 2,200 stores whose sales approximate a billion dollars a year.

The Mt. Prospect Plaza Woolworth's store is one of over 200 such retail outlets in the Chicago area.

STORE MANAGER Gerald O'Connor, 46, brings to the establishment 29 years experience in the field. He has managed five Woolworth's stores.

Assistant manager is Philip Seliger, 29. Both men are married, and O'Connor and his wife have five children, while the Seligers, who live in Des Plaines, have two youngsters.

"Our lunch counter has the latest equipment, including a new built-in deep frier and push-button fountain," O'Connor noted. The lunch counter is capable of seating 30.

The store also intends to handle an expanded line of soft goods, the store manager added. The store has 15,000 square feet of floor space. It is decorated in a subdued, pleasant decor, with the walls painted pastel tones. T. G. Adams is division manager, with offices at 228 N. LaSalle st., Chicago. (SS—plaza

Women's Shoe Chain

Burt's Takes Pride In Its Shoe Styling

Burt's has opened its third shoe store in the Chicago area at Mt. Prospect Plaza.

David Glaser, regional manager for the nationally known retailer of women's shoes, noted that Burt's has over 50 stores in cities across the nation, with two others in Chicago at 42 S. State st. and 2756 Milwaukee ave.

"Not only are we celebrating the grand opening of our new store in Mt. Prospect Plaza," Glaser explained, "but also the wonderful new look of our merchandise. Burt's customers have long acclaimed Stylepride shoes. Never have they been so high-fashion in styling or so expertly crafted, and yet their prices are among the lowest in the fashion field."

The store has 6000 square feet and features a modern design. The exterior has pink terra cotta show-window bulkheads and facade.

THE DISTINCTIVE interior has been sophisticated by tones of gray and white, with red and golden accents. A rear entry on raised area has curved stairs to the selling floor. The lower right screen wall and display panels are of vibrant Victorian red with metallic foil. Curtained walls are of gray and white grasscloth or golden textured abstract design on white canvas. Gray and white mottled carpeting and furnishings of red and gold complete the decor.

The Burt's collection of new shoes tells the spring fashion story. Shapes point slim and narrow. Textures make news in grainy unlined leathers . . . in woven fabrics . . . in smooth sleek leathers . . . in gleaming lustres and patents. Flattery shows in the squared or oval throats, some rising high . . . in the lady-like look of bows, inserts of lace, drapings, perfs and buckles.

Colors burst into fashion, too. Raspberry reds, violets, pinks, sunny pastels . . . . navys, blacks . . . natural blonde to golden tans take to the new silhouettes.

IN CASUALS, toes point also. There are flattie and walking types, many with stacked heels . . . in soft crushed or smooth leathers . . . in oxfords, moccasins, gay skimmers and novelties.

Burt's also has a coordinated handbag, hosiery and accessory department for one-stop showing convenience.

Father, Son To Manage Plaza TV

The Plaza TV Service store, which takes its name from the Mt. Prospect Plaza shopping center where it is located, is a family business.

Glenn Nurk and his father, Karl, who have been with the trade nine years, will operate the television service.

Nurk, a native of Estonia, who has been in this country 13 years, said the firm will specialize mainly in the servicing of television, radio and phonograph sets. "Housewives can bring their sets here to be repaired while they shop," he observed.

The shop, however, will sell a Zenith line of new sets in addition to selling completely reconditioned sets. Nurk is a graduate of DeVry Technical Institute in Chicago.

Collection also available at 42 South State Street at Monroe • 2756 Milwaukee Avenue

Variety Chain Opens Store No. 457

Murphy's Locates In Mount Prospect

Its 457th complete variety store opened in Mt. Prospect Plaza has been by the G. C. Murphy Company.

It will be the firm's 12th store in Illinois and 457th in 22 states and the District of Columbia.

In their 55th year, the G. C. Murphy Company is the fourth largest variety store chain in the nation.

In the Mt. Prospect store, merchandise is arranged on one huge sales floor containing 24,500 square feet.

In addition to the main sales area, there is an adjacent garden shop building, 30 by 67 feet in size, which has jalousie windows as a modern construction feature, making it possible to control temperature for the various plants and flowers to be carried. An outside selling area is located next to the garden shop.

THE MODERN salesfloor has specially designed "shop-at-a-glance" counters and adjustable side wall shelving which will display the more than 30,000 items within easy reach for quick selection. The store will carry complete assortments of merchandise for all members of the family and for the home.

Modern decor, with carefully selected colors, is a feature of the new store.

Quick service stations have been set up at convenient points for serving customers in a hurry. Peg board paneling is used extensively on all side walls as a method of dramatizing and displaying merchandise.

Exposed type fluorescent lighting is arranged in a modern design to provide the maximum amount of light without glare. The store and garden shop are fully air-conditioned. Comfortable chairs are located at the front of the store for customer convenience. A public information bulletin board for the placing of notices and announcements by customers and organizations will be installed.

One of the outstanding features of the new store is its ultra-modern snack bar-restaurant. Thirty-six stools are spaced along the formica counter. Included on the menu are daily changes of hot luncheons; snacks, sodas, sundaes, soft drinks, sandwiches and dessert.

R. S. Sauer, with more than 15 years experience in the variety store business, will manage the Mt. Prospect store.

SAUER WILL be aided by seven assistants, each with a background of Murphy store training and experience. Included are E. B. O'Dell, first assistant; V. S. Kanney, D. E. Petty, W. T. Robison, N. F. Wallace, J. E. Magginnis, and Ronald Wexell.

The store will be staffed by 140 employees.

It is located in the western division of the Murphy company's area of operation headed by F. M. Fiege, who has headquarters in Indianapolis. His division consists of 82 stores located in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Fiege is a veteran of more than 37 years with the Murphy firm.

District manager for the new store is W. E. Miller, supervisor of the Illinois district, with headquarters in Effingham, Ill. The district consists of 14 stores. Miller has been with the Murphys since 1932.

The Murphy stores were originated in 1906 in McKeesport, Pa., when the late George C. Murphy opened his first store. By 1911 the firm had a total of 12 stores.

Murphy stores pioneered in the expansion of merchandise assortments, being the first to add merchandise up to $1, officials say. "Today there is virtually no limit to price ranges or lines of merchandise," Sauer points out. Murphy officials view the Mt. Prospect Plaza store as a "one stop" place to shop.

TO KEEP abreast of the times, the Murphy company maintains a style center in the heart of New York's garment district. In addition it maintains an extensive merchandise research department in its home city of McKeesport, Pa.

The Murphy firm's training program for employees was inaugurated in 1911. Following initial training, sales personnel are enrolled in a course of intermediate training. This features a weekly "sales school" period conducted by the store manager.

Good employee relations, officials declare, have contributed to the success of the chain. They say a "Golden Rule" policy is encouraged and reflected in employees' association with one another as well as with the customers. There are numerous company benefits, they add. Social affairs and activities are encouraged.

Walter C. Shaw, one of the co-founders, serves as chairman of the Board of Directors. James S. Mack, son of the other co-founder, has been president since 1953. It was under his direction that the firm's present expansion program was launched.

Sales in 1960 totaled $245,-561,634. (SS—plaza

Confidence In Suburbs Is Voiced

Confidence in the future of the northwest suburban area led Don Cullotta to locate his specialty grocery business in the Mt. Prospect Plaza, he says.

Cullotta, 34, opened Farmland, which caters to unusual items, at the plaza, Rand and Central rds., this week, Wednesday, March 15, in conjunction with the grand opening of the new shopping center.

Cullotta's father and grandfather owned and operated their own grocery stores. He confides that he has long had the ambition to operate a high-quality specialty store, designed to compliment large supermarts "by merchandising the extra-ordinary and unusual items not practical for a huge supermart operation."

Farmland, he said, will sell a full line of high quality fruits and vegetables, specializing in extra-fancy and out-of-season items. It will also incorporate a complete dairy store operation, including butter, milk, eggs, ice cream and a full line of Blue Mounds cheese—direct from Wisconsin.

Cullotta is married and has three children.

EXAMINING NEW stock of drapery material at G. C. Murphy variety store which just opened in the Mt. Prospect Plaza shopping center are Robert E. Sauer, store manager, and J. J. Franklin, sales promotion division manager. (SS-Plaza

Shopping Center Has Alphabetical Variety

New Plaza Opens With 38 Stores

The Mt. Prospect Plaza shopping center, which opened Wednesday, March 15, at Rand and Center rds., Mt. Prospect, is shaped like a carpenter's framing square.

It squares off a vast parking lot capable of accommodating 3,000 cars at one sitting or 50,000 daily, officials estimate.

The plaza is a complex of 38 stores which range from a department store, variety stores, bank, service station, drug store, two food outlets, four shoe stores, shoe repair establishment, two record shops, bank, and so on through the alphabet.

Goldblatt's department store, with 83,000 square feet, and G. C. Murphy's variety store's 38,000 square feet, make them the two largest firms which have opened for business.

THESE TWO retailers will also be employing the largest working force, with 150 employees on Goldblatt's payroll and 115 on Murphy's.

In the food line there will be Kroger's supermarket, Hillman's Pure Foods, Spera Meats, Jeddy's snack shop, Dutch Mill Candies, Englewood Karmelcorn, and Farmland dairy products store.

Other national chain stores include F. W. Woolworth; Walgreen's drug store; Burt's Shoes; Hardy's Shoes; and a Standard Oil service station.

There will be two record shops; Armel's Records and Monarch Records.

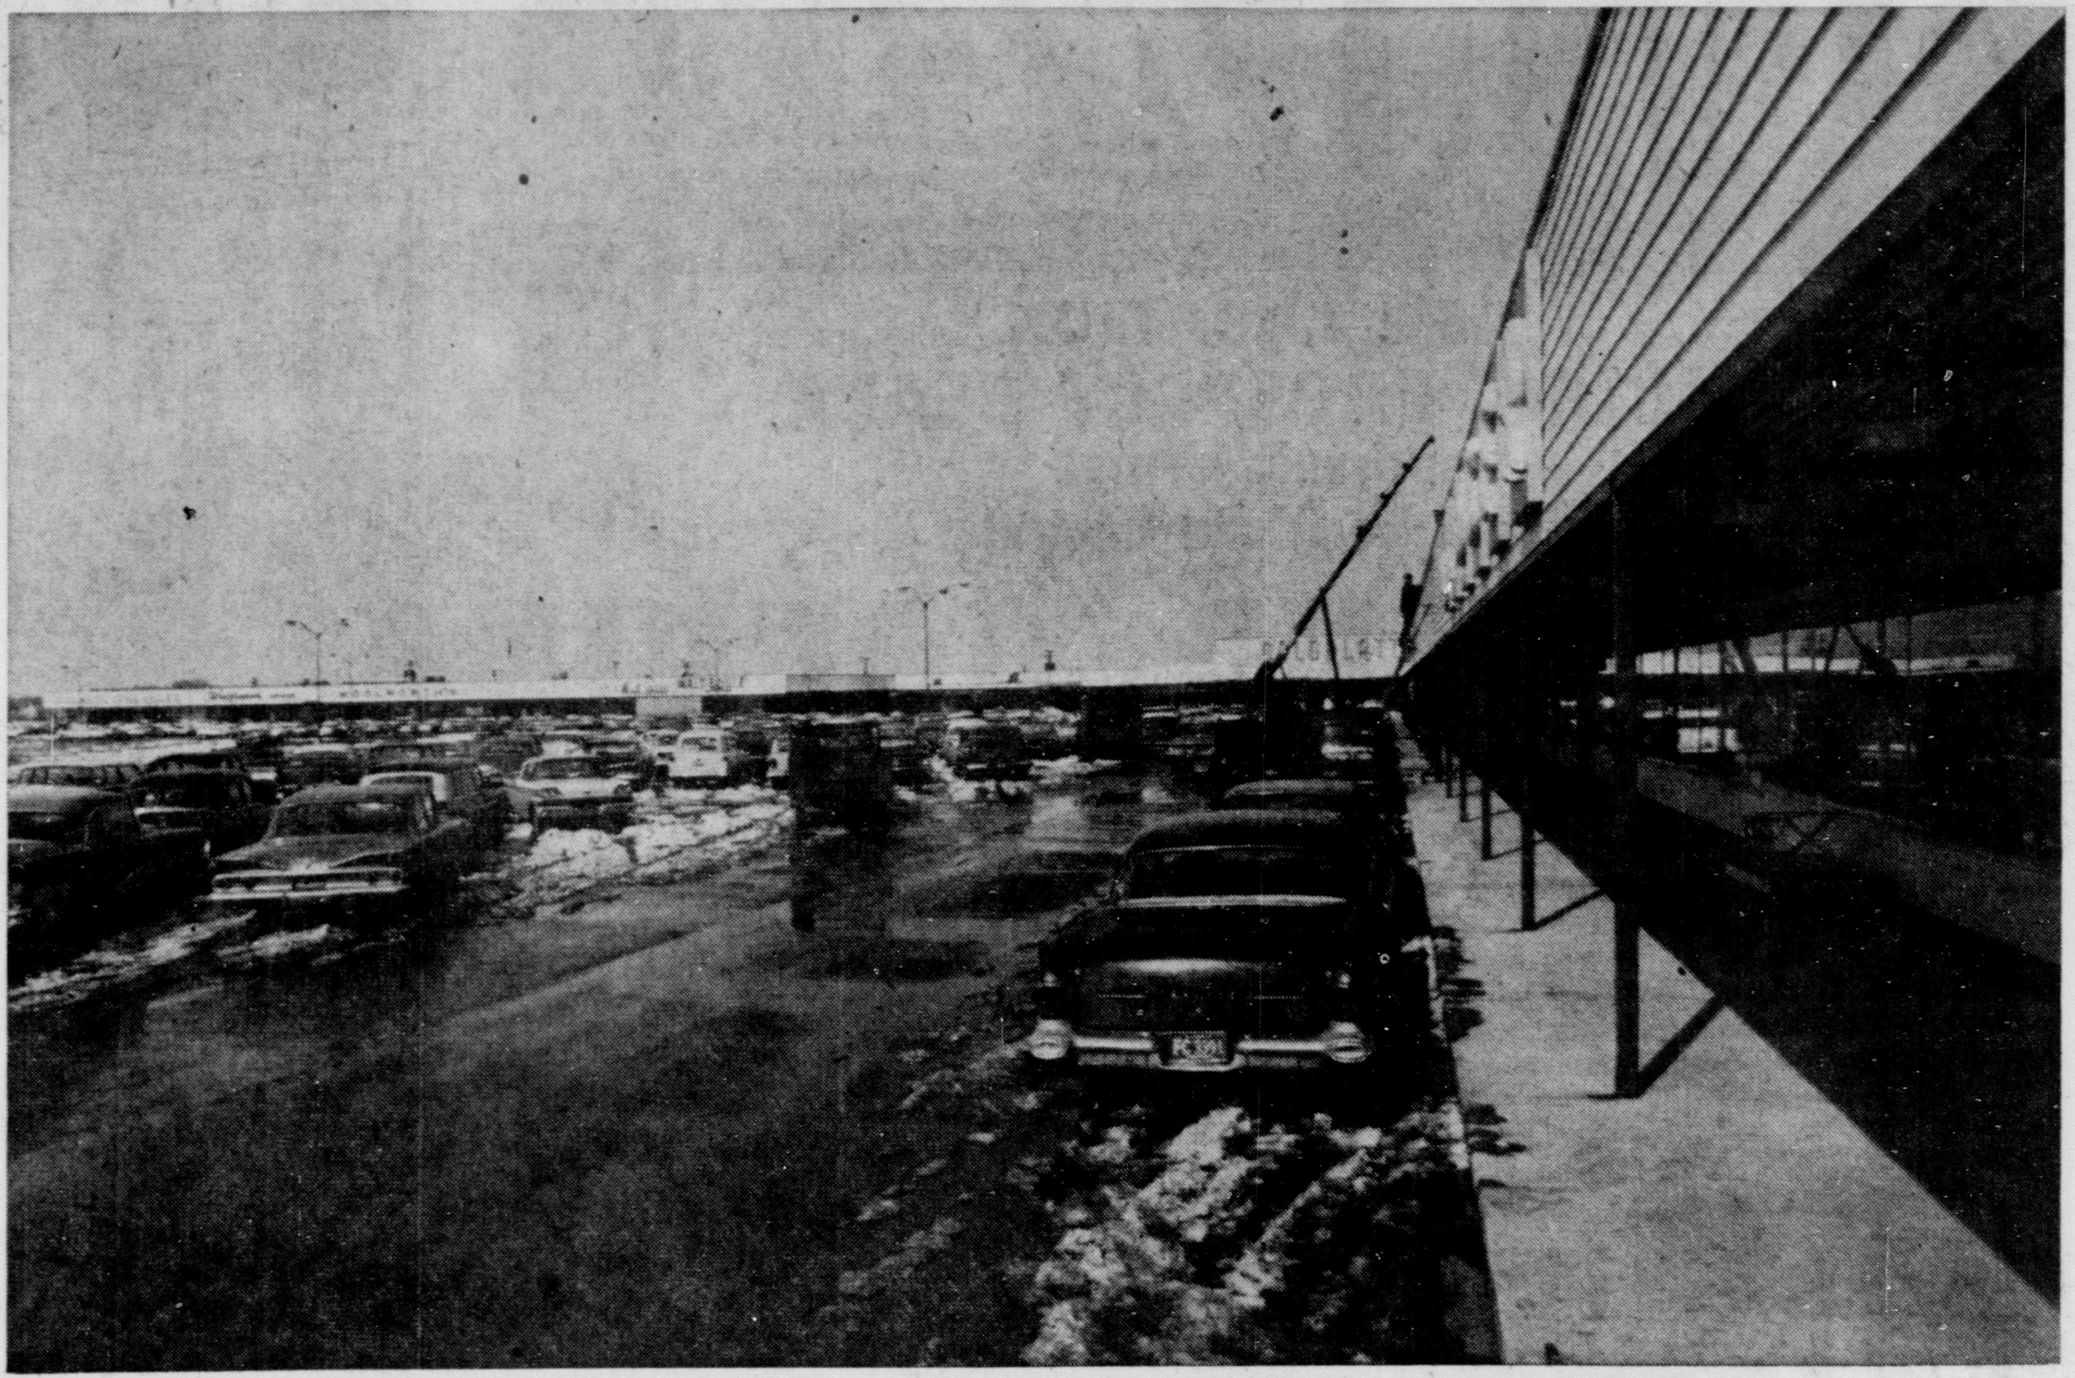
For the ladies there are these firms: Bobbie Hats, Lee Draperies, Magic Door Lamps, Neumode Hosiery and Pert 'N Pretty Women's Wear.

Financing interests are represented by the Prospect Plaza bank, the Plaza Currency exchange, and Household Finance company.

OTHER SHOE outlets include Howard's Family Shoe center and R & S Shoes. There is also Churchill's Shoe Repair store.

Rounding out the alphabetical variety at the mercantile center are these stores; Burny Brothers bakery, Ideel Cleaners, Jack's Men's shop, Larry's Barber shop, Launder Coin, Nurk's TV repair, Walt Boyle's Kiddie shop, and Warner Paint company. Dr. Leo S. Stein will maintain an optometrist service at the center.

Dignitaries from Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, Prospect Heights and Des Plaines attended the grand opening celebration which began at 10 a.m. on Wednesday.



MT. PROSPECT PLAZA: 38 stores complete the new shopping center, located at Rand and Central rds. in Mt. Prospect. The center had its grand opening Wednesday, when officials from Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, Prospect Heights, and Des Plaines gathered to cut the traditional ribbons. Department store, supermarket, bank, clothing stores, drug store, variety stores, and other merchandising outlets are located at the plaza. (SS-plaza

Cleaning Firm Opens Second Outlet Here

Ideel Cleaners' establishment at the Mt. Prospect Plaza shopping center is the second of its kind to open in the northwest suburban area and the 65th in the Chicago area.

Ideel opened a cleaning branch in Prospect Heights just a year ago. In fact, expansion has caused the firm to move to its third enlarged plant location since the company was organized in 1949, according to Burton Slotky, branch supervisor for 40 Ideel stores.

Slotky says the firm has maintained the same prices for 10 years. Ideel specializes in formals and "bachelor bundles." (SS—Plaza

Another Link Is Forged In Kroger Chain

Adrian Schellink, store manager of the new Kroger's supermarket which has just opened at the Mt. Prospect Plaza, has the ways of a neighborhood grocer and knowhow of the grocery chain executive.

This will be the third store Schellink, who was born in Amsterdam, Holland, has opened for his employers in the Chicago metropolitan area. It is one of about 70 stores in the Kroger's Chicagoland chain.

Schellink, 40, resides at 802 E. Golfhurst ave., Mt. Prospect, with his wife and two children. His co-manager at the store, Jim Johnson, also lives in the northwest suburban area. Johnson and his wife have a home at 3104 Falcon ct. west, Rolling Meadows.

SCHELLINK, who has been with the Kroger's chain for 10 years, said the new store has approximately 24,000 square feet of floor space.

"The store has all the up-to-date facilities, including a delicatessen, bakery, meat and produce departments," Schellink pointed out.

Especially eye-catching are the 7-foot wide aisles throughout the store which give maneuver room to the cart-pushing corps.

THE STORE will employ 55 persons, including part-time help, the store manager added.

There will be seven check-out stands in addition to an "express" stand, he explained.

Store hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays, and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays. (SS—plaza

GEORGE WATSON, left, manager of the new Warner Paint store in the Mount Prospect Shopping Plaza, and Herman Runge, assistant manager. The new store is the 11th in the Chicago area, and is located in the south wing of the Plaza at Rand and Central Roads, Mount Prospect. The new paint store will feature a complete line of home decorating needs and also a complete stock of artists supplies for the professional or beginning artist. Patrons of Warner Paints new store are invited to register for the wonderful door prizes being offered during the grand opening. Nothing to buy, just come in and register. There will also be free gifts for Ma, Pa and the kids.

The firm has a history of business in the area dating back to 1870, according to Store Manager George Watson.

Quality paint products, art materials and mosaic tiles will be among the merchandise carried at Warner's newest paint supply store.

No. 111 For Hardy Shoe Firm

The new John Hardy Shoe store in the Mt. Prospect Plaza makes 111 stores in a chain that started with one store in 1938 and has expanded coast-to-coast according to Joe B. Long, president of the John Hardy stores, Nashville, Tennessee.

In addition to the Mt. Prospect Store, which will hold its Grand opening on March 22, 23, 24, 25, Hardy also operates other stores in the Chicago area, and plans to open more throughout the country in the near future.

Hardy manufactures and sells a complete line of highly styled men's shoes at one low price.

For the youngsters, Hardy carries a complete line of boys' shoes, and a complete selection of slippers, casuals and fine quality hose for men.

'Fashions of Fortune' All Set for March 22nd

Soft music, dim lights and gypsies will provide the background for "Fashions of Fortune," the style show to be presented March 22 at 8 p.m. in the Union hotel, Wheeling.

Sponsor of the show, the Meadowbrook Woman's club, announces another innovation for its fourth annual fashion show, which will feature fashions from Lyttons of Golf-Mill Plaza. This year the show will feature business and sportswear for men as well as the latest styles for young suburbanites and the "grandmother set."

MRS. WILLIAM Bieber, publicity chairman for the show, commented, "This is the first time the Meadowbrook Woman's club has featured these three major facets of the fashion world. Since the scope of interest will be much greater, we urge everyone to purchase her tickets early and also to line up a baby sitter."

Refreshments will be served during the show and are included in the $1.50 donation. Proceeds will go to charities and the club's philanthropies in the Wheeling area.

Tickets may be purchased from members or at the door the night of the show. (S

David Ells Takes Bride in Wilmette

Wearing a gown of traditional white satin and lace, an illusion veil and carrying a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis, Miss Janet Gallicchio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Gallicchio of Wilmette, became the bride of David Rees Ells, son of Ceril Ells of Mt. Prospect.

Rev. William R. Hodgson officiated at the ceremony which was held December 16 in the bride's home. White chrysanthemums, white roses, holly and evergreens formed the background for the service. Bridesmatron was the bride's sister, Mrs. Charles Caviness of Evanston, who was attired in an American Beauty dress and carried fuji mums in pale green.

THE BRIDE'S mother chose a blue dress with corsage of Amazon lilies.

Lowell Bjorkland of Mt. Prospect served as best man.

After a honeymoon in Nassau, the newlyweds are living in Evanston. The bride was graduated from Northwestern university where she became affiliated with Delta Gamma social sorority. The bridegroom also attended Northwestern and is affiliated with Theta Delta Chi fraternity. (S

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

Enchanting Sights

Dear Peg:

The third annual Chicago World Flower and Garden show opened March 11 in its new home, McCormick Place—the exquisite $35,000,000 structure on the lake south of the loop. It is by far the most complete, most beautiful exhibit yet presented in Chicago. Included, as usual, in the show are the magnificent displays of tulips and roses always abundant in color and quantity and the "spectacular" which has always filled one end of the show.

This year an Appalachian Mountainside is enchanting crowds of people who stand still to take in the breathtaking beauty of the giant, many-colored azalea bushes, the towering birches and evergreens, the forsythia and flowering plum and almond, the deep red camellia bushes and the cascading waterfalls. This sight alone is worth the price of admission!

An innovation this year is a group of gardens representative of various countries. Among them, the Spanish patio garden, especially designed by Harold O. Klopp, is particularly lovely. Its main feature is a large Moorish pool in the square patio at one end which connects to a circular pool with a large fountain at the other end by a tiny canal. Grass is used sparingly, the main surface covering being old brick tiles and crushed flagstone. There are olive trees set in ivy beds and huge tubs of bright geraniums. Architectural features include white stucco benches and mosaic borders around the pool and the wall at the rear.

The formal French garden features intricately clipped hedges, red and white tulips and black wrought iron poodles. The severity of the chalk-white crushed dock paths is in perfect harmony with the strict design of the garden.

The English garden is a simple little thing of English yews, white border flowers and sod paths.

As Carson's does each year, it again is responsible for the beautiful outdoor garden wedding scene, with its elegant bride and bridesmaids. However, this year an old fashioned wedding is also included. An actual stream connects the two gardens and my be crossed by a wide foot bridge.

A full scale Japanese garden occupies one of the center spots. Called "Kyoto in Chicago," it shows the Japanese fondness for the simple but decorative. In its rock formations its winding paths and natural wood bridges is to be seen the Oriental appreciation of nature's beauty and in the simple pieces of sculpture, including a stone table and stone benches, the perfect artistic touch is added to the garden. This garden is designed by Vladimar Hoschl.

Two large gardens called "Tranquility" by A. Lange are charming simply in their clean cut design and color. In the center of each three white figures provide a fountain which rises from the middle of a small pond. White hydrangeas border the rich green grassy lawns.

Birds—hundreds of them in every color of the rainbow — make their first appearance this year in an exhibit built around St. Francis of Assisi, patron saint of birds, Founder of the Franciscan Order and renowned individual with a great and simple love for nature and man. The scene is based on an historical incident where he actually preached to the birds. The garden is simple in its use of pink and white tulips so as not to distract from the feature of the four huge decorative cages containing parakeets, canaries and finches of every color and hue.

There are hundreds of exhibits included in the show — even tropical fish are on display for the first time. The show continues through March 19. I hope you'll be able to see it — it's wonderful for lifting you out of the winter doldrums.

My love,
Patty

August Honeymoon Awaits George N. Sampson, Bride

An Arlington Heights newlywed pair, Mr. and Mrs. George N. Sampson, will take a long-awaited honeymoon trip following the groom's graduation in August from Northern Illinois university in De Kalb, site of their campus home.

Rev. E. A. Zeile, Mt. Prospect pastor, performed the marriage rites in Faith Lutheran church of Arlington Heights January 28 uniting Miss Judith Lynne Tubbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Klug, 112 Seegers rd., and the son of the George N. Sampsons, 1013 W. Oakton.

The pair exchanged vows and rings in a 5 p.m. candlelight setting. Baskets of carnations and mums adorned the altar; marking the pews were ribbons and greenery. Miss Tubbs' selection of "O Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer" were furnished by Donald Herrman, organist, and Mrs. Mary Ann Laeske, soloist.

TAFFETA and rose point lace, the chapel-length bridal gown had a fitted bodice, and long pointed sleeves. Decorating the seed pearl demure neckline and full skirt was matching lace; the bride's fingertip silk illusion veil fell from a Swedish crown of pearls. White roses and a single orchid, entwined with ivy, made up her bouquet.

Dressed in orchid silk organza and chantilly lace waltz-length gowns were the attendants, all of Arlington Heights: Miss Mary Jane Harth, maid of honor; Mrs. George Koepke, bridesmaid, and a cousin of the bride, Robert Schuldt, junior bridesmaid. Fashioned with fitted bodices, bracelet-length sleeves and full skirts, their outfits were completed with matching crowns trimmed with seed pearls and bouffant maline veils.

THEY CARRIED bouquets of white carnations centered with orchids. The same flowers were used as were rose petals in the baskets carried by flower girls: Carol Lynn Andrews of Crystal Lake, the bride's godchild; and Peggy Ann Eeles of Arlington Heights, the groom's cousin. Both wore white organza over orchid taffeta dresses. White orchids complemented the ice blue satin brocade sheath ensemble chosen by Mrs. Klug and Mrs. Sampson's gold brocade sheath which had moss green accessories.

ROBERT KEMMAN of Mt. Prospect was best man. Serving as ushers were Jerrold Raffel, De Kalb, two brothers of the groom, Paul and Robert, and Robert Schuldt, junior usher. They were among 200 guests present at a reception in the local VFW hall held immediately following the ceremony.

Mr. Sampson and his new bride are graduates of Arlington Heights high school. She presently is employed at the De Kalb Ogle Telephone Co. and her groom is studying for a degree in biology at Northern Illinois university.

Fashions for Mrs. Suburbia Planned for March 24 Show

The casual approach to fashion for the suburban woman will be emphasized March 24 when Forest View Mother's club presents a fashion show featuring clothes from the Lorraine-Anne shops of Arlington Heights and Meadowdale. The show will be held at 8 p.m. in Higgins Junior high school under the chairmanship of Mrs. Lorrayne Mailfold.

Co-ordinator of the show is Mrs. Gerald Sheahen of the Lorraine-Anne shops, who will also moderate the show and discuss the newest trends. On the program will be Easter finery for mother and daughter and a complete preview of the newest styles in spring hats.

SPRING ENSEMBLES for teenagers and pre-teens will be modeled during the show by Arlene Drewes, Bonnie Luczak, Melanie Smital, Patty Ayres and Cheryl Baldassari. Very young fashions will be modeled by Jayne Mailfold, Linda Nitz, Carol Ann Fern and Laurie Gorgius.

Models are being coached by Mrs. Norman Denzinger, a professional model, who will also model in the show. Women's fashions are being modeled by Mrs. Muriel Bengtson, Mrs. Ruth Grismer, Mrs. Darlene Coor, Mrs. Mae Colamatteo and Mrs. Louise Larson.

A UNIQUE portion of the show will be devoted to fashions inspired by Marty Sundblad, a member of the club. "While Mrs. Sundblad's ensembles may not be competition for Christian Dior," commented Mrs. Mailfold, "they offer a comfortable and casual approach to fashions for Mrs. Suburbia."

Ticket chairman, Mrs. Loraine Gorgius, HE 7-4555, announces that tickets may be purchased at the door, through members of the club or the Higgins Parents association. Adult tickets are $1 and children's tickets, 50 cents.

MODELING CHILDREN'S fashions in the Forest View Mothers club fashion show Friday, March 24, will be 3-year-old Jayne Mailfold who is showing her basket of spring flowers to Bonnie Luczak and Mrs. W. H. Grismer Jr. of Arlington Heights. Little Jayne's mother, Mrs. George Mailfold, 320 E. Council trail, Arlington Heights, is chairman of the show, which will be held in Higgins Junior high school gym-auditorium at 8 p.m.

One-Stop Shopping

IF YOU REALLY, REALLY WANT TO HAVE FUN, just pure unadulterated fun, go shopping with two characters who are three years old. Make one a boy, mine, and the other a girl, a neighbor. They are lovely, they are engaged, they are fiends on wheels.

I had some last minute things to do before going on a long trek. One of the things that I had to do was get the small male a haircut before everyone went back to calling him a her. As young male was out playing with female, I asked if she would like to go along for the ride, so to speak. She would.

Well, everything went swimmingly in the barber shop so I thought to sneak in a little last minute shopping as long as they were so adorable and I had the car, for once. So, I went into a store that sold hats and bathing suits and blouses and such and started to try to match things with things. Ha, little Myrtle and Pyrtle decided to climb into the window and make like very active dummies.

I snatched two blouses that I shall probably hate all my life and, undaunted, set out for even another store. Which just goes to show how desperate a woman who has to shop can get. So I got in this store and started to look in the lingerie department. There is something about a trip that makes me think that all kinds of strangers are going to take a look at my underthings which is kind of a strange way of viewing a trip. But, I like nice you know whats. And what a perfect excuse.

In the meantime, lover boy and his girl friend had disappeared and it wasn't until a salesgirl came rushing up pitifully clutching at my sleeve saying that those two adorables were going to smash their hands off in the swinging doors, that I even remembered that they were with me.

But, the real fun was when I went in to try on bathing suits. First, I gathered them off the escalator. One going up, the other down. Then I offered to show them how surprising I could look in a bathing suit. What with all the accoutrements hanging down like garters and socks and such it certainly was surprising. They were so surprised that they headed right out of the dressing room with me after them.

And, I have news for you, I shall never shop in that store again.

Arlington Bride Now Lives in Pennsylvania

(Times Candid

After a week's honeymoon in New York, an Arlington Heights girl and her bridegroom are residing in State College, Pa., where the bridegroom is with the ordinance research laboratory of Penn State university.

The bride is the former Carole Jean Olsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Olsen, 820 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights, and the bridegroom is Raymond Lynn Smitley, son of the Charles Smitleys of Boalsburg, Pa.

Their marriage took place February 25 in Our Saviour Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, and was followed by a reception in Gunnell's restaurant, Mt. Prospect. Rev. John Petersen officiated at the 5 o'clock, double ring ceremony, during which Mr. Olsen gave his daughter in marriage.

WHITE MUMS and snaps decorated the church. "When Thou Art Near Me," "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Vincent Ahnquist, who was accompanied at the organ by Robert Wolff.

A gown of white tissue taffeta, fashioned on princess lines with a full skirt that widened into a chapel train, was chosen by the bride. The fitted bodice of the gown was detailed with long tapered sleeves and scoop neckline outlined with an applique of venice lace that was embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The hipline of the gown was detailed with a wide cuff-like effect and a large bustle bow at the back.

HER FINGERTIP veil was of imported silk illusion and was secured to a crown of pearls detailed with tear drops of aurora borealis. A bouquet of white roses completed her ensemble.

Her attendants wore short ballerina gowns of capucine in iridescent taffeta. They were fashioned with fitted bodices detailed with petal tops, scoop necklines and brief sleeves. Their bouffant skirts were trimmed with narrow bands at the hemline and self bow in back.

Circular veils fastened to seed pearl-trimmed pillboxes of matching taffeta and nosegays of mums and small roses completed their ensembles.

MAID OF HONOR was the bride's sister, Paula Olsen, and bridesmaids were Ruth Ann Eide of Oak Lawn, the groom's sister, Mary Ellen Smitley of Boalsburg and Suzann Ernst of Sugar Grove, Ill. Robert Houtz of Boalsburg was best man and ushers were Edward Saloga and John Calkins of Sugar Grove and James Camp of Aurora.

The bride's mother greeted the 70 guests in an off-white brocaded taffeta dress and the bridegroom's mother in a beige brocaded silk dress. Both mothers had corsages of white orchids.

The new Mrs. Smitley was graduated from Arlington high school and had been employed at the Pure Oil Co., Palatine. Her bridegroom was graduated from DeVry Technical school, Chicago.

St. Patrick's Party-Goers Hob-nob with Leprechauns

Smiling colleens and sons of Erin will be hob-nobbing with leprechauns tomorrow night in the Villa Venice's "magic circle" of Irish folklore.

According to legend, the tiny leprechauns, if caught, can lead one to hidden treasures. They are seldom visible except to true believers, but the McCarthys, along with the Olsens, Joneses, Schultzes and Kotowskis alike, are looking forward to a gala evening at the St. Patrick's day "Leprechaun Leap."

THE BENEFIT affair is being sponsored by the Arlington Heights center of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago. It will be a buffet supper dance beginning with cocktails and blarney from 7 to 8 p.m. and buffet from 9 to 11. Dancing will be from 9:30 p.m. and there are certain to be a few Irish jigs mixed in with the selections played by Johnny Brewer's orchestra.

At the piano bar during cocktails will be the Villa Venice's piano artist, Tommy Nichols.

HUGE SHAMROCKS will be part of the general decor and each table will have a white geranium centerpiece with an Irish flag. And for those who have never seen a real leprechaun, there will be on display, an exact likeness of the elusive fairy.

The dance is the second fund-raiser planned by the Arlington Heights Infant Welfare center. Its first was a Sunday brunch held last August in the private Anvil club, Dundee. (S KELLY GREEN TOP hats to be worn by the entertainers and bartenders at the "Leprechaun Leap" receive approval of Arlington Heights Infant Welfare members, Mrs. Edward Carpenter, Mrs. William Brinkworth and Mrs. Russell Brown. The Arlington Heights center has planned a festive St. Patrick's day buffet supper dance for tomorrow night in the Villa Venice. (S

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

Plan a Derby Party

BY DOLORES HAUGH

The first Saturday in May is Derby day and a horsy affair it is, too. So why not make your choice of this unusual party and have your friends enjoy it. This is also a nice birthday party for little equestrians, boy or girl type.

INVITATION

GALLOP on over to our house
For the DERBY DAY PARTY, it's true,
For the Elite and the Dapper,
Equestrians gay, you are one of the choosen few.
We'll play some games, horsy.
And view the race too, if being shown on the TV
Otherwise bring your transistors,
I've a radio too—oh, come toast the winner with me.

State time, place and any special instructions such as wearing riding clothes or horsy hats. For the child's birthday you may wish to have the children dress like various people who ride horses, policemen, cowboys or Indians. There is also a play on words here and you may want guests to wear derby hats.

MENU

Since this is an event in Kentucky, plan a good Southern-hospitality type dinner of tall mint juleps, alcoholic or non-alcoholic, but be sure to frost the glasses in the freezer so that they are thick with frost. Mint, if you plan ahead, can be grown in windowsill boxes available in punch top boxes.

For the main course, fried chicken, yams, black eyed peas, hot biscuits and honey, salad and a horse cake for dessert.

The horse cake is made in an oblong pan. A 3" strip is cut from the top of the cake and that is divided in half. One half is the horse's muzzle and the other half is cut diagonally and these become the horse's ears. Arrange all pieces except the muzzle on a tray and frost with white frosting and chocolate frosting spots.

Frost the muzzle white and place on the lower edge, center of the cake. The eyes are large mints cut in half, as are the nostrils which go on the muzzle. And your Derby Day horse is almost ready to neigh, but your guests won't. Who said "I could eat a horse?"

DECORATIONS

Go wild or stay conventional, but if you do decorate, use pictures of horses everywhere. Pin them on the curtains and walls. Name each one the same as those running. Have a wreath for the winner or a blue ribbon award which, of course, can be presented with a flourish.

The table can show the elegance of the South or the informality of the paddock picnic. Again you can choose. If you choose the latter, paper plates with the wood motif on a red checkered tablecloth will be the background for the dinner. Horse statues can be the focal point of conversation as well as a placecard bearing the name of Derby Day racers for each guest.

ENTERTAINMENT

Play card games with horse decorated cards. There are so many different kinds of horses, you can make up games about them. Races can round out the evening. Wrap prizes, use tallies and scorepads with horsy-play. So enjoy the Kentucky Derby. Have a Derby Day Party, Tally Ho! (S

Sea Cruise Gay Escape

Relaxed Hawaii Tour

Pampered Experience

San Francisco — The last swirls of serpentine have twirled into space. The last kisses have been blown. Another voyage has begun.

Ten miles beyond the Golden Gate bridge, the last tie with the mainland is dropped when the harbor pilot leaves via launch at the lightship. The coast of California fades in the distance.

That's how it will be for those who join Paddock Publications' "Suburbia Sea Parties" this spring, aboard the SS Lurline and Matsonia.

You'll have plenty of company—over a thousand persons, 700 of them passengers and 425, crew. Keeping things moving will be native-born Hawaiian hosts and hostesses who, besides helping passengers get to know each other, give complimentary hula lessons.

ONCE AT SEA, the rush and tensions of everyday life are forgotten. Clocks, deadlines, all petty details are left behind. Life aboard ship is a house party sort of existence —and one of the purest forms of "escape" left to a harassed mankind.

After breakfast, which you can enjoy in bed if you like, there's a wide choice of recreation. The ship's newspaper, delivered to your stateroom door every morning, lists the daily shipboard activities as well as highlights of world news.

Then up to the promenade deck to take a couple of turns around before keeping a date for shuffleboard, ping pong or paddle tennis, or maybe banging away with a shotgun at clay pigeons launched out over the sea.

Of course, those more inclined to take it easy can indulge in the more restful sports like bingo, or horse-racing (the wooden kind). Movies and travel talks, and a well-stocked library are also yours for the asking. And there's nothing like being on a ship to get caught up with your reading.

EVERY NIGHT, there's dancing to the music of the ship's band, and once a voyage the captain hosts all passengers to a gala champagne party.

About the only activity at sea regulated by the clock is eating—and even that is pretty flexible. There's an early bird breakfast, starting at 7, and regular breakfast served to 10:15; mid-morning fruit juice or sherbet; lunch up to 2:15 p. m., tea at 4, dinner as late as 9, a buffet at midnight—and no time limit on room service. You can literally eat your way around the clock on a luxury liner, with everything "on the house," of course.

In deference to sea-whetted appetites, Matson dining room menus offer as many as 74 different things to eat for breakfast or lunch, and up to 90 choices for dinner. All of them are prepared by a top-flight chef and his staff of 74 assistants.

On a typical trip to Hawaii, five thousand meals are served, including 51 pounds of caviar, 310 pounds of filet mignon, 210 pounds of lobster, 170 gallons of ice cream and sherbet, and 6800 glasses of milk. Island specialties like poi, papaya, pineapple, mangoes and mahimahi contribute much toward getting passengers "in the mood" for Hawaii.

APPROACHING Honolulu, a festive welcome always awaits the Lurline and Matsonia. Colorful catamarans (double-hulled sailboats) shove off from Waikiki Beach at sunrise on boat days to greet the liners offshore and escort them to dockside. There, the Royal Hawaiian Band plays, hula girls dance, and garlands of fragrant leis — Hawaii's famous "aloha" gesture — drape all passengers.

Also exciting are the turnaround sailings. Many passengers, fresh from the beach, board in shorts and muumuus. The lei ladies, lined up at dockside, work at breakneck speed stringing blossoms together to meet the "More! More!" demand. Pops of champagne corks echo around the ship. And from many passageways you hear the scraps of newly-learned Hawaiian songs and the plink-plunk sound of ukuleles.

Suddenly the whistle blasts. The band strikes up the sentimental and stately "Aloha Oe." Coconut hats are waved in farewell. Slowly, slowly, the ship backs out, turns, and heads in the direction of California, followed for a short ways by scores of small boats.

AS THE LINER sweeps past Diamond Head, the traditional custom of tossing leis to the wind is observed by many a tearful passenger.

Federal Stamp Tax On Real Estate Set

The federal documentary stamp tax is imposed on the transfer of real property by deed or other written instrument. The tax is paid by purchasing stamps at United States post offices and placing the stamps on the document. When transferring real estate, land owners often buy more stamps than the law requires, and sometimes fail to apply stamps to deeds when they should do so.

Taxable transactions include sales for a consideration, exchange of real estate, a conveyance in consideration of life maintenance, conveyances in lieu of foreclosure, master's or sheriff's deeds, conveyance in exchange for stock in a corporation, timber and mining deeds, conveyance by a partner to a partnership and conveyance to a government unit.

The law exempts certain documents from the stamp tax. Exemptions include mortgages and leases of real estate, transfers of real estate by an executor according to a will, gifts of real estate, conveyance to a "straw man," quit claim deeds to correct title, options and contracts for real estate, partition deeds, bankruptcy deeds and deeds to a trustee for the benefit of creditors.

TO DETERMINE value when real estate is sold, the price paid by the purchaser—reduced by any mortgage on the property existing before the sale and not discharged by the sale—is used. That is, the tax applies only on the net consideration, and the amount of all liens and encumbrances on the realty existing before a sale, and not removed by the sale, are deducted to arrive at the net value. If the amount being paid cannot be definitely determined, the market value of the interest transferred is used. Documentary transfers involving property whose net value is less than $100 are not subject to the tax.

The person using or affixing documentary tax stamps is required to cancel and deface the stamps to render them incapable of being reused. This is done by marking each stamp with the initials of the person and the day, month and year of the transaction. Stamps with a value of 50 cents or more must be cancelled by perforation, or by three lengthwise incisions with a sharp instrument, after being placed on the document. However, the stamp must not be defaced to the extent that it is unreadable.

The tax rate on transfers of real property is 55 cents for the first $500 of value and 55 cents for each additional $500 or fractional part. (Fm

Higher Quality Lamb Production Urged by Expert

U. S. Garrigus, head of the University of Illinois sheep division, says that greater profits await sheepmen who produce higher quality lambs.

More than 75 per cent of the gross income from midwestern sheep flocks now comes from lamb sales. In short, more and more consumers are demanding young, meaty lambs.

The revolution in chain store merchandising is speeding up this trend. At one time meat packers distributed all grades and weights of carcasses through their branch houses to small retailers.

NOW THE chain stores are swiftly increasing their percentage of total meat sales. They practice "specification buying," which means buying carloads of carcasses of uniform grade and weight. This leaves a declining market for off-sort lambs, so common in midwestern flocks, that sell at various weights and grades.

Garrigus urges farmers to intensify their lamb production so that they can produce higher quality, more uniform lambs that bring a higher price. (FM

Illinois Livestock Changes Are Reported

Average size of Illinois livestock enterprises rose more rapidly during the late 1950's than in the earlier part; a recent report by University of Illinois agricultural economists R. J. Mutti and P. A. Gill discloses.

The average turkey flock was four times larger in 1959 than in 1949. The average size of swine, beef cattle and egg production enterprises doubled.

A SMALL percentage of the farms have a high proportion of the livestock. For example, the report shows that less than four per cent of the farms raising hogs accounted for about 18 per cent of all sows farrowing. Four per cent of the farms handling grain-fed cattle marketed 30 per cent of the cattle. Less than 6 per cent of the farms with dairy cows had 26 per cent of the cows and heifers kept for milk. Four per cent of the farms with hens and pullets accounted for 24 per cent of the birds.

The number of Illinois farms disposing of dairy herds and laying flocks has been especially high.

THE GREATEST share of large-scale hog enterprises are in the northwestern, western and southwestern areas of the state. The northeast and northwest have the largest share of large-scale grain-fed cattle and dairy operations. Substantial numbers of large enterprises, however, exist in every area of the state.

A detailed report on the relative importance of five different sizes of livestock enterprises and changes in each of nine districts of the state is given in AERR-41, "Distribution of Livestock Among Different Sizes of Enterprises Within Illinois." Copies are available on request from the Department of Agricultural Economics, University of Illinois, Urbana. (FM

Poultry Industry May Face 'Overexpansion'

by J. R. ROUSH

Present developments point to an overexpansion in the production of eggs and poultry meats during 1961. By mid-year egg production is expected to rise above year-earlier levels. Both broiler and turkey production will establish record highs this year. And producers' prices and incomes from the sales of poultry products can be expected to decline sharply.

Last year at this time the United States farm price of eggs was about 30 cents a dozen. Illinois producers were averaging close to 25 cents. These low price levels greatly reduce producers' purchases of replacement chicks.

In fact, during the first four months of 1960 the United States hatch of egg-type chicks averaged 33 per cent below the comparable period of the previous year. These reduced hatchings during the major hatching season were primarily responsible for the later reduction in layer numbers and egg production that has bolstered egg prices during the past several months. Since the beginning of 1961, farm prices of eggs have averaged about 10 cents a dozen higher than they did a year earlier.

HATCHINGS of egg-type chicks have been above year-earlier levels during each month since last May. And current egg prices are expected to maintain chick purchases above year-ago levels for at least a month or two. In fact, United States farmers have reported their intentions to buy 12 per cent more replacement chicks this year than in 1960. If they carry out these intentions, layer numbers and egg production should rise above year-earlier levels during the last half of 1961 and remain above during the 1961-62 laying year. And for the year beginning in June 1961, the farm price of eggs can be expectde to average about 5 cents a dozen below that of the previous year.

During each of the past two years, United States turkey production has been at a record level of 82 million birds. Yet the average prices received by producers have not been discouraging. The current optimism of the industry is reflected in producers' intentions to expand 1961 production by 20 per cent over 1960. It is doubtful that an increase as great as 20 per cent will develop. Chances are good, however, for the production of at least 93 million birds. And storage stocks of turkeys on February 1 were 20 per cent greater than year-ago levels. The larger turkey supplies will receive increased competition from larger quantities of other poultry and red meats. These factors indicate that turkey producers might expect to sell their 1961 crop for more than 4 cents a pound below 1960 levels.

More favorable broiler prices during the past year have encouraged a continued expansion in broiler production. Placements of broiler chicks in the United States during the first two months of 1961 averaged 8 per cent above the comparable period of 1960. February placements averaged 12 per cent above year-earlier levels. If this current trend in placements is maintained, the farm price of broilers during 1961 is likely to average nearly 2 cents a pound below 1960.

Good Management Is Best Answer to Fowl Disease

Careful management is not only the cheapest, but the best way farmers can fight salmonella bacteria, organisms causing fowl typhoid, paratyphoid and pullorum.

Dr. D. P. Rahn, University of Illinois animal pathologist, points out that, without careful management, poultry can die overnight from these diseases. Animals are not the only victims, however, as salmonella bacteria can cause food poisoning in man.

"You can prevent these diseases by keeping poultry away from hogs and other farm animals that harbor salmonella bacteria," Dr. Rahn told the recent convention of Illinois State Turkey Growers. "And if you've taken care of other animals first, clean your boots and wash your hands before working with your turkeys."

SALMONELLA bacteria, a serious threat to poultry every spring, can also be prevented by buying disease-free stock. Knowing the history of the breeding flock the poults came from is extremely important, Dr. Rahn said.

If one of your flock does become infected, raise the infected birds separately. This, according to Dr. Rahn, prevents the disease from spreading. Other precautions include keeping infected birds warm and the area clean, and frequently collecting and disposing of dead birds.

"Although it's best to sell a flock after it's been cured, it's not always practical," Dr. Rahn admitted to the convention. "But, if you're going to save the flock for breeders, begin a blood-testing program."

The blood test, according to Dr. Rahn, is successful only if you use the particular type of salmonella bacteria that infected your flock. This explains the importance of having a veterinarian or laboratory make a definite diagnosis.

AFTER GIVING the blood test, remove all birds that reacted to the test. Then wait one month and test the birds again. Follow this procedure until no birds react to the test.

Blood testing is the only way to find out which birds still carry or are infected by salmonella bacteria, according to Dr. Rahn. Carriers are birds that have successfully combated the disease, but that still carry the organisms. "Remember," Dr. Rahn warned, "drugs do not eliminate carriers."

Besides being transmitted by carrier birds, salmonella bacteria may infect poultry in three other ways:

1. The poult may be infected before hatching. When the infection is in the hen's ovary, bacteria can pass into the yolk of the developing egg.

When the hen's intestines are infected, salmonella bacteria in the feces can penetrate the unbroken eggshell during expulsion.

2. Birds can be infected by eating feed containing salmonella organisms.

3. Birds can be infected by eating feces of rats, mice and free-flying birds. These can harbor salmonella organisms for months.

INFECTED birds may or may not show symptoms. "Often the only symptom is a dead bird," Dr. Rahn said. The death rate is highest among poults and death comes within five days after the poult is infected.

If the bird survives a few days, these symptoms may appear: The bird's wings droop, and its feathers become ruffled. Also, the bird is unthrifty, weak, loses its appetite and usually has diarrhea. (FM

Each day you will receive a different message. Over the weekend the reoorded one minute message will deal with the care of the lawn, and its surroundings. People in Chicago will be able to receive the same information by dialing a Chicago number.

If you are attending the World Flower Show at McCormick Place, look us up. We will be there distributing information on flowers. It may be that we will have some of interest to you.

OUR AGRICULTURE prestige is at an all time high in a depressed world. Our farm production is the envy of Russia and many other countries. But farm prices are the lowest they have been since August, 1940.

Since 1950 farmers output went up 58 per cent, but his income went down one per cent. At the same time, our city cousin's factory output went up only 28 per cent and his income went up 65 per cent.

Farmers have twice as much invested in machinery as does the entire steel industry and five times as much as the automobile industry.

In one year alone Illinois farmers spent one-half billion dollars for vehicles, machinery, repairs, gasoline and fuel.

The farmer gets about 3 cents from a loaf of bread that sells for about 19 cents. Food is a bargain. Today, because of low prices and the cost price squeeze, agriculture is subsidizing the consumer at about 20 billion dollars a year according to one report.

TODAY, EACH American farmer produces enough food and fiber to supply himself and 25 other people. In 1940, each farmer supplied only enough for himself and eleven other people. Yes, farmers are the "bedrock of our society." Never have so many been fed so well by so few.

I think the time is at hand to change the expression of "farmers and businessmen" to "farmers and other businessmen." The farmer today should occupy his just position in our business society, because he is truly a business man. (FM
